There were present—Alexander E. Orr, President, presiding; John H. Starin, Vice-President; Mayor George B. McClellan, Comptroller Herman A. Metz and Commissioners Charles Stewart Smith and Lewis Cass Ledyard.

George L. Rives and Albert B. Boardman, Counsel; George S. Rice, Chief Engineer, and Alfred Craven, Deputy Chief Engineer, also were present.

The minutes of the meeting of the 7th of September were read, and it was moved that they be approved.

Nays—None.

Carried.

Report of the Chief Engineer was read as follows:

NEW YORK, September 13, 1906.

Hon. A. E. ORR, President, Rapid Transit Board:

Dear Sir.—In accordance with instructions of the Board I have investigated the proposed connection between the Williamsburg Bridge and the Brooklyn Bridge, with an idea of connecting them by an elevated railroad and also by a subway railroad, and beg leave to report as follows:

That better facilities for the distribution of passenger traffic are necessary at the ends of the Williamsburg Bridge, and also at the Brooklyn Bridge, than at present exist has long been apparent. The inadequate facilities afforded for crossing the East river have impeded the development and growth of the Borough of Brooklyn.

For many years this problem has been studied in connection with the rapid transit questions, and I have felt that the demand for better facilities in connection with Brooklyn is as urgent as any other rapid transit improvement in New York.

A connection by elevated railroad between the Manhattan ends of the Williamsburg and Brooklyn Bridges has been previously considered, both on Baxter street and also on Centre street, and I now report on an elevated railroad connection between the bridges, which, starting at the Williamsburg Bridge, passes through Delancey street to the Bowery, thence through the Bowery and Park row and North William street to the Brooklyn Bridge.

Careful surveys of the elevated structure as it exists along the Bowery and Park row have been made, and also designs for a structure to take care of the travel between the bridges, which, in my judgment, would be the most economical and practical. On Delancey street it is proposed to construct an elevated railroad with columns about 22 feet apart, near the curb of the parkway, occupying the centre of the street. Along the Bowery and on Park row it is preferable to reconstruct the Manhattan elevated structure which occupies these streets, instead of adding new columns between the existing ones, which would obstruct the streets to a larger extent than is now the case. The structure would be a double-deck one, carrying Manhattan tracks on the lower deck and the bridge loop tracks on the upper deck, it being designed so that the upper portion, with the columns above the level of the lower tracks, could be removed when occasion required. This would then leave a one-story structure along the Bowery and Park row carrying the Manhattan elevated tracks as at present.

With the plan submitted it is contemplated to have a station at the intersection of Delancey street and Allen street, which is one block from the elevated station of the Second Avenue Railroad, at the intersection of Allen street and Rivington street; also a station on the Bowery, at Grand street; another one at Canal street, and another at Chatham Square, which stations could conveniently connect with the present stations of the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad; also a station on Park row near Duane street, which would connect with the Brooklyn Bridge terminal.

The estimated cost of this elevated structure is about $1,800,000 for construction. The amount of damage to abutting property is an item not easily calculated, but the assessed valuation of the contiguous real estate is estimated at about $1,4,000,000. Taking 12½ per cent. of this as an approximate value of the damage caused along the whole route, the total cost of an elevated connection would be $3,550,000.

The elevated structure through Delancey street would be about forty feet above the elevation of the parkway, continuing about that elevation through the Bowery and Park row, and rising to a greater height near the Brooklyn Bridge. This, of course, necessitates at all stations escalators to connect the stations with the surface of the street.

Some studies have been made during the greater part of August in connection course, necessitates at all stations escalators to connect the stations with the surface of the street.

Some studies have been made during the greater part of August in connection with the travel and the distribution of the people on the Manhattan side of the Brooklyn and the Williamsburg bridges. I find during the two morning and evening rush hours, from 7 to 9 a. m. and 5 to 7 p. m., respectively, that approximately an average of 20 per cent. of the people using the Brooklyn Bridge depart from or arrive at the Bridge entrance upon the subway, elevated and surface cars. The remaining 80 per cent. walk to and from the Bridge entrance. Of these latter 65 per cent. are from the districts to the east, south and west of the Bridge entrance. The remaining 15 per cent. come from the north through Park row and Centre street. These are the only people who would be accommodated by an elevated loop through the Bowery and Park row.

At the Williamsburg Bridge approximately 40 per cent. of all people using the Bridge in both directions cross it in the Metropolitan cars. Of the remaining 60 per cent. 25 per cent. come from territories north, south and east of the Bridge entrance. This elevated loop could be built after the necessary legal steps were taken, in one year from the time of letting the contract.

A subway connecting the Williamsburg and Brooklyn bridges would be made a part of the comprehensive system of subways as laid out by the Board, and as set forth in the Amended Final Report of the Board of May 12, 1905. Any part of the whole could be constructed as additional rapid transit facilities may be demanded by the increased traffic between the two Boroughs.

The subway system as laid out to provide for the Manhattan and Brooklyn interborough travel, with a number of stations along its route, as shown on the plans, has the advantage of distributing the passengers in both Boroughs and carrying them, within certain limits, to their destinations, instead of unloading them at one or at a few stations, a long distance

In the plans submitted I show the subway lines forming a complete system of connections between the two bridges, and with provisions for future connections in the Borough of Manhattan, with additional routes between Manhattan and Brooklyn, namely, on Fourteenth street, Maiden lane, Old Slip, as well as at the Manhattan

The route for Manhattan is laid out as follows:

Beginning at Williamsburg Bridge, it passes through Delancey street to Centre street, through Centre street to Brooklyn Bridge. Under Park row to William street, and through William street to the neighborhood of Wall street. Also from Centre street and Grand street, through Grand street and Desbrosses street to Washington street, through Washington street and Liberty street to William street. Also from Centre street and Canal street, through Canal street to Wooster street, thence through Wooster street and Washington Square East, and University place to Fourteenth street, through Fourteenth street to Greenwich street, and through Greenwich street and Washington street to Desbrosses street.

