PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

No. 64.

No. 11 Templeton place, Earls Court,
London, Southwest, England, January 2, 1904.

Sir—May I be permitted to make a suggestion which may be of use, both as to convenience and doing away with unsightly material, together with a lower cost of fitting. The electric trams have been, taking them all in all, necessary and comfortable, but are open to many improvements, if you will allow me to bring to your notice an idea. By the present system the "uprights" and wires used for the electric trams are above the ground, causing many inconveniences, especially in repairing the same, even a source of danger if the hill is a steep one, for the first thing these wires and uprights give off a humming sound, caused by the vibrations of wired electricity, etc., making offensive sounds and injurious to the health of delicate people and many others. Next the cost of erecting these uprights and wires above the ground must be large, and to repair the same requires moving ladders, much labor, and at the same time are unsightly. Why should not all this be beneath the surface of the ground? The earth would prevent vibrations, the cost would be less, the trouble of repair little, and the danger to limb, in case one of the wires broke, small. (Vide the rough idea.) Underneath the rails lay a layer of a mixture of India rubber, of the rough description, a white mixture with 95 per cent. tar, into tar heated and it will lessen the vibrations to the tram immensely, causing comforts, which I feel sure the overhead railway never can; unsightly, inconvenient and expensive to erect. I am now referring to the overhead railway. For the electric tram idea vide the rough form underneath. We have here the wires and short poles beneath the surface; the tram gets the electricity by a moveable bar. Place this moveable bar underneath the tram, on the same principle the aperture for the roller or runner to work in would be small, and could be always cleared by a daily run along the track of a clearer truck. Pardon my writing this to you, but the idea seemed to me a good one, especially for any country which intends using electricity as a motive force. There could also be a small luggage truck attached for small bags and parcels, for which on carriage a charge could be made. Possibly as your country may want to try electric trams, this improvement in the present system would prove a great boon to all. What conveniences would arise to many millions in being able to move easily and freely with hand bags or otherwise from one end of a large town to the other, facilitating the conveniences of all professions, weighing much less strain on people generally.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

HERBERT LYALL MESSUM.

No. 175 Fifth Avenue,
New York, January 18, 1904.

To the President of the Board of Aldermen, New York City:

Sir—I trust the proposed repeal of the street car ordinance requiring the cars to be stopped at the near crossing will not prevail. It should be amended, however, compelling both the rear gates to be kept closed and the outer gate on the front of the car to be opened when the car stops at the crossing, and the conductor to stand on the front platform until the car is again started. Under the old system the conductor while in the car taking fares, and without knowing whether the outgoing passengers were off the car or the incoming ones were on it, would ring the bell for the motorman to start the car, and the motorman had to obey the signal, whether a passenger was half way on or half way off the car. This practise has led to the majority of street car accidents. The suggested amendment would prevent this class of accidents.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. WARRINGTON.

Property Owners' Association of the Twenty-third Ward,
Borough of The Bronx,
Courtland Avenue and One Hundred and Fifty-second street,
New York, January 16, 1904.

To the President and Members of the Board of Aldermen of New York City, City Hall, New York:

Gentlemen—We hereby formally request that, in all matters which may arise in connection with the petition and ordinance introduced into the Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, by a corporation which has long since ceased to exist, by the name of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad Company, this body be notified. We ask, upon behalf of this body, that before any action is taken upon that matter, we be allowed to be heard either at a public or a private hearing.

We have looked up this alleged corporation, and we find that it was organized in 1872, and that it has long since ceased to exist.

We also find that this corporation received from the Board of Aldermen on August 4, 1896, an ordinance permitting it to cross such streets of The Bronx as would be required to be crossed by the line of its road. If the corporation had had any existence, it could have commenced and completed its road since the granting of its ordinance in 1896, not to mention that it could have completed the road many times over in the interval which elapsed between 1872 and 1896. We call these matters to your attention for the reason that they are of vital interest to the Bronx, and for the reason that we, as representatives of the public of this Borough, do not purpose that tactics of this kind shall be used, for the purpose of delaying the construction of the New York and Port Chester Railroad, the application of which has apparently been copied by this alleged corporation and introduced into your Board last Tuesday, January 12th.

We request that no action whatever be taken on this matter until we are allowed to be heard and place before you some of the interesting history of this road.

Respectfully yours,

TWENTY-THIRD WARD PROPERTY OWNERS' ASSOCIATION,
Per CHAS. BAXTER, Chairman Executive Committee.

Broadway Board of Trade,
Hart's Hall, No. 1028 Gates Avenue,
Brooklyn, January 18, 1904.

To the President and Board of Aldermen, City of New York:

Gentlemen—At a regular meeting of the Broadway Board of Trade, held Friday evening, January 15, a resolution was unanimously passed respectfully urging the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York to repeal the ordinance requiring all surface cars to be stopped on the near side crossings. This ordinance not only adds a danger to life and limb, but is a positive discomfort to every passenger who is compelled to use a surface car during stormy weather.

NATHANIEL H. LEVI, President, Broadway Board of Trade.

Which was referred to the Committee on Railroads, when appointed.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS RESUMED.

No. 70.

Whereas, It has been stated in an article published in the New York Evening World of Thursday, January 14, 1904, that a corporation was about to apply to the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York, and to President of Manhattan Borough John F. Ahearn, for permission to erect public comfort or waiting stations at the various railroad transfer points, in which the sale of periodicals and newspapers, etc., etc., would be permitted; and

Whereas, The erection of such public comfort or waiting stations maintained by one firm or corporation would tend to create a trust or monopoly in the sale of newspapers, periodicals, stationery, etc., etc., in favor of one small set of individuals, and tend to seriously interfere with and deprive many citizens who have families to support and educate of their means of earning a livelihood, thereby entailing great hardship on the majority of the five thousand newsdealers and their various families amounting to about twenty thousand persons in all; and

Whereas, As it has been contended by the previous Board of Aldermen that they had no power to grant curb line permits for news-stands owned and maintained by individual newsdealers under the provision of section 50 of the Greater New York Charter, and did refuse to authorize the maintenance of curb line portable news-stands by individual newsdealers, for even a portion of the day; therefore be it unanimously

Resolved, That the Greater New York Newsdealers' and Stationers' Protective and Benevolent Association, in meeting assembled, do protest to the Honorable Board of Aldermen, the Hon. John F. Ahearn, President of the Borough of Manhattan, and the Hon. George B. McClellan, Mayor of The City of New York, against the issuance of any permit or permits, license or licenses, to any firm or corporation for the erection and maintenance at any railroad or transfer point or points or other places throughout The City of New York, any such proposed waiting or public comfort station, or kiosk or other erection for the sale of newspapers, periodicals, stationery, etc., etc., as the issuance of such permits or licenses is in direct conflict with the provisions of section 50 of the Greater New York Charter, and therefore illegal, would tend to create a hurtful trust or monopoly in the sale of such articles and which would deprive many thousands of their only means of support; and be it further

Resolved, That as many newsdealers as possible shall assemble on the front steps of the City Hall at 1 p. m., on Tuesday, January 19, 1904, for the purpose of personally protesting to their Honors, Mayor Geo. B. McClellan, Borough President of Manhattan John F. Ahearn, and the honorable members of the Board of Aldermen, against the issuance to any firm or corporation of any license or licenses, permit or permits as would allow the erection by either such corporation or firm of any structure for the sale of newspapers, periodicals, or stationery on any portion of the public streets, avenues, parks, docks, or other public place or places in any portion of The City of New York; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be presented to the Honorable Geo. B. McClellan, Mayor of The City of New York, the honorable John F. Ahearn, President of the Borough of Manhattan, and to the Honorable Board of Aldermen of The City of New York, and to the various newspapers of the City and State of New York.

M. E. GOLDE, President, Local Association.

National Board.

Whereas, The Greater New York Newsdealers', Booksellers' and Stationers' Association has called our attention to the threatened invasion of their legal rights as newsdealers, booksellers and stationers (for which they pay The City of New York about $50,000 in license fees per year) by the proposed erection and maintenance by a corporation or firm of so-called waiting or comfort stations at the various railroad transfer points throughout The City of New York, at each of which the sale of newspapers, periodicals and stationery will be permitted; and

Whereas, The issuance of permits or licenses to any corporation or firm would tend to deprive our five thousand brothers in New York City of their honorable and just livelihood, and reduce their various families to poverty and extreme hardship; and

Whereas, We are advised by our legal counsel that the issuance of such licenses on any of the public highways, streets, avenues, alleys, or other public places other than stoop-line permits and those under elevated stairways, are in direct conflict with the provisions of the Charter of The City of New York; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers and Stationers of America, representing a membership of sixty thousand throughout the United States, do hereby add our protest to those of our brothers in New York City to the proposed threatened invasion of their rights as illegal, unjust and unfair and as tending to foster the creation of a monopolistic trust for the benefit of a few, to the detriment, injury and impoverishment of nearly twenty thousand souls.

T. F. MARTIN, National President.
WM. SKINNER, Vice-President.

M. E. GOLDE, National Secretary.

The President laid before the Board the following communication from the Department of Correction:

No. 83.

Department of Correction of The City of New York,
No. 148 East Twentieth Street,
New York, January 14, 1904.

Hon. CHARLES V. FORNES, President, Board of Aldermen:

Dear Sir—I would respectfully ask your Honorable Board to request the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to instruct the Comptroller to issue Revenue Bonds, in accordance with the provisions of subdivision 8, section 188, of the Charter, for the following purposes:

To improve the sanitary condition of the cells in the old Male and Female Prisons (City Prison), $10,000. (See copy of report of the State Prison Commission herewith enclosed.)

The two boilers on Hart's Island are at least thirty years old, and are too dilapidated to be repaired. They are liable to collapse at any moment, and, by order of the Boiler Inspectors of the Police Department, the steam pressure has been reduced to such an extent that the steam available is totally inadequate to properly heat the buildings. In order to secure the safety of the inmates by properly heating the buildings, as well as to comply with the recommendations of the State Prison Commission, the sum of $20,000 will be required.

I would respectfully ask your Honorable Board to permit me to withdraw the request made in letter of January 7, 1904, and to substitute this letter instead thereof.

Very respectfully,

FRANCIS J. LANTRY, Commissioner.

New York County Penitentiary.

To the Honorable the State Commission of Prisons:

Your Commissioner inspected the New York County Penitentiary on November 23, 1903, and begs to report as follows:

This penitentiary is situated on Blackwell's Island, and has been occupied for seventy years. The population on the day of inspection was 509 males and 65 females. The capacity of the institution is 989 cells in the male department and 126 cells in the female department.

The prisoners in this institution are received from the Courts of Special and General Sessions.

The old part of this prison is seventy years old, hence the absence of modern equipment and conditions, excepting the presence of electric lights in each cell. The bucket system is in use, the ventilation is imperfect, the place is dark and gloomy and the windows are mere holes in the wall. This condition fully recognized the demands of the times in which this prison was built, namely, that the place of confinement in which an offender against the law should be committed must be a dungeon. In striking contrast to these conditions is the new west wing, containing 368 cells. This department is well ventilated, and the presence of large, high windows admits an abundance of light and air, which is most beneficial to the health of the inmates. The cells are larger than those found in the old prison.

