At the close of the Special Meeting in relation to the tax levy, the Vice-Chairman convened the members of the Board in Special Session to take appropriate cognizance of the death of Alderman James J. Bridges.

Alderman Walkley presented the following preamble and resolution:

No. 1027.

The emblems of mourning that drape the Aldermanic Chamber to-day emphasize the solemn fact that James J. Bridges, our beloved colleague, is dead. To us this bereavement seems as untimely as unexpected. The echoes of his voice seem yet to resound through this chamber, and each of us, with saddened heart, recalls pleasant memories of this esteemed friend and co-laborer. His lifework is finished. The clock has struck the hour of his departure, and his vacant chair speaks to us as eloquently as the words he uttered in life. We mourn his death as a personal loss. We all loved him for that kindly spirit which seemed to dwell within, and for the pleasant words and pleasant manner with which he greeted each of us. He was a man of the people, greatly beloved by his neighbors and friends for those sterling qualities and virtues which mark true manhood everywhere. He was diligent in business, attentive to his public duties, thoroughly in earnest, and of uncompromising integrity. He served his constituency with unflagging energy and with single-minded devotion. He was punctual in his attendance at the meetings of this Board, and strenuous in furthering measures which he believed to be right. Earnestness is an essential of eloquence, and he was eloquent because he was earnest. He was friendly with all, therefore had no enemies. During his life he was a Deputy Revenue Collector, a Dock Master, and an Officer in the County Court, until his election as Alderman in 1897. He was kind and charitable to his neighbors and generous to his church, personally laboring for its welfare as well as contributing of his means. He was a good husband and father, and leaves a family of four sons and three daughters to lament their parent.

Nothing which can be said is so expressive of the virtues of the man as the sight of the thousands who gathered by his bier from all walks in life, and we who were privileged to stand by that bier know how he was beloved by the people with whom he lived and who met him in his daily life. True to those higher principles which honor life, he was greatly beloved by all who knew him, and the falling tears of those who wept by his grave were expressive of their love toward the departed. Each member of this Board of Aldermen will cherish his memory and each one feels that he has lost a friend. He sleeps in peace. Our sincere sympathies go out to his children who survive, and we would place upon the records of this Board our testimony to the virtues, the integrity, the honor of our brother Alderman, James J. Bridges; therefore, be it

Resolved, By this Body now in session, that these expressions of our sympathy be tendered to his surviving children, that the same be spread in full upon the minutes of this Board, and that a copy of this preamble and resolution, suitably engrossed, and duly authenticated by the City Clerk, be presented to the family of the deceased.

Alderman Walkley supplemented the presentation of the resolution by remarks eulogistic of the late Alderman James J. Bridges.

Alderman Doull in seconding the resolution pronounced another eulogy. The preamble and resolution were then unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The Vice-Chairman thereupon declared the Special Session adjourned.

P. J. SCULLY,
City Clerk and Clerk of the Board of Aldermen.