The estimate for this portion of the subway route amounts to as follows:

BOROUGH OF MANHATTAN.

	A four-track subway from the Williamsburg Bridge terminal, which is now under construction, to the Brooklyn Bridge	$3,400,000 00
l	Change of Brooklyn Bridge approach to connect to subway	750,000 00 to a point north of and near Wall street	700,000 00
i	street to Washington street	1,530,000 00
	William street to Desbrosses street.  A two-track subway on Washington street, from Desbrosses street, through Greenwich street, Ninth avenue, Fourteenth street, University place, Washington Square East, Wooster street and Canal street	2,100,000 00
	to Centre street	5,600,000 00 2,000,000 00
I	Total	$16,080,000 00

In Brooklyn, the plans submitted show a loop connection between the two bridges, with provision to connect with the future lines from Manhattan, as mentioned above. The route in Brooklyn is laid out as follows:

Beginning at Brooklyn Bridge, descending from the elevated tracks on the bridge, utilizing the bridge storage yard parallel with Washington street for the descent, it passes through Washington street to Fulton street; thence through Fulton street and Willoughby street and Flatbush avenue extension to Fulton street; through Fulton street to Lafayette avenue; through Lafayette avenue to Bedford avenue; through Bedford avenue and Bedford avenue extension, and across Williamsburg Bridge plaza to the Williamsburg Bridge.

The connection from the elevated tracks at the Brooklyn end of the Brooklyn Bridge to the subway on Fulton street is a new addition to the system, and was not included in the routes previously laid out by the Board.

The estimated cost of constructing the lines as described above is as follows:

BOROUGH OF BROOMBER
A two-track connection from the elevated tracks on the Williamsburg Bridge to the subway at the intersection of Bedford avenue and	To all and
Broadway	$420,000	00
from Broadway to Lafayette avenue	2,520,000	00
Fulton street  A four-track subway on Fulton street from Lafayette avenue, through Flatbush avenue extension, Willoughby street and Fulton street to	2,050,000	00
Myrtle avenue	1,830,000	00
street to the elevated tracks on the Brooklyn Bridge	410,000	00
Easements (estimated)	200,000	00

Total ...... $7,430,000 00

Any part or the whole of this subway, in both Manhattan and Brooklyn, can be constructed in two years after the time of letting the contracts.

I desire to call the attention of the Board to the fact that the greater part of this subway loop has been presented to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court for its decision, in lieu of the consents of the property owners, and I expect that a decision will be rendered about the end of this year.

With this I submit three plans; one showing the proposed elevated loop; another the proposed subway loop, and one showing the assessed valuation along the proposed elevated loop.

The information furnished us in connection with the Brooklyn Bridge by Mr. C. M. Ingersoll, Chief Engineer of the Department of Bridges, has been of great value in the preparation of these plans, which courtesy I wish to acknowledge.

Very truly yours, GEORGE S. RICE, Chief Engineer. (Signed)

President Orr asked the Board for an expression of opinion on the subject of the proposed elevated loop and on the proposed subway system as a solution of the problem of the congestion at the Brooklyn bridges. He said he had received a great many letters in opposition to the proposed elevated loop, but he was strongly of the opinion that the Board was under obligation to take whatever steps possible for the immediate relief of the intolerable condition of affairs at the bridges. He said he thought the best method would be, possibly, to advance both plans as rapidly as possible so as to be able to determine without prejudice to either plan which would afford the quicker relief.

Vice-President Starin moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Commissioner Smith:

Whereas, It is undisputed that it will take at least one and one-half years to conclude the preliminary legal steps looking toward the construction of the proposed elevated loop, the value of which, even as a temporary expedient, is open to some whereas, There is no dispute whatever as to the fact that the proposed system of subways and tunnels to connect the boroughs, the construction of which can be begun almost at once, will be a complete and lasting solution of the problem;

Resolved, That this Board proceed at once, without further consideration of the proposed elevated loop, to complete a form of contract and plans and specifications and advertise for bidders for the construction, equipment and operation, jointly or separately, of the system of subway, tunnel and bridge loops described by the Chief Engineer in his report dated the 13th of September, 1906.

The Comptroller objected to the statement that it is an undisputed fact that it will take one and one-half years to dispose of the preliminary steps looking toward the construction of an elevated loop. He said what the people of Brooklyn wanted was immediate relief; that the elevated loop would give such relief, and that even if the subway loops were constructed it would probably be necessary to pay two fares. The Mayor and Commissioner Ledyard thought the suggestion of President Orr, as to advancing both plans simultaneously, a good one.

Commissioner Ledyard moved the following substitute to Vice-President Starin's resolution, which was seconded by the Comptroller:

Commissioner Ledyard moved the following substitute to Vice-President Starin's resolution, which was seconded by the Comptroller:

Resolved, That this Board proceed at once to take the necessary preliminary steps for the construction of the proposed elevated loop to connect the Williamsburg and Brooklyn bridges; and that it proceed also concurrently with the necessary preliminary steps for the construction of the system of subway loops recommended in the report of the Chief Engineer, dated September 13, 1906, to the end that progress may be made in both said plans to the extent that will enable the Commission finally to decide which of them will be ultimately the more feasible.

Ayes—The President, Mayor, Comptroller and Commissioner Ledyard.