I found a large and cheerful chapel in which religious services and entertainments are held. This is a credit to the institution, for it affords the opportunity for the spiritual and moral advancement of the inmates.

I found the hospitals in excellent condition and equipped with every modern device for the treatment of the suffering and afflicted. This department is in charge of a Physician who seems to intelligently interpret his duties.

All of the adjunct departments of the institution, such as kitchen, bakeshop, laundry, bathrooms, power and light plant, storerooms, messrooms, etc., meet all the demands of the institution, and were in excellent condition.

The industries are in full operation. Manufacturing is carried on as follows: Desks, tables, chairs, rough coffins for paupers, wagons, wheelwright work in general, clothing, tinware, cot bottoms, coarse brooms and brushes. These occupations, together with the outside work about the institution, such as quarrying stone, unloading coal, improving the surrounding grounds, etc., afford ample, healthful and profitable employment for the men.

The health of the institution is excellent, only four male and two female prisoners being confined on this date in the hospitals.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JOHN P. JAECKEL, President.

New York City Prison (Tombs).

To the Honorable the State Commission of Prisons:

Your Commissioner inspected the New York City Prison, known as the "Tombs," on November 24, 1903, and reports as follows:

The new prison has been occupied about one year, and is therefore in excellent condition. The old part, namely, the annex and women's department, are also occupied. The capacity of the new jail is three hundred and twenty cells, and that of the annex eighty cells.

The population on the day of inspection was 278 adult males, 96 juveniles, 49 females.

The inmates of this prison are committed from the City Magistrates' Court.

This may be properly designated as an institution for detention rather than for definite sentenced prisoners, for here are detailed all offenders from the City courts awaiting trial. Upon conviction they are distributed to various institutions according to the degree of the crime for which they are held. The new prison is, of course, of modern construction, with electric light, self-flushing closets and marble washbowls in each cell, all in excellent sanitary condition. The general condition was orderly and clean. A fine system of ventilation is afforded through a utility court, occupying the space lengthwise between the two rows of cells constituting the main cage. This is modern in every way, and meets perfectly all the demands necessary to insure the good health of the inmates of the institution. Several prisoners who had been committed to Elmira Reformatory were being held, pending the modification of the epidemic of diphtheria now raging in that institution. The health of the inmates of the institution is good. Five patients were confined in the hospital for minor ailments.

The juveniles are properly separated from older offenders in tiers five and six. These tiers are known as the juvenile section. The fire protection in this institution is adequate, being furnished with a fire pump in the basement and ample hose accommodation distributed throughout the building.

The annex and women's department constitute the old prison. These departments are in bad condition—inadequate ventilation and unsanitary closets were found. These closets should be removed at once and new self-flushing closets substituted. The management is zealous in its efforts to minimize the dangers presented by this condition.

I found kitchen, bathroom, laundry and other departments in first-class condition. Many inmates of the Workhouse are drafted into the service of this institution to assist in the work incident to its maintenance. The food is wholesome and sufficient.

Under an amendment to section 483 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, enacted by the Legislature this year, the courts may, at their discretion, under certain circumstances, place a defendant on probation by the suspension of the sentence imposed, and commit the offender into the custody of a Probation Officer appointed by the court. Under this law commitments to this institution will be lessened.

The discipline of this institution might be improved upon by prohibiting the hilarious conduct of the inmates, especially in the juvenile department. They indulge in loud talking and singing and other conduct clearly indicating a failure to enforce discipline necessary to the proper department of a penal institution.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JOHN P. JAECKEL, President.

New York City Workhouse.

To the Honorable the State Commission of Prisons:

Your Commissioner visited the Workhouse on Blackwell's Island on November 23, 1903, and begs to report as follows:

The name given to this institution is surely a misnomer, for certainly the title "workhouse" implies an institution in which work is done. I found no work being done aside from that incident to the care of the institution, and some garden work. This prison has a capacity for sheltering 750 men and 350 women. There were on this day confined 428 men and 230 women. These are committed from the District Magistrates' Courts. The building is fifty years old. With the present population but four men are obliged to occupy one room. There are eight large rooms, with a capacity of from fifteen to twenty beds in the male department, aside from the single rooms. The bucket system is in use. I was informed that the water pressure was not powerful enough to permit of the use of flush closets. The building is a fire trap. I found wooden floors in the cells and in the corridors, a most dangerous condition, and one which should not be permitted to exist. It is not only a dangerous condition in the respect referred to, but the presence of wooden floors where daily scrubbing is necessary invites vermin of all kinds, a condition not noticeable with flagstone or cement flooring. These wooden floors should be gradually torn out and flagstone or cement substituted.

The women's department contains 233 cells. A skylight covers the entire corridor, affording plenty of sun and light. Bath accommodations in both departments were in excellent condition, and fully adequate to all needs of the institution. There is no system of ventilation except that naturally given through the windows.

The various departments in the prison were found in good condition, and fully meeting all requirements. The bread used is supplied by the penitentiary; meats and vegetables are furnished under contract from New York City.

The hospital service is all that could be desired. This department is divided into two parts, the Medical and surgical. There were on this day twenty male and ten female patients in the hospitals.

The Warden recommends the building of a new and modern boiler and heating plant to replace the present obsolete one. He also recommends that proper screens surround the upper corridors to prevent the possibility of prisoners jumping off.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JOHN P. JAECKEL, President.

The President laid before the Board the following communication from the Fire Commissioner:

No. 84.

Headquarters Fire Department, City of New York,
Nos. 157 and 159 East Sixty-seventh Street,
Borough of Manhattan, January 18, 1904.

Hon. CHARLES V. FURNES, President, Board of Aldermen, City Hall, Borough of Manhattan, New York City:

Sir—In the year 1903 a fund amounting to $37,058.15 was created by the issue of Revenue Bonds for the construction and maintenance of a fire alarm telegraph system in the Borough of Richmond. This system was constructed in the year 1903, and on the 31st day of December was placed in operation. In the Budget for 1904 $13,700 was asked for salaries and $10,000 for materials and supplies necessary for the maintenance of the Bureau. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, however, allowed but $13,472, which only covered the salaries of the employees appointed by my predecessor in the month of December, 1903.

The condition is that we have a Bureau in the Borough of Richmond, with a corps of employees, for the payment of whose salaries an amount was appropriated, but without the money to maintain the system in proper condition. For this purpose $10,000 will be required, and therefore I have to request that your Honorable Board, pursuant to the provisions of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the Greater New York Charter, will request the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of $10,000 for the maintenance of the fire alarm telegraph system in the Borough of Richmond for the year 1904. A form of resolution is transmitted herewith.

Yours respectfully,

NICHOLAS J. HAYES, Commissioner.

Resolved, That pursuant to the provisions of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the Greater New York Charter, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is hereby requested to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for the maintenance, by the Fire Commissioner of The City of New York, of the Fire Alarm Telegraph System in the Borough of Richmond.

Which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The President laid before the Board the following communication from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

No. 85.

Department of Finance, City of New York,
January 19, 1904.

Hon. P. J. SCULLY, City Clerk:

Dear Sir—At a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, held January 15, 1904, the following resolutions of the Board of Aldermen, requesting issues of Special Revenue Bonds, were presented: $800 for defraying the expenses of the Andrew H. Green memorial services; $2,650 for painting the portrait of the late Andrew H. Green; and $600 for providing the decorations and music for the City Hall on January 1, 1904; and, in accordance with the direction of the Board, I herewith return said resolutions to be reauthorized.

Yours very truly,

JAS. W. STEVENSON, Deputy Comptroller.

Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment be and it is hereby requested, in pursuance of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the amended Charter of the Greater New York, to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of eight hundred dollars ($800), for the purpose of defraying expenses of the Andrew H. Green memorial services.

Adopted by the Board of Aldermen December 22, 1903, four-fifths of all the members elected voting in favor thereof.

Approved by the Mayor December 29, 1903.

P. J. SCULLY, Clerk.

Resolved, That pursuant to subdivision 8 of section 188 of the amended Greater New York Charter the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is hereby requested to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of two thousand six hundred and fifty dollars ($2,650), for the purpose of defraying the cost of painting the portrait of the late Hon. Andrew H. Green.

Unanimously adopted by the Board of Aldermen December 22, 1903, three-fourths of all the members elected voting in favor thereof.

Approved by the Mayor December 29, 1903.

P. J. SCULLY, Clerk.

Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment be and it is hereby requested in pursuance of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the amended Charter of Greater New York, to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of six hundred dollars ($600), to provide for decorations and music for the City Hall on January 1, 1904, under the direction of the President of the Borough of Manhattan.

Unanimously adopted by the Board of Aldermen December 22, 1903, four-fifths of all the members elected voting in favor thereof.

Approved by the Mayor December 29, 1903.

P. J. SCULLY, Clerk.

MOTIONS, ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS.

No. 86.

By Alderman McCall—

Resolved, That Pierce N. Poole, of No. 3 Mangin street, in the Borough of Manhattan, be and he hereby is elected member of the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York for the Twelfth Aldermanic District in the place and stead of James J. Devlin, resigned.

In connection with the above Alderman Goodman offered the following protest:

No. 87.

To the President and Members of the Board of Aldermen:

Please take notice that I, the undersigned, a duly registered and enrolled elector, residing at No. 384 Grand street, in the Twelfth Assembly District, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, hereby protest against the acceptance of the resignation from office of one of your Board, James J. Devlin, and his declination to serve as such Alderman, and also against the adoption of a resolution by your Board for the election, appointment or designation in his stead of some other person for the unexpired term of office of the said James J. Devlin.

My objection and protest are based upon the following facts:

First—That the same constitutes part of a plan whereby the will of the people of the said district as expressed at the polls is to be subverted in order that said James J. Devlin may be appointed as Clerk of the Thirteenth District Court in place of the office to which he was elected, and such other person appointed in his place and stand as Alderman for his entire term, although not elected to that office by the people of that district.

Second—That the said resolution to so appoint such other person is contrary to the Constitution of the State of New York in the following respects, viz.: The adoption of said resolution is attempted pursuant to the provisions of section 18 of the Greater New York Charter, which provides in case of vacancy that "the person so elected to fill any such vacancy shall serve for the unexpired portion of the term." This section has been adopted from the Charter of the former City of New York and was not then in conflict with the State Constitution inasmuch as the Aldermanic term of office was then only for one year. The present Aldermanic term of office being for two years, such appointment and election would be directly contrary to article 10 of the Constitution of this State, sections 4, 5 and 6, and to article 12, section 3. In no event can such appointment, if any do take place under the above circumstances, be for a period longer than "the commencement of the political year next succeeding the first annual election after the happening of the vacancy."

Respectfully,
JACOB A. NEWSTEAD.

No. 384 Grand street, New York.

Alex Rosenthal, attorney for Jacob A. Newstead, protesting, No. 320 Broadway, New York.

On motion of Alderman McCall the protest was placed on file.

The President then put the question whether the Board would agree with said resolution.

