W. DE FORREST DAY, M. D., Sanitary Superintendent :

W. DE FORREST DAY, M. D., Sanitary Superintendent : SIR-1 have the honor to report that after a careful analysis of the deaths attributed to "malaria diseases" during the year 1876, I have arrived at the following results : 231 deaths from affections of this character were recorded during the year. All such cases were assigned to Sanitary Inspectors for investigation into the main object of ascertaining definitely, if 1 os-sibly, the locations where said diseases had originated. In order to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion in any instance, the Inspector was obliged to see personally, or communicate with the attending thy-sician, and frequently also to make an inspection of the place where the death had occurred. Many physicians refused or neglected to aflord any information on the subject. Quite a number of cases were excluded on account of uncertainty as to the actual cause of death—or as to its complication with a malarial element— 96 cases, however, were fully investigated, and I now submit the informa-tion thus obtained. As regards locality, I have divided the city into three parts : First. The sclidly built-up portion below Fitty-minth street, and the Central Park, believed to be generally exempt from malaria. Second. That district, more or less malarious, extending from Fifty-ninth street to Harlem river. Third. The territory north of Harlem river, known as the "Annexed district," or Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards—embracing a territory prolific of malaria in almost every direction. Deaths from—