Nays—The Vice-President and Commissioner Smith.

Carried.

The Mayor asked for information as to the progress of the work of construction in Fulton street, Brooklyn, saying that he had received a large number of letters of complaint concerning conditions there. President Orr explained to the Board the status of the work gathered from a personal visit. He said he thought that while there was undoubtedly considerable inconvenience to business growing out of the construction work, nevertheless he could not help feeling that the complaints were exaggerated. Mr. Rice said that the work in Fulton street was the quickest piece of work that had ever been done for the City by the Board.

Letter of the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Company was read as follows, and it was understood that an opportunity would be given to the company to express its views, as requested:

RAPID TRANSIT SUBWAY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY, No. 23 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK CITY, September 12, 1906.

Mr. BION L. Burrows, Secretary, Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, No. 320 Broadway, New York City:

No. 320 Broadway, New York City:

Dear Sir—I have your favor of the 8th inst., stating that you are directed by the Rapid Transit Board to call my attention to the fact that the time limit under contract dated July 21, 1902, for the construction of the Brooklyn-Manhattan railroad will expire on the 11th inst., and that the Board proposes to enforce that provision of the contract, that there shall be deducted and retained by the City as liquidated damages for such delay after the expiration of this period one per cent. of the amount which shall become payable to the contractor after the expiration of any such period, for each and every month until such amounts are severally certified to be due and payable.

I beg to request that you will call the attention of the Rapid Transit Board to the fact that the delays that have occurred in the completion of the railroad embraced in the contract mentioned are not entirely chargeable to this company. The Board has probably overlooked the fact that a great deal of delay was occasioned by the changes in the plan of construction on Fulton street and Flatbush avenue, pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Board on April 13, 1905, which resulted in a practical suspension of the work on that portion of the route for a period of several months, the necessary legal consents not having been secured by the City until October, 1905, and the contract between this company and the City with respect to the additional work made necessary, not having been perfected until after that date. You will also recall that there was also considerable delay occasioned by the opposition of the New York Dock Company and the negotiations with that company with respect to carrying on the work, through and under property owned by it.

Without further enumerating other causes not chargeable to this company. I simply the negotiations with that company with respect to carrying on the work, through and under property owned by it.

Without further enumerating other causes not chargeable to this company, I simply cite the foregoing, as suggesting to the Board that before determining to penalize this company for the delay which has unavoidably occurred, and which entails much greater injury to this company than it can to the City, this company be allowed an opportunity to express its views on the subject to the Board, and be heard in support of its application for an extension of time to complete the contract without penalty. In this connection I might also call the attention of the Board to the report of the Chief Engineer, dated September 14, 1905 (Minutes, page 3698) to the effect that,

"With the exception of the work near the East River—more particularly the Joralemon street portion—the contractor has exercised reasonable diligence to the present time. That portion of the contract north of Cortlandt street has been in operation since January 16, 1905, and the lower section on Broadway, around the loop from South Ferry, from July 10, 1905."

I feel confident that the Chief Engineer will agree that since the date of his report the work has been prosecuted with reasonable diligence, and that the failure to complete, as he then anticipated would be done, has been the result of causes beyond the control of this company.

Very respectfully yours,

Very respectfully yours, AUGUST BELMONT, President. (Signed)

Communication of the Board for the Atlantic Avenue Improvement, dated September 11, urging the desirability of the completion of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Rapid Transit Railroad by June, 1907, was presented.

At this point the Mayor withdrew from the meeting.

Letter of Wallach & Cook, in behalf of the New York Times Building Company, was read as follows, and referred to counsel for report:

WALLACH & COOK, COUNSELLORS-AT-LAW, No. 33 WALL STREET, NEW YORK, September 11, 1906.

To the Honorable the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, No. 320 Broadway, New York City:

Dear Sirs—We are advised by our clients, the New York Times Building Company, that the provision in the deed executed by the Subway Realty Company to The City of New York, hearing date February 4, 1903, and recorded in the office of the Register of the County of New York on February 27, 1903, in liber 92 of conveyances, page 89, Section 4, Block 995, covering the easement and right of way to construct, maintain and operate a rapid transit railroad through the premises now owned by the New York Times Building Company, at Times square, whereby the columns of the Building Company abutting on the subway shall be protected by guard rails, has not

The provision in question is subdivision (1) of the first paragraph following the habendum clause, and reads as follows:

"The columns herein described to be erected within the lines of the subway for the purpose of supporting the building above the subway, shall be protected by suitable guard rails attached to the subway columns or otherwise, so as to protect the first named columns from being seriously damaged by a derailed train. Said guard rails shall be put in place and maintained as may be arranged between the company, its successors or assigns, and the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners or the successors or assigns of said Board."

We are informed that a positive agreement was arrived at between the New York

We are informed that a positive agreement was arrived at between the New York Times Building Company and the Engineer of your Honorable Board, pursuant to the provision in question, to the effect that three lines of guard rails were to be put in place. The material was delivered and the upper and middle rails were properly attached, but the lower rail has not been put in place, and we understand that the request of the building company that it be put in place has been refused. An alternative plan was submitted, at the suggestion, we understand, of the engineer of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, whereby to protect the columns of the building company by means of buffers of concrete and steel, but this alternative plan is not satisfactory, and the building company, therefore, respectfully requests your Honorable Board to direct that the plan originally agreed on be carried out, pursuant to the covenant made by the City in the deed in question.

We would appreciate it if we could be advised at an early date of the action to be taken by your Board in the matter.

Very respectfully yours,

Very respectfully yours, WALLACH & COOK. (Signed)

Communication of the Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction, and report thereon of the Comptroller, were read as follows:

Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction of The City of New York,
No. 201 East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street,
New York, June 11, 1906.