Which was decided in the affirmative by the following vote:

Affirmative—Aldermen Ahner, Baldwin, Bennett, Boyhan, Brenner, Bridges, Callahan, Chambers, Coggey, Collins, Culkin, Davies, Diemer, Donohue, Dougherty, Doull, Dowling, Doyle, Gaffney, Gass, Gillies, Goodman, Grifenhagen, Grimm, Gunther, Guthrie, Haenlein, Haggerty, Harburger, Harnischfeger, Hann, Higgins, Kenney, Kevin, Kline, Koch, Lochner, Lundy, McCall, McCarthy, Malone, Marks, Meyers, Arthur H. Murphy, Owen J. Murphy, Owens, Redmond, Richter, Robinson, Shea, Stapleton, Stumpf, Tolk, Twomey, Ware, Wafer, Wentz; Presidents Cromwell, Littleton, Ahearn; the Vice-Chairman, the President—61.

Negative—Alderman Sickles—1.

Alderman McCall moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the newly-elected member, escort him to the Mayor's office to be sworn in, and then conduct him back to the Chamber.

Which was adopted, and the President appointed as such Committee Aldermen McCall, Owens and Meyers.

Subsequently the Committee returned to the chamber with the newly-elected Alderman, who was introduced to the President, who, in turn, presented him to the Board and assigned him to his seat.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Bureau of Weights and Measures, Licenses and Marshals.

Hon. SETH LOW, Mayor of The City of New York:

Sir—I beg to submit herewith a report on the Bureau of Weights and Measures, the Bureau of Licenses and the Bureau of Marshals, attached to the office of the Mayor and placed by you in my charge.

My active relations with the Bureau of Weights and Measures did not begin until November 1, 1902; I did not assume charge of the Bureau of Licenses until March 1, 1903; and my more active work in relation to the Bureau of Marshals began when I was instructed by you to report on the credentials of various candidates for the Marshalship to be appointed by you for the Borough of Manhattan, May 1, 1903. Since that date, under your orders, I have exercised supervision over the Marshals, have investigated charges preferred against them, and have advised with them in relation to the duties of their office.

Owing to the limited period of actual supervision of these bureaus and the necessity of exercising such supervision in addition to my regular duties as Secretary to the Mayor, I have not initiated many reforms which I regard as desirable in the public interest, but my daily contact with the officers of these bureaus, with the conditions with which they deal, and with the public having to do with them, has given me information which I herewith present, and has led me also to call attention to improvements, the need of which I think should be considered.

In the Bureau of Licenses I would especially commend the work done by James D. Merriman, Deputy Chief for the Boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx, Joseph McGuinness, Deputy Chief for the Borough of Brooklyn, and Sergeant John L. Pearse, of the Police Squad detailed to the Bureau. Cashiers Charles H. Smith and William R. Woelfle, in Queens and Richmond respectively, have, in addition to their work as Financial Clerks, practically performed the duties of Deputies, and by their energy and conscientious devotion to the responsibilities of the Bureau have produced notable results. Inspectors George W. Hart, Elwood Hanson, Frederick H. Tighe and William Bentell, in the Bureau of Weights and Measures, show what can be done in that Bureau if proper encouragement is given to good service.

Respectfully,

JAMES B. REYNOLDS.

The Bureau of Weights and Measures.

When the present administration took office there were ten Sealers and ten Inspectors of Weights and Measures. These officials were all appointed under the previous administration, and no new appointments have been made. Two resignations have been received and accepted.

The duties of Inspectors, as defined by the City ordinance, are to inspect all weights and measures used in trade, and if any are found incorrect to report the same to the dealers who, in turn, shall report such to the Corporation Counsel. A fine is imposed by the Court upon the vendor if the inexactness alleged is proved. If the Inspectors find new measures which are correct, they are required to report the same to the Sealers, who shall stamp them. Quarterly reports are to be filed by the Inspectors with the City Clerk.

The duties of Sealers are not clearly defined. Though they receive a larger salary than the Inspectors, the only specific duty given to them is suggested in the definition of the duties of Inspectors, in which it is stated that the Inspectors shall report to the Sealers weights and measures to be sealed, if correct. The Sealer must then stamp them. If incorrect weights are reported by the Inspectors, the Sealers shall report the same to the Corporation Counsel.

As a result of such an unsatisfactory definition of the work of Sealers, little work is done by them, and it has been frankly stated to me by some of the Sealers that few of them work more than two days a week, and that their only regular obligation is to report each morning for duty.

The existing ordinance also fails to provide for a chief of bureau, except as supervisory power may be exercised by the Mayor, or by some one having other duties, who may be assigned by the Mayor to this supervisory work. As a matter of fact, in the past no supervision appears to have been exercised, and both Sealers and Inspectors have been accustomed to obtain their salaries by swearing that they had performed their duties and were entitled to their pay. Such a condition naturally did not give that service to the public for which the bureau was created.

The pressure of my regular duties as Secretary to the Mayor made it impossible for me to give time to this bureau until the autumn of 1902. Early in November of that year, upon your authorization, I called a conference of the Sealers and Inspectors, and continued to meet them weekly during that month. I have also advised with individual members of the bureau frequently since that time. At this conference I indicated what work ought to be done and promised support for every effort made to protect the public from deception and fraud.

In the spring of 1903 I directed the Inspectors in certain districts to make a careful examination of the weights and measures used by pushcart peddlers. A police officer from the Bureau of Licenses was assigned to accompany each Inspector. Many inaccurate weights and not a few of a fraudulent character were found. Spring balances with nails inserted to prevent the movement of the spring; weights duly stamped as to the amount, with one or two ounces shaved off the bottom, and weighing pans with a lining of putty inside the rim were found. An Inspector discovered one man selling coal by the hundredweight in a galvanized iron pan weighing thirteen pounds; the pan was included in weighing the coal. In another instance the Inspector found a pan in similar use weighing eighteen pounds. The purchaser therefore received only 82 instead of the 100 pounds for which he had paid. The most notable abuses were discovered in the sale of fish from carts. In May a market for the sale of fish from pushcarts was established near the Manhattan terminal of the Williamsburg Bridge. Soon after its establishment I sent an Inspector to test the weights used, and out of fifty-two twenty-eight were found to be short from two ounces to four pounds. The Inspector was instructed to continue weekly inspections at the market until the scales were found to be accurate. I also received a committee of the Fish Dealers' Association, and showed them how, by proper oiling, their scales could be kept in good order. The street traffic, however, will always need careful attention. Peddlers, often from mere ignorance, buy cheap inexact scales, and are not themselves able to correct them. The results of this encouragement to good work by the officers of the Bureau are indicated by the following report of the cases presented to and acted upon by the Corporation Counsel in relation to shortage in weights:

Amount collected for—

|--------------------------|----------|
| 1902 | $421 00 |
| 1903, to October 1 | 2,026 00 |

It is significant that $421 of the $421 collected in 1902 were turned in between the date of my first conference, November 1, and December 31.

I quote these statistics not in criticism of the Sealers and Inspectors, since they are hardly to be held responsible for unsatisfactory service when no interest was shown in their work on the part of any public official, but to indicate the value of adequate supervision. I may add that the fines collected are but one indication of the improved efficiency of the Bureau. A committee of the Butchers' Association which called in the autumn of 1902 to complain to your Honor regarding the general use of inaccurate scales in the trade, reported through its secretary in July, 1903, that a marked improvement had been noticed since the autumn when the complaint was filed.

To further promote the interest of the officials of the Bureau, and to obtain more intimate knowledge of the point of view of those who had been long in the service, I sent a list of questions to the Sealers and Inspectors in the spring of 1903. Many of the answers received contained excellent practical suggestions for the improvement of the service of the Bureau, and clearly revealed the defects of existing ordinances.

So few people test their products by reweighing them when they have been brought home that the public is not aware of the amount of fraud which has been and is still practiced. This is only known by honest tradesmen, who find that certain competitors are selling their products by weight at a lower price than would yield a profit if honest weights were used. Many reputable tradesmen have, therefore, unwillingly followed the example of their unscrupulous fellow dealers, since the indiscriminating public would otherwise rush to what appeared to be, but which was not, the cheapest market. Hence the duty of public authorities in this matter should be strictly fulfilled, not only in the interest of the customers, but also of honest trade.

In view of the unsatisfactory condition of these ordinances, I made a careful examination of the regulations in force in other cities, particularly those of London and Birmingham, England, and of Boston, Chicago and Washington, D. C. While in Washington last spring I had a conference with the Chief of the United States Bureau of Standards, and received from him further valuable information regarding the work done in other cities of the country, and the co-operation rendered to various States and cities by the National Government. I also visited Boston, and through the courtesy of the Mayor was given an opportunity to examine the practical workings of the Bureau of Weights and Measures in that city. As the result of these investigations I drafted an ordinance, based chiefly on the ordinances now in force in Boston, Chicago and Washington. I append to this report a copy of the proposed ordinance. Its principal features are executive organization of the Bureau by the creation of the office of Chief of the Bureau, to whom subordinate officials shall be strictly accountable; the abolition of the antiquated provision that subordinates shall be residents of the council districts to which they are assigned for duty; the abolition of the distinction between sealers and inspectors, and the equalization of the salaries of deputy inspectors—the title proposed for the subordinate officers; a recasting of the duties imposed on such deputy inspectors and of the work of inspection, so that increased efficiency may be obtained in the testing of all weights and measures used in the sale of ordinary produce, and especially in the sale of coal and ice in small quantities. The provision in relation to coal and ice was included, owing to information received by me regarding conditions in this City, and to statements made to me by representatives of the bureaus at Boston and Chicago—that similar provisions in the ordinances enacted in those cities produced extremely beneficial results.

The proposed ordinance has not yet, I regret to state, been favorably acted upon by the Board of Aldermen. At the present time there undoubtedly exists a vast amount of injustice in the weighing of small quantities of groceries, coal and ice, an injustice which cannot be corrected under the existing ordinance. I cannot too strongly urge, in the interest of that protection which the City owes to its citizens, and to honest trade, that the proposed ordinance should be passed at the earliest possible date.

I desire, finally, to call attention to three matters in relation to further improvements which should soon be made in the administration of the Bureau.

Firstly—In many cities a fee is charged for sealing all weights and measures. In others a fee is charged for sealing when the inspector goes to the shop, but no fee is charged if the weight or measure is brought to the Bureau for testing. While in still others where fees are exacted for all testing of weights and measures the fee charged for weights and measures brought the Bureau is less—usually about one-half—that that required to be paid if the weights and measures are tested in the shop. If any fee is charged the last would appear to me to afford the best scheme of charges. Much time is saved for the inspectors by testing weights in the office of the Bureau, and the inspectors are then able to devote their time to those who, carelessly or willfully, are found constantly using incorrect weights. Such offenders should be ruthlessly pursued until they have learned that the path of honesty is the only path of undisturbed peace.

Secondly—An office for the Bureau will soon become a necessity, for which clerks should be provided or various deputy inspectors assigned for limited periods.

