THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

October 2012

Dear Friends:

It is with great pleasure that our Administration provides the Register of Foreign Consulates and Associated Government Offices in New York, also known as the “Red Book,” an important resource for the diplomatic and consular communities as well as New Yorkers. This year we are also publishing the first “green” Red Book, a searchable up-to-date directory of foreign consulates, on our website at www.nyc.gov/international.

New York City takes pride in welcoming people from around the world, whether as residents, visitors, or members of our business community. It is fitting that the world’s largest diplomatic and consular community is located in the world’s most international city. The Mayor’s Office for International Affairs remains committed to providing the members of this community with the tools they need to serve their constituents.

On behalf of all New Yorkers, I look forward to continued good relations as you live and work here in our great city.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Michael R. Bloomberg".

MARJORIE B. TIVEN
COMMISSIONER

October 2012

Dear Friends:

This year marks the 50 year anniversary of the Mayor's Office for International Affairs, which serves as the official liaison to the world's largest diplomatic and consular community - 193 Permanent Missions to the United Nations and 113 foreign consulates. This community complements the diversity and cultural vibrancy for which New York City is renowned.

I am pleased to present the 2013 Register of Foreign Consulates and Associated Government Offices in New York ("Red Book"), a unique resource for the diplomatic community, government officials, businesses and private citizens. The Red Book, also published online this year, is one of many resources offered through the Mayor's Office to ensure diplomats working in New York feel at home in our great city.

Together, we look forward to our continued success in strengthening ties among New York City and its diplomatic and consular communities.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Marjorie B. Tiven".

Marjorie B. Tiven
Commissioner

PLEASE NOTE: The New York City Mayor's Office for International Affairs compiled this directory based on information provided by the consulates as of July 24, 2013. This directory includes the 113 consulates general, consulates, honorary consulates general, honorary consulates, and various consular officers and employees in New York City that have been accredited by the United States Department of State. This publication is intended for informational purposes only.

Listings are subject to change without notice at any time. The United States Department of State is the official accrediting body for consular personnel in this country. Status of any consular officer should be verified with the Office of Protocol, United States Department of State.

To update consulate information listed in this registry please contact Benjamin Strong, Diplomatic Liaison Officer at 212-319-9300 or email at bstrong@cityhall.nyc.gov.