Hon. Alexander E. Orr, President, Rapid Transit Railway Commission, New York: DEAR SIR-At the regular meeting of the Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction held on the 4th inst., a resolution was offered and unanimously passed authorizing me to communicate with your Honorable Board with reference to the compensation paid to your inspectors. Our Association has a petition for an increase of salary for the Honorable Board of Estimate and Apportionment for the last three (3) years, basing our request on the continuously increasing cost of all necessities of life (notably rent).

(3) years, basing our request on the continuously increasing cost of all necessities of life (notably rent).

At a public hearing granted a committee of our Association on June 2, 1905, we were informed that the various heads of the different departments have full power to regulate the salary of all its employees, a matter which we are well aware of. As a matter of fact, the Department of Bridges and the Board of Education have increased the salaries of their inspectors some years ago, and the Aqueduct Commission, at a meeting held on May 1, 1906, acted on a suggestion of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which to the best of my knowledge has been sent to all departments, and passed a resolution increasing the pay of all their inspectors, after having been in their employ for three (3) years, from $4.50 to $5 per diem, which is hardly equivalent to the prevailing rate of wages paid to men doing the same and similar work for a contractor or private individuals, and which is the minimum wages that should be offered to any inspectors.

It is of the utmost importance that the compensation of the employees in the various departments having the same title shall be the same. As the Inspector of Masonry, whether employed in the Board of Education, Department of Bridges, or in the Rapid Transit Railroad Commission, must have the same knowledge and his duties are the same, consequently his compensation should be the same.

The position of inspector in any department is of great importance, as it depends on his knowledge, ability and honesty that the taxpayers' money is judiciously spent. The present salary to-day of inspectors in your employ ($4 per day) is entirely inadequate to the present time.

inadequate to the present time.

Another matter in which I take the liberty in calling your attention is that of the compensation paid to your inspectors for overtime. The Corporation Counsel has decided that any employee of the City required to work more than the constitutional day (8 hours) is entitled to double pay, and any employee not being paid the equivalent of such has a just claim against the City. As you will probably remember that we have made an effort for the equalization of salaries some years ago, and had been given the assurance from the then Chief Engineer, William Barclay Parsons, that our request would be granted

Trusting that you may take this matter under immediate consideration, I am,

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE—CITY OF New YORK, September 18, 1906.

Hon. Alexander E. Orr, President, Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, New York City:

Sir-In compliance with the request of the Rapid Transit Board, as noted in a communication of the Secretary to me, under date of June 22, 1906, I have caused an examination to be made relative to the salaries paid in various City departments to Inspectors of Masonry and Construction.

A copy of a report of the Bureau of Municipal Investigation and Statistics of this Department relating thereto is transmitted herewith.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) H. A. METZ, Comptroller.

September 11, 1906.

Hon. HERMAN A. METZ, Comptroller:

SIR-In the matter of the communication of the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners under date of June 22, 1906, transmitting for your consideration and report copy of communication of the Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction, addressed to Hon. Alex. E. Orr, President Rapid Transit Railway Commission, under date of June 11, 1906, requesting "an increase in the compensation of Inspectors of Masonry employed on rapid transit work," etc., I beg to submit the result of an examination made by this Bureau, as follows:

The request of the said Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction is for an increase in the compensation now fixed by the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners for employees designated as Inspectors of Masonry, said compensation being per diem rate of $4 for eight hours work, the request being based upon the ground that the compensation now paid is inadequate for the character of the service rendered and not commensurate with salaries paid by other departments of the City for similar work.

An increased compensation is paid by Rapid Transit Board to Inspectors of Masonry assigned to caisson or compressed air work, as appears by the following schedule, adopted by the said Board July 16, 1903:

Working under a pressure of 12½ pounds or less, $6 per day of eight hours.

Working under a pressure of between 12½ and 25 pounds, $7, the length of the day to be that of the working shifts.

Working under a pressure of between 25 and 37½ pounds, $8.50, the length of the day to be that of the working shifts.

Working under a pressure of over 37½ pounds, $10, the length of the day to be that of the working shifts.

This schedule does not appear in the publication of "Civil List."

Under date of January 6, 1906, a report was made to you upon the request of the Association of Inspectors of Masonry and Construction for the creation of certain grades and compensation for Civil Service Inspectors having the title of "Inspector of Masonry," or equivalent thereto. This report was presented by you to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on January 12, 1906 (see Minutes, 1906, page 91, a copy of said report being attached hereto), direction being given to the Secretary to send copies of said report to the Borough Presidents and all departments affected.

I beg to repeat, for the employment of Inspectors by the Rapid Transit Com-mission, the recommendation made in said previous report relative to Masonry

Inspectors generally, namely:

"It is recommended that these inspectorships be divided into two grades, the men to be employed by the day or at an annual salary, as the exigencies of a department demand, as follows:"

First Grade—$4.50 per day, or $1,350 per year.

Second Grade—(After three years' service in Department) $5 per day, or $1,500 year or more.

Yours respectfully, CHAS. S. HERVEY, (Signed)

Supervising Statistician and Examiner.

The following resolution was moved:

Whereas, The Comptroller has reported, under date of September 18, 1906, through his Supervising Statistician and Examiner, that the salaries of Inspectors of Masonry be regulated as follows:

I would request that you cause to be prepared a memorandum showing the location, dimensions and description of any such lands or other real property under the jurisdiction of your Department which is not now being used for the purposes for which it was acquired. Letter of Edward M. EDWARD M. GROUT, PAUL GROUT, No. 111 BROADWAY, MANHATTAN, September 19, 1906.