Thirdly—A repair shop will soon be needed for the correction of false weights and measures, similar to that existing in most other large cities. The employees in this shop should be skilled mechanics, and at least one should be an expert in the adjustment of scales requiring a fine degree of exactness. As part of the equipment of this shop a complete set of standard scales will be needed, certified either directly by the National Government at Washington or by the State Inspector at Albany, whose standards are approved by the National Government.

A Bureau of Weights and Measures with the improved efficiency provided in the proposed ordinance and the addition of the other improvements which I have indicated would be a credit to our city, and would afford a much-needed protection to the general public, and also to honest tradesmen who suffer from the competition of those who can, at present, easily defraud their customers while they appear to be offering unusual bargains.

Introduced as chapter 1, article 7, of the Code of Ordinances.

Article 7—Weights and Measures.

Sec. 194. There shall be a Mayor's Bureau of Weights and Measures in The City of New York, in charge of an Inspector of Weights and Measures, to be appointed by the Mayor and removable by him at his pleasure, who shall be paid a salary of twenty-five hundred dollars per annum. The present Sealers and Inspectors of Weights and Measures shall hereafter be known as Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures, and they and their successors shall each receive a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum.

Sec. 195. The present Sealers and Inspectors of Weights and Measures shall continue to hold office as Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures. Any vacancy which shall hereafter occur shall be filled by appointment by the Mayor.

Sec. 196. Each of said Inspectors of Weights and Measures shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute to The City of New York a bond, with one or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the Mayor, in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office.

Sec. 197. All persons using weights and measures, scale beams, patent balances, steelyards or any other instrument in weighing or measuring any article intended to be purchased or sold in The City of New York shall cause the same to be sealed and marked by a Deputy Inspector of Weights and Measures of said City.

Sec. 198. Any person who shall, in weighing or measuring any article for purchase or sale within The City of New York, use any weight, measure, scale beam, patent balance, steelyard or other instrument not sealed and marked as herein required, shall forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars for each and every offense.

Sec. 199. All weights, measures, scale beams, patent balances, steelyards and other instruments for weighing, to be sealed and adjusted by a Deputy Inspector of Weights and Measures in The City of New York, shall be made to conform to the standard of the State, and shall be marked by him with the initials of his name and the date on which the same shall be sealed and marked.

"Upon the written request of any resident of The City of New York, the Inspector of Weights and Measures shall test or cause to be tested, within a reasonable time after the receipt of such request, the weights, measures, scale beams, patent balances, steelyards or other instruments used in buying or selling by the person, firm or corporation designated in such request."

Sec. 200. If any person shall use, in The City of New York, in weighing or measuring as aforesaid any weight, measure, scale-beam, patent balance, steelyard or other instrument which shall not conform to such standard, or shall use, in weighing as aforesaid, any scale-beam, patent balance, steelyard or other instrument which shall be out of order or incorrect, or which shall not balance, he, she or they shall forfeit and pay for every such offense the sum of twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 201. The Inspector shall keep a register of the name of each person, firm or corporation whose weights, measures, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards or other instruments have been inspected, together with the number and size of same, and what of each was approved and what condemned, with the date of inspection, and such record shall be open to the inspection of the public at all reasonable times.

Sec. 202. No person shall sell or offer for sale in any market or in the public streets or in any other place in The City of New York any fruits, vegetables or berries in crates, baskets or other measures, or any butter in prints, or any ice or coal or other fuel at or for a greater weight or measure than the true measure thereof; and all ice, coal, coke, meats, poultry and provisions (except vegetables sold by the head or bunch) of every kind, sold in the streets or elsewhere in The City of New York, shall be weighed or measured by scales, measures or balances, or in measures duly tested and stamped by the Inspector or Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures; provided that poultry may be offered for sale and sold in other manner than by weight, but in all cases where the persons intending to purchase shall so desire and request poultry shall be weighed as hereinbefore provided.

Sec. 203. Any weights or scales found by the Deputy Inspector in use in any market or in the public streets, which upon being tested are found to be short in weight by one-quarter of a pound or upwards, may be summarily confiscated and destroyed.

Sec. 204. No person shall sell or supply any coal or coke within the limits of The City of New York, unless there shall be delivered to the person in charge of the wagon or conveyance used in such delivery a certificate duly signed by the person selling such fuel, showing the weight of the fuel proposed to be delivered, the weight of the wagon or conveyance used in such delivery, the total weight of fuel and conveyance used, and the name of the purchaser.

Sec. 205. No person in charge of a wagon or conveyance used in delivering coal, coke or other fuel, to whom the certificate mentioned in the previous section has been given, shall neglect or refuse to supply such certificate to the Inspector or Deputy Inspector of Weights and Measures, or to any person designated by either of them, or to the purchaser or intending purchaser of the fuel being delivered; and when the said officer or person so designated, or the intending purchaser, shall demand that the weight shown by such certificate be verified, it shall be the duty of the person delivering such fuel to convey the same forthwith to some public scale in the district, or to any private scale the owner whereof shall consent to such use, and permit the verifying of the weight shown, and shall after the delivery of such fuel return forthwith with the wagon or conveyance used to the same scale and verify the weight of said wagon or conveyance.

Sec. 206. It shall be the duty of the Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures, and each of them is hereby authorized, to inspect, examine, test and seal, at least once in each year, and as much oftener as the Inspector of Weights and Measures may deem proper, the weights, measures, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards and other instruments used in The City of New York in weighing and measuring as aforesaid.

Sec. 207. No person shall refuse to exhibit any weights, measures, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards or other instruments to any of said Inspectors for the purpose of being so inspected and examined, under the penalty of twenty-five dollars for every such offense.

Sec. 208. No person shall in any way or manner obstruct, hinder or molest any Inspector of Weights and Measures in the performance of his duties as hereby imposed upon him, under a penalty upon every such person of twenty-five dollars for every such offense.

Sec. 209. All weights, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards and other instruments used for weighing shall be inspected and sealed at the stores and places where the same may be used; but in case they or any of them shall be found not to conform to the standard of this State, the owner thereof shall within five days, at his expense, have the same so altered and repaired as to conform it to the said standard of the State, under the penalty of ten dollars for such neglect.

Sec. 210. It shall be the duty of each of the said Inspectors to make a record and certificate as hereinafter provided of all the weights, measures, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards and other instruments used for weighing and measuring inspected by him, in which he shall state the names of the owners of the same, and whether they are conformable to the standard of the State.

Sec. 211. It shall be the duty of the Deputy Inspector of Weights and Measures to report promptly to the Inspector of Weights and Measures the names of all persons whose weights, measures or other instruments for weighing and measuring shall be found to be incorrect.

Sec. 212. It shall also be the duty of said Deputy Inspectors to file monthly reports with the Inspector of Weights and Measures, and to make such other and further reports and keep such further records as may be required from time to time by said Inspector.

Sec. 213. It shall be the duty of the Inspector of Weights and Measures to report forthwith to the Corporation Counsel the names and places of business of all persons violating any of the provisions of this chapter, and of all persons making use of any fraudulent or unsealed weights, measures, scales or other instruments for weighing or measuring.

Sec. 214. It shall not be lawful for the said Inspector or Deputy Inspector to vend any weights, measures, scale-beams, patent balances, steelyards or other instruments to be used for weighing or measuring, or to offer or expose the same for sale in The City of New York, under the penalty of fifty dollars for every such offense.

Sec. 215. Each Deputy Inspector shall give a certificate to the owner of the weights or measures inspected, and shall keep a record of each certificate given on a corresponding stub. The certificates and corresponding stubs shall be numbered consecutively. The books containing the stubs, after the corresponding certificates have been given out, shall become a public record. The Inspector shall be authorized, when required, to certify extracts from these records.

Sec. 216. All complaints against Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures shall be lodged with the Inspector of Weights and Measures, and by him reported, with his recommendation thereon, to the Mayor for his final action.

Sec. 217. The Deputy Inspectors shall be assigned for service by the Inspector to such districts as he may deem proper. Whenever any Deputy Inspector shall resign or be removed from office, it shall be his duty to deliver at the office of the Inspector of Weights and Measures all the standard weights and measures and other official property in his possession.

Bureau of Licenses.

Under the Bureau of Licenses has been placed the licensing of various occupations, either because the parties engaged in such occupations had no permanent place of business and hence could not be easily held responsible for their business dealings, as in the case of cabmen, truck drivers and street vendors, or because the parties transacting the particular business were so unequally circumstanced that it was thought to be in the public interest to protect the weaker from the occasional abuses of power of the stronger, as in the case of pawnbrokers and employment agents.

The trades licensed, with the charges required by ordinance, are as follows:

|--|--------|
| For each public cart or truck..... | $2 00 |
| For each public hack coach..... | 3 00 |
| For each public hack cab..... | 2 00 |
| For each special hack coach..... | 5 00 |

| For each express wagon..... | 5 00 |
| For each junk shop or dealer..... | 20 00 |
| For each dealer in second-hand articles..... | 25 00 |
| For each junk cart or boat..... | 5 00 |
| For each peddler using horse and wagon..... | 8 00 |
| For each peddler using push cart..... | 4 00 |

| For each coal scalper..... | 250 00 |
| For each common show..... | 25 00 |
| For each public shooting gallery..... | 5 00 |
| For each public bowling alley..... | 5 00 |
| For each public billiard table..... | 3 00 |
| For each dirt cart..... | 1 00 |
| For each general hoisting..... | 25 00 |

Any license, before its expiration or within thirty days thereafter, may be renewed for another term, upon payment of one-half the license fee above designated therefor.

Under the proposed code of ordinances now before the Board of Aldermen the charges would be:

|--|--------|
| For each public cart or truck..... | $5 00 |
| For each public hack coach..... | 5 00 |
| For each public hack cab..... | 3 00 |
| For each special hack coach..... | 5 00 |
| For each special hack cab..... | 3 00 |
| For each express wagon..... | 5 00 |

| For each peddler carrying merchandise..... | 5 00 |
| For each ticket speculator..... | 50 00 |
| For each coal scalper..... | 250 00 |
| For each common show..... | 25 00 |
| For each public shooting gallery..... | 5 00 |
| For each public bowling alley..... | 5 00 |
| For each public billiard table..... | 3 00 |
| For each dirt cart..... | 1 00 |
| For each general hoisting..... | 25 00 |
| For each special hoisting..... | 1 00 |
| For each fruit stand..... | 20 00 |
| For each soda water stand..... | 20 00 |
| For each newspaper and periodical stand..... | 10 00 |
| For each chair of a bootblack stand..... | 5 00 |
| For each stand under elevated railroad stations..... | 20 00 |
| For each driver of any licensed vehicle..... | 50 |

Any license, before its expiration or within thirty days thereafter, may be renewed for another term upon payment of one-half the license fee above designated therefor.

Street Traffic.

The Mayor licenses street preachers, and the Bureau of Highways issues permits for the erection of banners, where poles are required, and also grants permits for display wagons. The work of the Bureau in relation to street traffic is limited to the granting of licenses to push-carts, wagon and basket peddlers.