Hon. ALEXANDER E. ORR, President, Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners, New York

DEAR SIR—I hand you herewith petition of property owners interested along the line of the Eastern Parkway, asking that the necessary legal proceedings be taken to obtain the appointment of a commission on Georgia avenue; consents for all of the Eastern Parkway route have been obtained except for this connection, and this connection is expectable because it is the link between the Broadway route and the Eastern Parkway route. Parkway route.

I request that this be referred to the counsel of the Board, with directions that they apply to the Appellate Division for the appointment of a commission on this street.

Vours respectfully.

Yours respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD M. GROUT.

To the Honorable the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners of The City of New York:

GENTLEMEN—Your petitioners are personally interested in the proposed subway along Eastern Parkway, Pitkin and Georgia avenues, in the Borough of Brooklyn. We supposed several months ago that sufficient consents had been obtained for this route. supposed several months ago that sufficient consents had been obtained for this route, but at the beginning of summer we were informed that it was necessary to have more consents on Georgia avenue, between Pitkin and Jamaica avenues, and since that time we have used every effort to secure the necessary consents along Georgia avenue. We find that it will be impossible to secure the requisite number, owing to the fact that Piel Brothers Brewery constitute almost one-half of the entire assessed valuation, and they have repeatedly refused to sign a consent. This brewery owns property on both sides of the avenue, and have a tunnel connecting their brewery on the east side with their bottling establishment on the west side. We are informed that this tunnel has been built under permission granted by the Board of Aldermen of the former City of Brooklyn. We have repeatedly appealed to the owners on Georgia avenue and to the officers of this brewery, and are convinced that the consents cannot be obtained.

Wherefore, we pray your Honorable Board to obtain from the Supreme Court the appointment of a commission to determine whether such route through Georgia avenue ought to be constructed and operated.

LAW DEPARTMENT—OFFICE OF THE CORPORATION COUNSEL, NEW YORK, September 18, 1906.

BOARDMAN, PLATT & SOLEY, Esqs., No. 35 Wall Street, New York City:

Gentlemen—I am in receipt of your communication of September 6, 1906, inclosing papers relative to the granting, on December 17, 1894, by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Brooklyn, permission to Messrs. Piel Brothers to construct a tunnel under Georgia avenue, in the Borough of Brooklyn, through which, I understand, the Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners have decided to construct a subway.

You state that, at the suggestion of Comptroller Metz, "We write to get your opinion as to whether the privilege granted to Piel Brothers by the Board of Aldermen of the former City of Brooklyn to construct a tunnel under and across Georgia avenue is revocable by the present Board of Estimate and Apportionment."

It appears that on December 17, 1804, the Board of Aldermen of the City of Brooklyn passed a resolution granting Messrs. Piel Brothers permission to construct a tunnel under Georgia avenue, the resolution requiring that a bond be given and the work be done according to plans approved by the Commissioner of City Works and under his inspection.

Nothing appears to have been done under this resolution until November 13, 1905, when a permit to open Georgia avenue to construct a tunnel under the street, in accordance with the resolution of the Board of Aldermen of December 17, 1894, was granted to Messrs. Piel Brothers.

The records of the Department of Highways of the Borough of Brooklyn do not show that a bond was given or that plans were submitted, as required by the original resolution.

resolution.

The resolution passed by the former Board of Aldermen of the City of Brooklyn resolution.

The resolution passed by the former Board of Aldermen of the City of Brooklyn is as follows:

"Resolved, That permission is hereby given to Messrs. Piel Brothers to construct a tunnel under Georgia avenue, near the corner of Liberty avenue, for the location of steam and ammonia pipes between their buildings on either side of the avenue when they shall have given a bond approved by the Commissioner of City Works as to form and amount, said work to be done according to plans approved by the Commissioner of City Works and subject to his inspection."

It is not, in my opinion, necessary to pass upon the question whether a resolution passed in 1894 by the former Board of Aldermen granting the right to construct a tunnel, and under which resolution nothing was done until November, 1905, can be availed of by the persons to whom the permit was granted in view of the decision of the Appellate Division in the matter of Rhinehart vs. Redfield, 93 App. Div., 410, which was affirmed in the Court of Appeals, 179 N. Y., 569.

In that case it was held that the Common Council of the City of Brooklyn had no power under subdivision 3 of section 12 of title 2 of the Charter of that City (Laws of 1888, chapter 583) which conferred power upon it.
"to regulate all matters connected with the public wharves and all business conducted thereon, and with all parks, places and streets of the city, or under section 19 of title 19, or section 22 of title 22 of such Charter, to grant individuals a franchise to lay pipes in the streets of the city for the purpose of supplying ammonia gas for refrigerating purposes to the houses and buildings in said city, particularly where it appears that such franchise was granted in aid of a private enterprise and not for the convenience of the general public, but for the convenience of a limited number of people within a limited district."

In that case it was also held that "the fact that the individuals to whom the franchise was granted have complied with

In that case it was also held that "the fact that the individuals to whom the franchise was granted have complied with the conditions prescribed in said franchise, and that they have in common with other property owners discharged the obligation of paying taxes upon their possessions, or that the granting of this franchise will be beneficial to a number of people or to the community as a whole, will not justify the court in upholding the franchise."

In view of the fact that Messrs. Piel Brothers have not given a bond, or submitted plans to be approved by the City Department in control of the streets, as required by the resolution of the Board of Aldermen, and in view of the decision last quoted, the action of Messrs. Piel Brothers is, in my opinion, without legal authority, and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment may revoke such privilege if it is deemed necessary to take such action.