Push-carts.—The push-cart business has developed during the past two years with marvelous rapidity. This increase has been due, in large part, to the lowering of the license fee in 1899. The effect of this change is apparent from the following statistics relating only to the Borough of Manhattan. Until that year the charges for licensing were as follows:

|----------------------------|---------|
| For a horse and wagon..... | $25 00 |
| For a push-cart..... | 15 00 |
| For a basket..... | 5 00 |

—with renewal at half price.

Under this schedule of charges the licenses issued in 1898 were as follows:

Horse and wagon, 118; push-cart, 1,355; basket, 258.

In 1899 the license fees were reduced to $8 for a horse and wagon, $4 for a push-cart and $2 for a basket, with renewals at half price. The result has been as follows:

| | Horse and Wagon. | Push-cart. | Basket. |
|-----------|------------------|------------|---------|
| 1900..... | 403 | 2,073 | 690 |
| 1902..... | 607 | 5,360 | 988 |

Until within the last few months, no attention has been paid by the Bureau to the conditions laid down by the Board of Aldermen for granting licenses. These conditions appear to have been required to limit the number of licenses and to prevent newly arrived immigrants, ignorant of our laws, customs and language, from seeking the streets as a means of obtaining livelihood. Consequently, the ordinance requires that no one shall receive a license until he has been one year in the State, and, if a foreigner, until he shall have taken out his first citizenship papers. The experience of the Bureau demonstrates the wisdom of these provisions. Application is constantly made for licenses by immigrants who have been less than a month in the country, and the plea is often urged that the applicant has no other means of support and is destitute, proving that the law relating to paupers was evaded on the arrival of the parties in question. Ignorance of our laws relating to cleanliness of the streets and inability to understand instruction given by the police and other officials, make all such persons undesirable tradesmen on our already overcrowded streets. The Fire Department, the Police Department and the Street Cleaning Department have constantly complained of the difficulty of doing their proper work when both sides of the streets were lined with push-carts. Furthermore, the push-cart business has steadily increased in magnitude, until the small shop-keepers have found themselves in competition with the street tradesmen who pay neither rent nor taxes. Bitter complaints have come from some of these shop-keepers, while others have sought to protect themselves by also taking out licenses—a clear violation of the spirit of the ordinance, but declared by them to be necessary to prevent their commercial extinction.

With the increase of the push-cart business another well-known but deplorable abuse has arisen—the push-cart padrone. The padrone takes out a dozen or more licenses, under as many different names, and then hires an equal number—the more ignorant and helpless the better for his purposes—to sell goods for him. His victims receive a beggarly pittance and are not infrequently found at night sleeping in a basement room in the midst of their carts with a herd of companions. It is a well-known fact among the peddlers that men have been imported for this work by the padrone. In fact, when the requirement of a year's residence in the State was first enforced by the Bureau, information was given from a thoroughly reliable source that an entire shipload of Greeks had just been contracted for by a Greek padrone, to be used in the push-cart business.

Upon assuming charge of the Bureau I found some streets almost entirely clogged by lines of push-carts extending on each side, which were doubled, in some instances, on one or both sides of the street, practically closing it as a thoroughfare. While one of the arguments frequently used to urge the desirability of maintaining push-cart traffic in this City has been that many tenement house dwellers have thereby provisions brought to their doors, it has become manifest that the natural tendency of push-cart vendors is to gather together into groups in place of the well-scattered arrangement of the carts which at one time existed. In view of the congested condition indicated above, I addressed, with your Honor's approval, a communication to the Police Commissioner, calling his attention to the ordinance requiring that one side of the street only should be occupied by push-carts at one time and not more than one line should be allowed. My communication received prompt attention, and since that time, with the exception of the holiday period, the ordinance has been well observed. Many expressions of approval have been received from citizens and officials as to the benefit of the enforcement of this ordinance, and even the peddlers themselves, who at first strenuously opposed it, have stated that it had worked unexpected benefits, two of which may be mentioned. Formerly, knowing that they were violating all the ordinances, the peddlers felt a sense of insecurity and found themselves absolutely in the power of any rough policeman who might take offense or entertain a grudge against a particular vendor. It was also the fertile source of a well-organized system of blackmail, carried on by certain Police officers, with the probable cooperation and connivance of some representatives of the peddlers. Furthermore, there arose a system of collection of rentals by the shopkeepers in front of whose stores push-carts were placed. If the rental was not paid, the shopkeeper would immediately complain to the police that the peddler was a nuisance, an objection not repeated when the next peddler took his stand in front of the store and paid the unlawful rental. The constant change from one side of the street to the other now required has to a large extent broken up this custom of paying rental and has freed the peddler from police interference, so that both forms of tribute have been almost wholly abolished, though individual instances undoubtedly still exist. My aim in the supervision of the push-cart business has been, first, to protect the proper use of the highways; and, second, in granting certain privileges to those licensed by the City to use the streets, to see that these privileges were secured under such conditions as would best protect the health and convenience of the public and provide to peddlers uninterrupted and peaceful pursuit of their business without tribute or persecution. So long as the City licenses it should give proper protection. I believe the vested interest of the small merchant in his push-cart is as much entitled to the City's protection as is the vested interest of any great corporation in its municipal plant.

In view, however, of the constant receipt of complaints on the part of citizens, especially tradesmen and tenement house dwellers; and considering what appears to be the inevitable friction resulting from the crowding of carts and wagons in the narrow streets of this densely populated City, I have thought it desirable that steps be taken to remove such traffic altogether from the streets. It must be borne in mind that in the Borough of Manhattan, where the problem is most serious, the population is almost double that found in any other city; there are fewer wide thoroughfares than in most cities of similar size, taller buildings and much greater congestion of people and traffic, and hence a more urgent necessity that the thoroughfares should be unimpeded and reserved for their normal purposes, and also that they should be kept clean—a condition at present absolutely impossible where push-cart markets exist.

Various possible remedies are as follows:

(1) Push carts could be removed from the streets by executive order. It is open to question whether a taxpayer's suit would not force the City to take this action, since the City's right to grant permits for the use of its thoroughfares for purposes of traffic would be unlikely to stand test in the courts. Such a measure would, however, be unjust and extreme, and I should greatly deplore it.

(2) The City could cease to issue licenses for street traffic. This, if sustained by preventing use of the streets by unlicensed carts, would result in a very rapid diminution of the number of pushcarts on the streets, and would, probably, in a few years lead to almost complete extinction of this business. This would deprive the City, however, of the markets provided by groups of pushcarts, which seem to be much in demand, especially among our foreign population.

(3) A better and more satisfactory handling of this problem would, I believe, be found in the creation of three or four pushcart markets by the City, and the requirement, upon establishment of these markets, that all pushcarts be relegated to them. Streets would then be cleared, public markets maintained, no injustice would be done, and public sanitation would be vastly facilitated. The fact that it was easily possible to remove fish carts from the streets of the lower east side by the creation of a market and that, since then, the market has been well patronized, demonstrates that the carts can be removed from the streets and that trade will follow them; perhaps, also, that there is a genuine desire on the part of the people for such markets, since many come to the fish market who could buy from stores near their own homes. I have been constantly assured by peddlers that many of them would gladly go to a market where they could be assured of protection. They have even shown me calculations which they made, demonstrating the possibility of the payment of moderate rental by each peddler, rated at so much per week, and which they claim would be adequate to compensate the City for taking a block and turning it into a market. While I have not verified the accuracy of these figures I am strongly of opinion the benefits to the public would be such that if the City were not able to make a profit from its market it would still be wise to maintain it. After conference with a number interested I am convinced that as the need of markets always exists in crowded sections a successful combination could be made of a market and recreation ground such as are most required in various parts of the Borough of Manhattan. Presented herewith is a sketch indicating how such a market could be arranged in a sample block, taking, by way of illustration, that bounded by Ludlow, Rivington, Orchard and Stanton streets. By the disinterested courtesy of Mr. C. E. Brunner I have also been able to present a sketch of the way such a market could be utilized for the establishment of a recreation ground on the upper story by providing a covering, which would in any case be necessary. A building may be so planned that various recreative features, similar to those established in our more recent parks, could be provided, such as gymnastic exercises with proper equipment and a bandstand for supplying music. This building might be covered or uncovered, and probably would not need to be equipped with a heating plant. The accompanying plan of arranging the carts in such a market was proposed by Mr. Arthur S. Tuttle, Assistant Engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. For practical suggestions in planning the uses to which the building could be put I am also greatly indebted to Mr. Charles B. Stover.

If this plan could be considered, I would strongly recommend that one market be established in that section of the east side, between Houston street and the Bowery, by condemnation of an entire block in about the locality of the typical block selected; or, in the condemnation of two half blocks, one near the section named and the other nearer the East river; a third might be established on a half block not far from Mulberry Bend Park; a fourth between Eighth and Ninth avenues, above Thirty-fourth street, and a fifth on the upper east side, below One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

With such provision it would be possible to remove the entire traffic from the streets and to establish this traffic under proper sanitary conditions. At the present time, the sale of food products from carts is undoubtedly injurious to the health of the people, and also leads to distribution of an immense amount of rotten and injurious food material which the Board of Health cannot satisfactorily inspect. If, however, this food were sold from a market carefully cleaned each day, entirely adequate sanitary inspection could be enforced, public service would be promoted and the evils from overcrowding the streets, the impediments to rapid travel—especially in case of fire—interference with rights of shopkeepers and not infrequent disturbance of business would be overcome, and the same provision which has been found to work so successfully in other cities could be provided while other recognized needs of this City could be met.

Basket Peddlers.—The number of licenses granted to basket vendors has increased almost as rapidly as the number granted to pushcart peddlers. The number engaged in business without license has increased to even greater extent, and it has been found more difficult to prevent this unlicensed traffic. At present large numbers of peddlers are engaged in the sale of fish, going from house to house with their wares. As I have had occasion to observe, they resort to the fish markets at four or five o'clock in the morning, where they buy their fish by the barrel and distribute it among small groups, who are bound together by some trade connection of their own. I have noticed that fish bought by these peddlers is frequently the remnant of the day's supply. I have seen fish bought which I am sure no fish dealer would dare to sell from his store counter. Furthermore, while the fish bought by the shopkeepers at the market is very carefully packed in ice, basket peddlers use no ice, only a tin lining to their baskets, and fish bought at five o'clock in the morning will be carried about until sold—it may be late in the afternoon. I am informed by officials of the Health Department that fish in this condition must frequently be unwholesome, though purchasers may not discern this fact. These men go from house to house, few of them having regular beats which call for any feeling of responsibility to their customers, their only object being to dispose of the day's supply at the highest possible price. The Fishdealers' Association (storekeepers) has vigorously protested against this traffic, claiming that it interferes with their business and constantly leads to frauds upon the public, besides imposing an inferior article on the public, with which the customer would not be satisfied if aware of its condition. The association therefore asserts that it is in the public's interest as well as the association's that fish, which needs to be handled with so much care for its preservation, should not be sold by such irresponsible persons. Frequent complaints have also been made that these peddlers, going from house to house and from apartment to apartment, have in some instances been guilty of petty thieving and of other forms of petty annoyance. In houses where janitors forbid their entrance they do not scruple to resort to any device for overcoming such restrictions. It would seem, therefore, that this trade should also receive more careful supervision, for the preservation of public health, public security and protection of the legitimate rights of those who pay taxes and whose location in well known stores increases their responsibility and accountability to their customers. An increase of irresponsible trade is always an injury to the public, and must, if extended, encourage and in a measure force responsible tradesmen to various methods of competition, which can only be to the disadvantage of the public. If these peddlers use fraudulent weights, as is frequently claimed and has in many instances been proven, and if defective ordinances regulating this traffic remain in force, the storekeepers must inevitably in the end adjust their weights by the standards of their competitors—a condition from which the public will suffer, though ignorant of the facts.

The situation which I have described leads me to reach the following conclusions: (1) No unlicensed basket peddlers should be allowed to carry provisions and sell them from house to house; (2) no basket license should be granted except under conditions established by the Board of Health and only for the sale of such food products as the Board of Health may deem proper; (3) a more rigorous inspection of the wholesale dealers supplying such peddlers should be had, to ensure that no provisions be sold to them except such as are approved by the Inspectors at those places; (4) Inspectors of Weights and Measures should be regularly sent to these supply points to test the weights used by basket peddlers; (5) it would seem that the City's general policy should be to discourage, rather than encourage or ignore, the continued increase of the system of basket peddling. Here, again, there is need of improvement in the ordinances, so as to secure the co-operation of the Health Department, the Police Department and the Bureau of Licenses.

Wagon Peddlers.—The same increase previously noted has obtained in the number of wagon peddlers during the past few years, owing to lowering of the license fee and indifference of the City authorities. Here, also, we find a development of the class of traders who are irresponsible, pay neither rent nor taxes, impede the streets, injure the business of shopkeepers supplying the same articles, and while not necessarily better nor worse than their competitors, do business under such conditions as to discourage the development and maintenance of those principles of business beneficial alike to the tradesman and the general public. There would appear to be only two sections of the City where these wagons gather in any considerable numbers: one on the west side, north of Thirty-fourth street, and the other on the east side, below One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. The establishment of markets would, I think, do away with the necessity of granting such licenses, but if the necessity still existed it could probably be arranged that special evenings should be given to market wagons. I may add that these wagons usually do business on only two or three nights of the week.

Sidewalk Traffic.

The following classes of trades exist on the sidewalk between the house line and the stoop line:

1. Under permission of the State Laws soda-water stands, newspaper stands, candy stands and bootblack chairs are allowed upon payment of such annual license fees as may be determined by the Board of Aldermen.

2. Without special ordinance grocers, fruit dealers, flower dealers and stationers have been allowed to maintain stands between the house and the stoop line under no license or charge.

3. Many other stores are allowed to place showcases on the sidewalk within such limits. Jurisdiction over these is by the Bureau of Incumbrances connected with the office of the President of each Borough, and need therefore only be mentioned to complete the list of such privileges granted by the City.

Upon assuming charge of the Bureau of Licenses I found the licensing of stands within the curb line in an utterly demoralized condition. For years the State limitation has been wholly disregarded, and even license fees required by City ordinance have been exacted only from a minority of the stands properly coming under such regulation. For instance, out of 70 fruit stands found in April, 1902, in the Borough of Manhattan, but 27 were licensed. And out of 90 bootblack chairs inspected, 70 were not licensed. Such a condition is manifestly not conducive to public morality, and is most unjust to the minority who had of their own volition, or under compulsion, complied with the law. A thorough canvass was immediately made of all stands coming strictly under the City ordinance and each was required to obtain license.

Five matters in connection with these stands are worthy of mention:

1. A former ordinance allowed small movable newsstands to be placed on the curb upon payment of an annual license fee of $1. This was repealed by the Board of Aldermen in 1902, but no reason has been advanced for such action. As a matter of fact, these stands afford great convenience to many in obtaining daily papers, and I have urged the Board of Aldermen to renew the license for them, only requiring that such stands should be within the stoop line instead of at the curb. No action has, however, been yet taken by the Board in the matter.

2. A few licenses of newsstands I have been compelled to revoke because the keepers received and placed bets on horse races. In other cases where information to the same effect was brought to me it was not definite enough to prove the existence of this evil. Wherever the evidence warranted prompt action in revocation of the license has been taken.

3. All who have watched the development of the bootblacking business in this city are aware that while fifteen years ago bootblacks was small boys carrying boxes and were usually of the street gamin class; to-day a majority have chairs with complete outfit for their trade, and have organized themselves into an association to protect their special interests. The bootblacks are grown men, usually owning two or three chairs, and depending upon this occupation for their entire livelihood. Benefits to customers are much greater at present, and the fact that the bootblack has a chair located at a particular place makes him responsible, painstaking and anxious to please as against the hasty, irresponsible urchin of former days. The Bootblacks' Association, however, complains that while they are compelled to pay $5 a chair as fee to the City, and usually a rental to the adjacent property owner for the privilege of locating their chairs, they suffer from competition of boys who pay neither license fee nor rental. The situation seems to be another instance where the responsible party should receive the City's protection. The sentimental plea that the small boy is supporting his widowed mother and brothers and sisters is vastly overworked. Such instances are few, and other provision would far better be made in such cases for the public good. The bootblack with his chair is usually supporting a family. Furthermore, recent investigation has shown that the moral influences of the street art most injurious, and that boys should universally be discouraged from engaging in street occupations. An ordinance proposed by the bootblacks that a license should be required of all boys carrying boxes and a fee charged for such license would undoubtedly reduce the number of such boys and be an act of justice, while it would decrease the number of street vagrants who often use their bootblacking occupation merely as an excuse for wandering about the streets, picking up a living by their wits and taking first steps in a criminal career.

4. Attention should be called to the fact that while the land between house-line and curb-line is in most instances City property and privileges are granted upon a permit obtained from the City with payment of such fee as is deemed proper by the Board of Aldermen, as matter of fact this privilege is almost universally allowed only upon the payment of an additional substantial rental to the property owner. The ordinance in relation to stoop-stands formerly contained a provision that no charge should be made by the property owner. Your Honor vetoed this clause on the ground that you did not think it proper that a provision so universally violated should continue in the ordinance. Our investigations have shown that rentals amounting from $100 to $1,500 a year are charged by the property owners for the privilege of allowing stands to be placed on the City's land. The City authorities might properly consider whether some revenue should not accrue to the City from this source, if such privileges continue to be granted. The same might be said of allowing show-cases to be placed upon the sidewalk. All these privileges ought to be better regulated than at the present and ought properly to be under the same department or bureau.

5. The propriety of allowing grocers, florists and fruit dealers to exhibit their wares on stands in front of their stores is in part a sanitary question and in part a question of violation of State Law. The existing non-observance, although of no great importance, presents embarrassment to any official who attempts to regard the Laws of the State and the Ordinances of the City seriously and holds himself bound to enforce them. Either the State Law should be so modified as to permit licensing of all stands and Aldermanic regulation of the license fees to be imposed; or the State Law should be altered so as to permit fruit dealers, florists and grocers to have stands as part of their stores; or, finally, if neither of these steps is taken, then all such stands should be excluded from the sidewalks whether the owner of the stand also owns the store or not. It is hardly creditable to the City to allow present conditions to exist merely because officials and citizens have both in the past thought it easier to leave the law unenforced than to work out some intelligent, reasonable plan which would be just to tradesmen and properly protect public rights in relation to sidewalks and to the line between house and stoop.

Employment Agencies.

Employment agencies in this City have been and still are in an unsatisfactory condition. As the vast majority of such agencies are in the Borough of Manhattan special attention has been given to those in that borough.

Soon after assuming charge of the Bureau I made a preliminary investigation of certain conditions through my own Special Agent. The results indicated a need of still more thorough examination of these agencies. Through the co-operation of the Women's Municipal League such an investigation was extended to the entire borough and every employment office licensed by the Bureau and a number unlicensed were visited. The latter were immediately required to obtain a proper license and were thereby placed under the inspection of the Bureau. Existing conditions of an unsatisfactory nature are the following:

1. At the discretion of the Chief of the Bureau employment agents may be required to give a bond to the City for the faithful performance of their duties; this bond has never been exacted. The giving of such bond should be compulsory, as in the case of pawnshops, and the obligation be so shown that any parties wrongly treated by the agency should, upon permission of the Chief of the Bureau and with the approval of the Mayor, be entitled to sue for damages upon the bond. This would offer a remedy to many people who at present are continually defrauded by agents from whom no relief can be obtained.

2. The State law at present requires that if a position is not obtained the entire fee shall be refunded. This provision seems to me unduly severe, as a registration fee of perhaps fifty cents ought to be allowed to the keeper of the agency for expense of investigation and correspondence, in seeking to obtain a position for the applicant. This concession should be made in justice to honest managers of employment agencies. Requirement that the entire fee should be refunded appears to be based on the assumption that the agent had made no effort to obtain a position for the applicant or had taken his fee with intent to defraud him. In my opinion the law should be so drawn as to still further embarrass dishonest agencies and deal justly with honest agents. The allowance of a registration fee which should not be refunded would be a step in that direction.

3. Investigation revealed the fact that the managers of many employment offices have a boarding house or a saloon attachment, and that many others conduct the business in a single tenement house room, which is part of their living quarters. I personally visited one agency located in the untidy kitchen of a rear apartment on the third floor of a tenement house. As an employment bureau is the means of keeping an applicant in expectation of finding employment and hence unoccupied, the responsibility of the agency should be carefully scrutinized, the ability of the licensee to fulfill obligations to all applicants, and the character of the place in which the business is conducted should be so carefully guarded that applicants could be assured both of proper protection and efficient service. Very few of the tenement house agencies are in responsible hands, and the elimination of this entire branch of the business would undoubtedly be in the interest of the unemployed. A direct result would be to concentrate the business in the hands of those in a position to supply labor and better able to reach persons desiring to have vacancies filled. An increased license fee, as recently proposed in a law presented two years ago by the Chief of the Bureau of Labor at Albany, would probably close the majority of irresponsible agencies.

The saloon and boarding house attachments to employment agencies have been productive of other evils. In a few cases the boarding house has undoubtedly been established in good faith and with the intention of giving genuine help to applicants. The temptation appears to be great, however, to urge applicants, or at least suggest to them, that it would be for their good to take up their abode in the boarding house pending the finding of a position. In too many instances, according to reports, if boarders are located the position is not found for the unfortunate victim until there is another applicant to take his room, or his money is exhausted.

Similarly those who visit the agency attached to a saloon find it to their advantage to patronize the bar as a means of stimulating the activities of the manager of the agency. Such adjuncts appear to me entirely improper, and I would urge that the law should be so modified that any one running an employment office should be forbidden to engage in any other occupation in the same or adjacent house.