Respectfully yours.

Report of the Comptroller on the matter of compensation to Mrs. Jones, owner of the northeast corner of Bridge and Fulton streets, Brooklyn, was presented as follows, and the following resolution was moved:

Hon. HERMAN A. METZ. Comptroller:

Hon. Herman A. Metz. Comptroller:

Sir.—The Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, at its meeting held on September 7, 1906, referred the matter of the claim of Mrs. Jones, the owner of the mortheast corner of Fulton and Bridge streets, Borough of Brooklyn, to you for investigation and report as to how much, if anything, should be allowed Mrs. Jones by the City for the cost of certain alterations in her building in connection with the establishment of an entrance between that building and the subway station at that point, for which she is giving the City an easement.

Under date of September 7, 1906, that office is in receipt of a communication from Mr. John M. Perry, the attorney for the owner, in which he asks that the matter be taken up with him as to the compensation his client was to receive. It appears from a conversation with Mr. Perry that the amount to be allowed to the owner for the cost of the alterations in her building has already been agreed upon with the Chief Engineer of the Rapid Transit Board, but his claim now is for compensation for loss of rent while the building is undergoing repairs. His original claim was that it would take four months to complete the repairs and that he would be willing to compromise on a two months' basis for the sum of $2,333.32, but after negotiation with him he has agreed to accept the sum of $1,166.66, or one month's loss of rental at the rate of $14,000 a year, which was the amount of rent the former tenant, Chapman & Co., paid before they vacated the premises on July 12, 1906. This amount, in my opinion, is reasonable, and I would respectfully recommend that if the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners should deem it in their discretion to be a just claim that the amount be paid.

Respectfully submitted for approval Respectfully submitted for approval,

Gentlemen—Following the suggestion made by your attorneys, Messrs. George L. Rives and Messrs. I will only be too glad to give the Board any assistance in checking or testing these consents which may in the opinion of the Board seem best. I am practically satisfied that the consents are correct and that they are the consents of the property owners of record at the present time, as the work was all done by myself and my assistants and checked very carefully as we have gone along.

Letter of the Chief Engineer was presented as follows:

New York, September 20, 1906.

Mr. Bion L. Burrows, Secretary, Rapid Transit Board:

DEAR SIR—On June 15, 1905, the Board approved an agreement relative to a proposed connection between the subway station at Bridge and Fulton streets, Brooklyn, and the property of Messrs. Strauss & Charig, situated on the northwesterly corner of

This agreement provided that the expense of the steel girders and columns required in the proposed subway connection be paid for by the City, the amount of such expense to be determined by the Engineer. I have accordingly estimated the amount of steel work used in this connection, and found it to be 11½ tons, which, at $80 per ton, represents an expenditure of $900.

I therefore respectfully recommend that the bill of Messrs. Strauss & Charig for $900, presented herewith, be approved by the Board for payment.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) GEORGE S. RIÇE, Chief Engineer.

The following resolution was moved:

Resolved, That this Board hereby approves the bill of Strauss & Charig for steel furnished at the corner of Bridge and Fulton streets, in the Borough of Brooklyn, as per agreement made June 15, 1905, in accordance with the certification of the Chief Engineer, dated the 20th of September, 1906, and amounting to the sum of nine hundred dollars ($900), and directs that a voucher be drawn in due form on the Comptroller for the said amount.

Concerning the necessity to lay out a route for a distance of somewhat less than 1,000 feet in streets to perfect the subway loops to connect the bridges, as in the plans suggested by the Chief Engineer, the Board authorized the Chief Engineer to proceed to make the necessary surveys and Counsel to prepare the necessary resolutions for the formal routes and plan.

Counsel presented opinion of the Appellate Division as follows:

SUPREME COURT, APPELLATE DIVISION.

FIRST DEPARTMENT, JUNE, 1906.

Morgan J. O'Brien, P. J.; Chester B. McLaughlin, Frank C. Laughlin, John Proctor Clarke, James W. Houghton, J. J.

In the Matter

The application of the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners for The City of New York for the confirmation of the report of the Commissioners upon the proposed Third Avenue Route, and eighteen others.

Motions to confirm reports of Commissioners under the Rapid Transit Act. George L. Rives and Albert B. Boardman, for the motion.

Martin W. Littleton and William Byrd, for certain property owners, opposed.

O'BRIEN, P. J.:

The Rapid Transit Commission, under the law has laid out the general plan of subway routes which have received the approval of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, but for which the consent of the property owners along the proposed routes could not be obtained.

It is provided by law that upon the refusal by property owners to consent, application may be made to this Court for the appointment of Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to pass upon and determine whether or not such consent should be given, and their report, when favorable, if confirmed by this Court, is equivalent to the consent of those owning property along the lines of the proposed route.

In all, nineteen applications relating to nineteen different routes were made, and Commissioners were appointed, and we have now before us some eleven routes in which the Commissioners have made favorable reports, and we are asked to confirm them. The function, duty and powers of the Court in these proceedings have been the subject of judicial construction, and we deem it unnecessary to add to the views expressed by this Court in the Matter of Rapid Transit Commrs., 5 App. Div., 290; Matter of Rap. Transit, 23 App. Div., 472; Sun Pub. Co., vs. The Mayor, 8 App. Div., 233. These sufficiently indicate that our function is not merely perfunctory or formal, but that a grave responsibility rests upon the Court in passing its judgment upon what is the most stupendous scheme of municipal improvement and expenditure ever undertaken, and without a parallel in its ultimate bearing upon the destiny of the people of what we have reason for thinking will be the greatest city of the world.