4. Though not so extensive as the other evils mentioned, a still more serious condition appears to have existed in connection with this class of business in Manhattan and Brooklyn. A number of agencies have supplied girls to keepers of houses of ill repute for immoral purposes. Our investigators found that in several instances this traffic was an important department of the agency. An extra charge was made for placing girls in such houses and with astounding indifference to the law the agents boasted of their ability to supply young and innocent girls. The girls were of course entirely ignorant of their destination, and my investigators were told that it would be best to keep them in ignorance until they had been safely landed in the house. This amounted to collusion on the part of the agent in the employment of force, or in the enforced detention of the unfortunate victims in houses until they might become so degraded as no longer to have a desire to escape. The fact was revealed that this supply from New York agencies was, as a rule, not placed here but was supplied to other cities and those in other cities supplied the houses in New York. As one agent expressed it, this was done so that there might be no "come back." Such a violation of the proper use of an employment agency is intolerable and deserves the severest possible punishment. Unfortunately it had not been contemplated by the law, and the penalty within reach of the public authorities is not as severe as it should be. Three of these cases were, however, placed in the hands of the police, and after securing of proper evidence in the case of two, arrests were made and convictions promptly secured. The judges of Special Sessions decided that the offence was a misdemeanor, being a violation of the proper use of an employment agency. In the third case the employment agent became suspicious just as the officers were about to secure the final evidence, and refused to deliver the goods. Apparently this traffic has temporarily ceased, but it was too extensive to be stopped by a single blow. The close scrutiny of employment agencies in this particular should be relentlessly pursued. It is a disgrace to the City that innocent girls, often strangers and foreigners, should be sent to their ruin by agents to whom the City's license has given a standing of reliability and trustworthiness. If the promises of these parties to my investigators could be fulfilled, it would indicate that this traffic had been a path of downfall to an incredible number.

Our examination showed that about 400 employment agencies were licensed in the Borough of Manhattan. I am far from denying the contention of agents that many applicants take advantage of their offices by various tricks and devices, which it is not necessary to describe but with which I have become familiar in reviewing grievances presented to the Bureau. In view of the insistent and constant pressure of the problem of the unemployed I have had all complaints sifted with great care, recognizing that the protection and encouragement of honest agencies by the City is for the welfare of society, and particularly of its most unfortunate members. Bearing in mind the City's various obligation to employers, to the unemployed and to the agencies I would urge a modification of the Employment Agency Law in the following particulars:

1. The compulsory requirement of a bond of $2,000 upon which injured parties might sue the agency upon obtaining permission of the Chief of the Bureau, with the indorsement of the Mayor.
 2. Continuance of the existing law that any applicant may demand the return of his fee deposited in advance, with the exception that a registration fee of 50 cents should be allowed the agency for each applicant whose name is entered on his books and whose fee has been deposited.
 3. That the license fee be $100 per annum.
 4. That no one conducting an employment agency should be allowed to engage in any other occupation involving his relations directly or indirectly with the applicants for employment.
 5. That the sending by employment agents of girls, knowingly and wilfully, to houses of ill-repute, should be punished by the law as a felony.
- Enactment of the provisions recommended herewith would, I believe, contribute to the responsibility of those managing such business and be vastly in the interest of the unemployed and of employers. Their passage would undoubtedly result in a reduction of the number of employment agencies, but such places, conducted by incompetent, unskilled and usually uneducated persons are a means of keeping out of employment many unfortunate men and women who would otherwise more easily reach the labor market through the channel of larger agencies having more extensive contact with both the demand and the supply of labor.

Billiard Tables.

An examination by the police in April, 1903, shortly after the license squad was instituted, revealed the fact that out of 250 tables inspected 184 were licensed, 66 not licensed. Of 106 bowling allies inspected 67 were licensed, 39 not licensed. Careful attention was given to these, as well as to common shows during the summer. Some difficulty was found in interpreting the meaning of "common shows" under the present ordinance, and its revision in the interests of more exact definition seems desirable, together with the reclassification of the license fees to be charged for various common shows.

Second-Hand Dealers.

The ordinance relating to second-hand dealers appears to have been loosely and carelessly drawn. The ordinance would seem to mean that all dealers in second-hand goods must be licensed, but a careful examination of the subject has led to a limitation of its scope. It was probably not intended to require that furniture and other articles having value because of their antiquity should be treated as second-hand articles, and this exception has been made by the Bureau. The question of regarding dealers in second-hand books as second-hand dealers was also raised because of complaints sent to the Bureau. A conference with several representative dealers in this class of merchandise led me to the conviction that the dealers were better able to protect the public from the theft of such articles than the Bureau, and I was informed that at a recent meeting of the Booksellers' Association action to that end had already been taken. Therefore this class of second-hand articles was also omitted from our list. Old clothes, metal and wood, not having value because of their antiquity, have been held by the Bureau to fall within the terms of the ordinance by strict interpretation. Such places have been required to be licensed. The object of the license in the case of these articles is to insure the further provision of the ordinance, namely, entering the names of all articles bought by the dealer and the name and address of the party or parties from whom they are purchased. By this means it has been thought that stolen goods could be more easily traced. No serious difficulty has been encountered in the enforcement of this ordinance with the single exception that in the sale of second-hand clothes it appears that many of the large dealers obtain their supplies from small dealers who have no store but go from house to house and after gathering a supply meet in certain well-known saloons, where a clothing exchange is held on certain afternoons in the week. Some of these smaller tradesmen undoubtedly obtain their goods from petty thieves and require more or less of supervision. Second-hand clothing dealers having stores, and who are hence more responsible, have strenuously objected to the development of this trade, urging that it afforded the means for hiding theft. This is undoubtedly true, and it should be the policy of the Bureau to discourage the development of this irresponsible traffic.

Junk Shops.

Junk shops, like second-hand stores, are licensed in order that the stolen goods may be more easily traced. Keepers of junk shops are therefore required to have a careful list of the names and addresses of all parties from whom articles are purchased. If copper sheathing, brass bolts or other building and finishing material are purchased by such dealers from children there is just ground for believing that the articles were stolen, and the proof that as a matter of fact they were stolen has been regarded by the Bureau as sufficient ground for thorough scrutiny of the management of the junk dealer. Section 40 of the Tenement House Code also provides that the Commissioner of the Tenement House Department shall be authorized to forbid any dealer from having a store for the purchase and sale of junk in any tenement house. This provision is important, as rags and paper are dangerously combustible and excellent conductors of disease. An investigation last spring showed that in the Borough of Manhattan there were 143 junk dealers. Of these 12 were classed as miscellaneous, 42 as dealing in metals only, and 19 in general junk; 70 were dealers in paper and rags. Of those dealing in paper and rags, 1 was located in a seven-story tenement house, 3 in a six-story tenement house, 12 in a five-story tenement house, 18 in a four-story tenement house and 36 in a three-story tenement house. Regarding this condition as dangerous to the health and the safety of tenants, I had a conference with the Tenement House Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner to arrange for the co-operation of the Bureau with the Tenement House Department. It was agreed that all applications to the Bureau for new licenses for junk shops and for the renewal of old licenses should be forwarded to the Tenement House Department, and that the Bureau would be guided by the opinion of the Department in determining whether such shops could safely be located in a tenement house or not. Resulting from this co-operation, as well as the independent work of the Tenement House Department, many junk shops dealing in paper and rags have been removed from tenement houses, a benefit perhaps not always appreciated by the dwellers, but which certainly will be by all who are acquainted with the origin of many tenement house fires in the past.

Street Service.

Cabs and Carriages—

No subject more needs the careful attention of public officials than the carriage service of this City. My period of service has been too short to effect any radical changes. I have only sought to weed out a few cabmen who appeared not to be entitled to a license from the City; to make a careful, general investigation; to give a fair hearing on all complaints made to the Bureau; to more satisfactorily regulate the relations between public and special cabs, and to improve the honesty of the cab service at the ferries and piers in the Borough of Manhattan. Heretofore but two Policemen attached to the License Squad had been assigned to the inspection of cabs and carriages. Owing to the many other obligations placed on the License Squad of the Bureau, it has been impossible to increase it, though that number is entirely inadequate for serious inspection. It would appear to be the theory of the law that the police in the different precincts should see that cab drivers obey the laws and ordinances and that the Special Officers attached to the License Squad should merely give attention to the proper fulfillment of the ordinance in relation to licensing and the investigation of special cases reported to the Bureau.

Along the line specified above decided results have been achieved. The cab service has become more orderly and reasonable at several ferries, rates of fare are more generally posted in the cabs and prompt action upon complaints of citizens has led to more caution in disregarding the legal charges. It was found that the holders of the special cab licenses were not licensing as many cabs as they placed in front of the hotels and that many of their drivers were unlicensed. The latter matter was, however, willingly attended to by a majority as soon as attention was called to it. And in most instances the same may be said in relation to increase in the number of licenses proportionate to the number of cabs stationed at special stands. The relations of the Bureau with the cab drivers lead me to call attention to several important improvements needed in the cab service.

1. I believe it would be in the public interest if the inspection of cabs and carriages were placed under the Police Department, and a special bureau of that department were given charge of this service. This is done in many cities, and the service has been thereby improved, uniformity of action by the police has been secured, and the rights of the public, cab owners and cab drivers have all been better protected.

2. Until the arrangement above named is made the co-operation of the police in every precinct should be obtained to see that cab rates are posted in each cab, that every cab has a number, and that no extortion is practiced at cab stands, ferries, steamship and steamboat piers and stations. At present quarrels constantly arise between cab drivers and their customers over the price to be charged for the distance actually traversed or the time consumed, if time rate is reckoned.

3. In addition to the posting of the rates a zone card similar to that displayed in various stations if adopted and placed in each cab would still further contribute to settle disagreements between drivers and customers. The taximeter which registers the distance traversed and the amount to be charged, whether for distance or for time, has proved successful in Berlin and a number of other German cities, and has latterly been introduced with success in England and France. Such a machine would eliminate discussion, and greatly increase the number using cabs, who are now deterred by frequent differences between the drivers and their customers.

4. Particular attention needs also to be given to the so-called "special cabs." These cabs carry passengers to and from the main hotels of the city and to and from the piers belonging to several steamship lines. From a conference with the managers of several lines, I learned that contracts exist between these lines and the cab managers on the basis of which a definite tariff has been settled. In some instances this agreement is carefully followed, but in others, from my personal knowledge as well as from complaints frequently made, and from reports of investigations by a special investigator whom I secured, the charges are extremely flexible. An opinion of the Corporation Counsel has recently declared that according to the existing ordinances special cab owners are not entitled to charge more than the drivers of public cabs. As formerly under the ordinances a distinction was allowed, it is probable that the present situation was established without knowledge of the condition created. The opinion of the Corporation Counsel, I understand, is based on the fact that the former ordinance, superseded by more recent ordinances, does not control. Too much latitude is unquestionably allowed to special cabs in respect to charges, and privileges are granted to the owners of such cabs which have produced and will continue to produce friction so long as the present situation continues. In most large Continental cities all, or nearly all, of the cab service of hotels is supplied by regular cabs, or by arrangement with special cab owners to provide regularly licensed cabs at the regular rate. The special privileges granted to certain cab owners in this city in controlling the streets in front of hotels have not always produced satisfactory results. It would seem that all the benefits at present claimed for special cab service might be secured by giving each person taking a cab from a hotel a card with the number of the cab and the proper charge for the distance travelled. In case any complaint were to be made it could then be settled quite as easily as by complaint against a special cab.