It is agreed on all hands that transit facilities should be furnished as speedily as possible, and that the extent of the facilities to be furnished should in some degree be proportionate to the rapid growth of our population throughout the Greater City. Upon the question of the present necessity for all of the routes proposed, we find no grounds for differing from the conclusions reached by the Rapid Transit Commissioners, and were there no other questions involved our duty would be simple and plain.

There is, however, involved another and very serious feature, and it relates to the financial ability of the City to undertake the proposed construction. It is shown by the record before us in the Third avenue case that the nineteen routes of subway will cost $300,000,000 for, construction, and $150,000,000 for equipment, or a total of $450,000,000. Under the restriction imposed by the Constitution, the total borrowing margin of the City, most favorably viewed, did not exceed on January 1, 1906, $61,000,000. If we can look at the future, there is a likelihood, in view of the increased values of property, that the City will have a debt incurring capacity between the 1st of July, 1906, and the 1st of January, 1907, of something like $110,000,000. And if all of it were appropriated for rapid transit construction, there would be nothing left for the other departments of the City government, which in expense and importance are increasing and expanding from year to year.

No doubt, in the future, with the growth of values, the assessments on property can be considerably increased, and thus the borrowing capacity of the City can be enlarged; but a policy which would seek to unduly add to burdens of the taxpayer, or which would seek artificially to create values, would be more fatal, in our judgment, to the true and right development of our City than the failure to provide transit facilities.

The vote of the people in 1894 that subways should be constructed with public funds, and the recent legislation limiting the terms of the lease which it is in the power of the Commissioners to make, render it problematical as to what extent private capital will be attracted to undertake the construction of future subways, if permissible by law, upon which question, because not before us, we express no opinion.

upon which question, because not before us, we express no opinion.

In the subway built, the City advanced for construction more, as the event proved, than was absolutely necessary for construction proper, and this excess was available to the contractors, who were bound and from their own funds agreed to advance the moneys needed for the equipment and operation of the road. The feature, however, that was undoubtedly most attractive to bidders was the lease obtained for a period of fifty years. Under the Elsberg Bill, the lease of subways is limited to twenty years; and although there is a provision that the City can lease it for a further term of twenty years, it is upon condition that the City can lease it for a further term of twenty years, it is upon condition that the City can lease upon the terms of the second lease, which leaves it practically optional with the City, and gives the first lessee no assurance of more than a single term of twenty years. How far this may affect the intervention of private parties in the enterprise, we need not at present inquire, because as the law now stands the Commissioners must look to the City for the funds needed to undertake the construction of these subways.

We are thus brought back to a consideration of the most serious question as to the financial ability of the City and its bearing upon the approval which is sought from the Court. Upon the record before us, it appears beyond the possibility of doubt that the City has not the financial ability at the present time to undertake the building of all of the routes proposed, and the only effect of our approval will be practically to completely appropriate and tie up every thoroughfare leading into and through Manhattan Borough.

hattan Borough.

There is force, therefore, in the contention made by the counsel for the tax-payer who opposes the confirmation that "if the Court at this time approves and confirms the proposed routes, it concludes and estops for all time to come its opportunity, nay, its duty, to protect, oversee and supervise the complex interests of the people inhabiting this greater City, as well as posterity. That the Court should weigh the ultimate effect of the action prayed for can well be appreciated when we realize the powerful and unlimited opportunities the Rapid Transit Commission have for foreclosing the rights, privileges, needs, demands and necessities, co-ordinate, to say the least, in every phase and from every standpoint of all the various governmental agencies and requirements of this municipality. It is well known that at this time a percentage of the children of this City are denied proper schooling by reason of the limited facilities. What may be said of the limitations that may be entailed upon future generations if by the supposed necessities of rapid transit the credit of the City should be so impaired as to make it impossible for proper provision to be made for schools, and the other varied municipal needs, such as proper policing, fire service, paving, etc.? Again, by the adoption of the proposed plan, and the practical monopolizing of all the City's streets wedded to a single scheme or idea of transit construction or management, the people are practically forever precluded from asserting and exercising a right which has much of reason and argument in its support, to wit, to own and operate their own municipal subways. It may be that in a year or a few years the vast majority of the people of this greater City, in their enlightened judgment, will demand the construction and operation of their own transportation facilities.

"If the Court approves the applications now pending the territory may be so

"If the Court approves the applications now pending the territory may be so despoiled as to absolutely destroy all possibility for future construction that would in any way become approximately competitive to the interests now in command of the City's transit facilities. The present plans distinctly disclaim any purpose or desire to definitely fix any one of the proposed routes as final, but seek to commit this Court and to estop it for all time from interference, no matter what the intervening interests may be, so that there may be no opportunity for this Court to protect the people in the evolution of their municipal development. If it be argued that the Rapid Transit Commission will not undertake to construct all of the proposed routes simultaneously, then it may safely be said that this Court should not release its power to guide and direct the subway construction so that the City may have the benefit of competitive lines."

To these might be added another suggestion which is important to property owners, who, if any of the routes were to be immediately built, would, as an offset against the consequential damages that would result during the period of construction, finally have the benefit of the road when constructed. But to have their property affected by the approval of a route which might never be built, acting as it would as a notice to all that the street was appropriated for railroad purposes, would impede the development and improvement of property along its line, which would be an injury with no resulting good. It is frankly conceded by counsel for the Rapid Transit Commissioners that there is no purpose immediately to build all the proposed routes, but that it is necessary that they should all be approved, to the end that the City may be enabled to undertake such as it can find the means to build. This necessarily involves the further concession that the Rapid Transit Commissioners have not finally determined upon the routes to be selected, but they wish the whole subject to be in such shape that as the opportunity presents itself they may take advantage of it. This would appropriate all the streets involved in the proposed routes for an indefinite period; and in view of the ever changing conditions in transit facilities and the probable further progress and development of engineering skill and ingenuity, it is not an improbability to assume the likelihood that a city which has seen in a few years a change from horse cars to cable and then to electric motive power, and to which has been added elevated railroads, and, lastly, authors transportation, may have in store a system of transit which may be as great an advance as elevated roads and subways are over surface horse railways. This is but expressing the view that if we are now to appropriate all our streets irrevocably night be added an under the present plans it is possible that when the City has the financial ability to construct in accordance with those plans they may then be antiquated and no longer desirable. While the chance, or even the prospect, of future improved methods would not, standing alone, be a reason for withholding approval of routes actually determined to be constructed immediately, it is entitled to consideration before approving of plans irrevocably to be adhered to for routes which, owing to the financial resources of the City, cannot all be initiated or carried out for many years to come.

we have not overlooked the fact that the City's limit of debt incurring capacity is constantly changing. Nor are we unmindful that, unless the growth of the City is to be seriously retarded, new rapid transit facilities must be furnished in the near future. But while it is evident that these facilities must be furnished by the construction of subways and tunnels, the City has other demands upon its treasury of a very pressing nature, including the construction of new school houses and docks, and the opening of new parks, bridges, etc., which will necessarily prevent the exhaustion of its entire borrowing capacity in rapid transit construction. Probably no prudent City administration would deem it wise, in the present condition of its financial affairs, to commit it in the near future to an expenditure for rapid transit exceeding $50,000,000. It, therefore, follows that, if construction is to be begun upon all of the routes which have been approved by the local authorities, about eight-ninths of the cost must be provided by private capital.

Much difference of opinion exists about the effect of the recent amendment to the

have been approved by the local authorities, about eight-ninths of the cost must be provided by private capital.

Much difference of opinion exists about the effect of the recent amendment to the Rapid Transit Act upon the probability of enlisting private capital in new rapid transit construction, but it is plain that the Rapid Transit Commission cannot offer as attractive terms to bidders under the new law as it was able to offer under the old law. A lease for twenty years, with a possible renewal for twenty more upon terms to be fixed at the expiration of the first period, must be far less attractive to bidders than a lease for fifty years, with a renewal of twenty-five years upon terms made in advance, making the term offered to bidders practically a seventy-five-year term. Whether private capital can be obtained to any considerable extent under the present law is a question which time only can solve. But it is plainly the duty of the Court, under the circumstances, to consider the possibility that an attempt to do so will result in failure. Therefore, it becomes the duty of the Court to consider, in the interest of the abutting property owners who are represented by it in this proceeding, as well as in the general interest of the City, whether all the routes presented to the Court for approved should be approved, irrespective of the possibility of commencing construction thereon in the near future. If it were possible for the Court to determine in advance which routes have the right of way, or in other words, which routes are the most urgently needed and are most likely to attract private capital, the Court might approve of these routes and reject the rest, without prejudice to another application under changed conditions. The difficulty is that there is nothing before us to show a greater need for one route than another, or a greater probability of construction on one route than another, or a greater probability of construction on one route than another, or a greater probability of construction on one rout

Regard being had, therefore, to these different and conflicting interests, we think the right solution, so far as it rests with this Court, will be to approve all of the routes conditionally, upon the Rapid Transit Commissioners deciding within two years which of them they have finally concluded to construct. This will enable them, within the period named, in view of the then existing condition of the City's finances, to determine just what routes should be built; and after that time they should be required, if able to construct other routes, to renew their application to this Court. This will render null and void our approval of all routes not selected and contracted for within said two years.

The suggestion made by a taxpayer in the Third avenue proceeding, that the Court should not confirm the report of the Commissioners unless the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners file a stipulation to incorporate in the contract for the construction of the proposed subway a clause making the contractor and his sureties liable for all damages to the walls, foundations or other parts of adjacent buildings or structures, is answered by the fact that the insertion of such a condition at the present time would be premature, and is supercessary for the protection of successive for the protection of such as the present time would be premature, and is supercessary for the protection of successive for the protection of such as the protection of answered by the fact that the insertion of such a condition at the present time would be premature, and is unnecessary for the protection of property owners. It will be noticed by reference to chapter 607 of the Laws of 1905, section 37, that the Rapid Transit Act is amended so that a public hearing is to be had as to the terms and conditions of the contract, at which citizens shall be entitled to appear and be heard; and by other provisions in that section, no contract can be made until the Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall have consented thereto. So that, even if the Rapid Transit Board should insert provisions for the protection of property owners which they may deem unsatisfactory, they will have a further opportunity to be heard before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. As the Act, therefore, seemingly leaves this question as to the terms and conditions of the contract with the proper City authorities, the Court should not undertake, in advance of the time when it becomes necessary to make the contract, to impose conditions which might or might not be embarrassing.

There are other objections that have been presented and arguments urged against

There are other objections that have been presented and arguments urged against our approval of the reports; but for the reasons stated, we think that the reports should be confirmed, subject to the condition and limitation suggested.

All concur.

Mr. Boardman reported to the Board on delay in concluding the proceedings before Commissioners to hear and determine as to the William street route.

Mr. Rives brought up the matter of the proposed Van Cortlandt Park extension, reporting that the only question undecided concerning it was as to who should pay for the said extension. It was understood that he would confer with the representatives of the Interborough Company, adhering to the view previously expressed by the Board, that that Company should itself bear the expense.

Misceilaneous communications were presented and referred to the respective com-

The Board then adjourned.