5. In spite of the rapid growth in the population of the City and the increase in the number of cabs, no new public cab stands have been assigned for many years. Coasting is forbidden and cab drivers are not allowed to stop on the street corners of the more crowded streets. More stands are needed and some of the existing cab stands should be moved, owing to the crowding which has resulted from the increase of street traffic. Under the ordinance the Mayor has power, with the consent of individual Aldermen, to grant permission to one or two cab stands at the street corners, and such stands arranged on the side streets leading from the main avenues of Manhattan might be the means of supplying a need which has been too long withheld. If this is not satisfactory, then means should be taken to locate six or more stands between Fourteenth street and Fifty-ninth street.

6. More attention should be given to the investigation of credentials and qualifications of cab drivers and care should be taken by the Police that a driver whose license has once been revoked should not again enter the trade. The severest criticisms made against certain cab drivers have come from the drivers themselves, who deplore the injury done to their trade by the dishonesty which they believe characterizes only a minority of their number; and drivers whose honesty is beyond question have been the most urgent that means should be taken by the City authorities to weed out undesirable cabmen. "Night hawks" and others plying a similar trade should be rigorously pursued by the Police until the business becomes too dangerous to be attempted. It is probable, however, that such oversight can not be given until the cab service is transferred to the supervision of a special bureau.

7. Careful and thorough consideration should be given to the rates to be charged for cab service. I am of the opinion that if a satisfactory means could be found for determining the proper charge, such as the adoption by ordinance of a zone rate of charges or the use of the taximeter, so many more would use cabs that it would be profitable to cab drivers to demand a lower tariff per mile within certain distance from the City. It is contended by the drivers, however, and I think with justice, that an additional rate should be allowed for long distances into the remoter sections of the Greater New York.

8. From the statements which I have made I think it will appear that improvement in cab service is one of the transit problems of the City which needs far more careful and intelligent attention than it has yet received. In fact, the appointment by the Mayor of a special commission to thoroughly investigate the transit facilities in this Department and to recommend to the Mayor a carefully planned scheme for control of the cab service in the City would perhaps afford the most speedy improvement of existing conditions. The service at present is not a credit to the City—a condition not due to cab owners or cab drivers, but to the simple fact that the City administration has never yet given such attention to this division of its transit service as the public needs and public comfort demand.

Trucks and Express Wagons.

The oversight of trucks and express wagons by the Bureau has been maintained satisfactorily. Complaints received have been promptly investigated and every effort made to protect the rights of the public. The present distinction between the license fee charged for trucks and for express wagons should be abolished. Such a limitation is difficult to define, and it leads to the taking out of truck licenses by many who do an express business. There would seem to be no reason for the existence of this distinction, which is an obvious encouragement to evasion of the City ordinance.

Pawn Shops.

Our laws and ordinances relating to pawn shops are on the whole satisfactory. It has been necessary, however, to warn pawn-brokers against charges beyond the legal rate and against evasion of the law by certain of their number in making extra charges for special care when no such care is given, or adding a small sum not a part of the written contract made when a given article is pawned.

In the city of Boston all pawn-brokers are required to send each day to the Chief of Police a list of articles received in pawn during that day. Such list is forwarded to the detective bureau and enables the police to learn immediately of the purchase of any stolen article by any pawn-broker. A similar requirement in this City would undoubtedly be of service to the police and would further increase the difficulty of successfully disposing of stolen goods.

Police Supervision.

Upon assuming charge of the Bureau I found that its work of inspection was in charge of thirty Policemen, detailed for the service. There was no supervision of their work, and the unwise course had prevailed of placing particular Policemen in charge of different trades and of referring complaints regarding any particular trade to the Policeman assigned to supervise that trade. The work was not well done, and in some cases the supervision was so bad as to excite grave suspicion.

Upon assuming charge I applied to Commissioner Greene for three changes in the squad: 1. That a special squad, independent of any precinct, should be formed, in charge of a Sergeant and two Roundsmen. 2. That the squad should not, as formerly, be called upon for other service than that of the Bureau. 3. That a complete reorganization should be made, especially in the Borough of Manhattan.

The entire plan of reorganization was approved and put into effect immediately. The result was to give far better supervision than formerly. Persons formerly unlicensed came to the Bureau in large numbers, and the further oversight of the various trades ceased to be a force and became a constant stimulant to compliance with the law.

The appended report of the receipts of the Bureau for the first eight months of 1903, compared with the receipts for a similar period in 1901 and 1902, show a notable increase in the current year. This result is largely due to the better work done by the Police Squad under its present efficient management.

The Bureau of Marshals.

The Bureau of City Marshals is composed of the Marshals appointed for various terms in all of the five boroughs. The Marshals are authorized to serve papers which issue from the municipal courts, and are, by law, attached to the courts in the districts in which they severally reside. They are, therefore, in a sense court officers, though appointed by the Mayor.

Some Judges have regarded the Marshals of their courts as under their jurisdiction and have exercised a most salutary influence in scrutinizing their conduct in relation to processes issued from such courts; but the majority of the Justices appear to be indifferent to the conduct of the Marshals and the manner in which their duties are performed. In a few of the courts the Justices are so far indifferent to their relation to the Marshals that they permit persons not Marshals to receive and serve papers which should be served only by a regularly appointed and duly bonded Marshal. As a consequence of this indifference on the part of Judges and Clerks complaints made to your Honor of the conduct of alleged Marshals frequently revealed the fact that the parties complained of were not Marshals, and therefore not responsible, except as they could be reached by a suit for damages in the civil courts or by the even more difficult path of criminal prosecution. No such alleged Marshals could obtain papers without the knowledge of the Clerk of the Court from which the papers issued, as the Judges of the municipal courts have been promptly notified of all appointments of Marshals made by your Honor.

It is to be regretted that Judges are not more particular in giving instructions to their Clerks to issue papers only to those known by them to be legally appointed Marshals; but it is the fact that many ex-Marshals are still doing business, including some that have been removed from office by different Mayors. I am also informed that certain ex-Marshals are still allowed desk room in certain courts in Manhattan.

Careful sifting of complaints against Marshals, frequent conferences with Marshals and with others having detailed knowledge of the duties of their office, have convinced me that important changes are needed in the existing law. I would therefore offer the following suggestions for the betterment of this important branch of the public service. (1) The fee system should be abolished and the Marshals should receive a regular salary. Experience in many departments of the public service has revealed the defects and temptations of the fee system, and its removal has always resulted beneficially. This is especially noticeable in the Sheriff's office, where the work of the Sheriff's deputies is similar to that of the City Marshals. The fee system in that office was found unsatisfactory for the same reasons that now indicate its unsatisfactoriness in the Marshal's service.

I would recommend that the salary be fixed at $2,500 if the Marshal's legal responsibilities remain as at present, since in that event he is inevitably involved annually in more or less expensive litigation. (2) It should follow from the establishment of the marshalship as a salaried office that the entire body would be organized into a bureau under the supervision of a chief, who would assign work to each Marshal, receive regular reports regarding their work, receive and investigate complaints as to conduct of the Marshals and otherwise promote the efficiency and integrity of the service. (3) I would urge that the law regarding the Marshals be so modified that service should be during good behavior and not for a term of years as at present, and that in future appointments be made on the basis of a written competitive examination. Such action would improve the service and remove it from the field of politics where it has suffered in the past. (4) The functions of Marshal should be extended to include the service of summonses in dispossess proceedings and in other cases where irresponsible parties are, under a recent modification of the law, allowed to serve summonses. As the Marshals are bonded and can be held responsible for their acts they are as a rule more trustworthy than office clerks acting in the interest of their employers. (5) The Clerks of the Municipal Courts should be expressly forbidden to issue papers to others than those known by them to be City Marshals, and should be held liable for issuing papers to any other parties. Such action would remove the existing scandals resulting from the issuance of papers to various individuals, who falsely represent themselves to strangers as Marshals and are guilty of irregularities which no bonded Marshal would venture to commit.

The adoption of these proposed changes in the law would immensely improve a department of the public service heretofore largely discredited, but which vitally affects the welfare of thousands in this community. In proceedings to dispossess tenants or levy on a poor man's small holdings it is especially necessary that justice be tempered with kindness and firmness exercised with intelligence. That such consideration may animate City Marshals it is required that their own selfish interests shall not be involved, and that their only obligation shall be the fulfillment of their duty as public officials.

PROPOSALS FOR BIDS AND ESTIMATES FOR THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS. The person or persons making a bid or estimate for any services, work, materials or supplies for The City of New York, or for any of its departments, bureaus or offices, shall furnish the same in a sealed envelope, indorsed with the title of the supplies, materials, work or services for which the bid or estimate is made, with his or their name or names and the date of presentation to the President or Board or to the head of the Department at his or its office, on or before the date and hour named in the advertisement for the same, at which time and place the estimates received will be publicly opened by the President or Board or head of said Department and read, and the award of the contract made according to law as soon thereafter as practicable.

Each bid or estimate shall contain the name and place of residence of the person making the same, the names of all persons interested with him therein, and, if no other person be so interested, it shall distinctly state that fact; also, that it is made without any connection with any other person making an estimate for the same purpose, and is in all respects fair and without collusion or fraud, and that no member of the Board of Aldermen, head of a department, chief of a bureau, deputy thereof, or clerk therein, or other officer of The City of New York is, shall be or become interested, directly or indirectly, as contracting party, partner, stockholder, surety or otherwise in or in the performance of the contract, or in the supplies, work or business to which it relates, or in any portion of the profits thereof. The bid or estimate must be verified by the oath, in writing, of the party or parties making the estimate that the several matters stated herein are in all respects true.

Each bid or estimate shall be accompanied by the consent, in writing, of two householders or freeholders in The City of New York, or of a guaranty or surety company duly authorized by law to act as surety, and shall contain the matters set forth in the blank forms mentioned below. No bid or estimate will be considered unless, as a condition precedent to the reception or consideration of any proposal, it be accompanied by a certified check upon one of the State or National banks of The City of New York, drawn to the order of the Comptroller, or money to the amount of five per centum of the amount of the bond required, as provided in section 420 of the Greater New York Charter.

The certified check or money should not be inclosed in the envelope containing the bid or estimate, but should be either inclosed in a separate envelope addressed to the head of the Department, President or Board, or submitted personally upon the presentation of the bid or estimate.

For particulars as to the quantity and quality of the supplies, or the nature and extent of the work, reference must be made to the specifications, schedules, plans, etc., on file in the said office of the President, Board or Department.

No bid shall be accepted from or contract awarded to any person who is in arrears to The City of New York upon debt or contract, or who is a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon any obligation to the City.

The contract must be bid for separately.

The right is reserved in each case to reject all bids or estimates if it is deemed to be for the interest of the City so to do.

Bidders will write out the amount of their bids or estimates in addition to inserting the same in figures.

Bidders are requested to make their bids or estimates upon the blank forms prepared and furnished by the City, a copy of which, with the proper envelope in which to inclose the bid, together with a copy of the contract, including the specifications, in the form approved by the Corporation Counsel, can be obtained upon application therefor at the office of the Department for which the work is to be done. Plans and drawings of construction work may also be seen there.
