AQUEDUCT COMMISSION.

Minutes of Stated Meeting of the Aqueduct Commissioners, held at their Office, No. 207 Stewart Building, on Tuesday, February 4, 1902, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Present—The Comptroller (Hon. Edward M. Grout), Commissioners Ten Eyck (President), Ryan, Power and Windolph.

The Committee on Finance and Audit reported the examination and audit of bills contained in Vouchers Nos. 14401 to 14413 inclusive, amounting to $2,617.51, and of estimates contained in Vouchers Nos. 14414 to 14416 inclusive, amounting to $31,947.73.

Which were approved and ordered certified to the Comptroller for payment by the following vote:

Affirmative—The Comptroller, Commissioners Ten Eyck, Ryan, Power and Windolph—5.

The following communication was received from the Chief Engineer, being in reply to the following communication of Mr. J. James R. Croes:

Report No. 330.

New York, February 3, 1902.

To the Honorable the Aqueduct Commissioners:

Gentlemen—In compliance with a resolution adopted January 28, 1902, I herewith report upon a communication addressed to you by J. James R. Croes, C. E., dated January 23, 1902, relating to the Jerome Park Reservoir.

The communication states that "Security against leakage of water out of a reservoir located as this one is must be afforded by the lining of the bottom and banks. Any water which may penetrate this lining and pass into the rock-water basin below it cannot be prevented from filtering out into the surrounding ground by any system of walls or other barriers founded on the seamy, water-bearing rotten rock which constitutes the bottom of the basin."

In the above it is stated that any water which may penetrate the lining cannot be prevented from reaching the surrounding ground by a wall founded upon seamy, rotten rock; in this opinion Mr. Croes agrees with what I have already maintained—that the wall should be built upon a solid rock foundation. If, in the progress of the work, the upper surface to the rock is found to be seamy, or rotten, it should be excavated to a firm foundation of "solid gneiss rock," the existence of which is noted upon a diagram accompanying the report of the Board of Engineers.

The sentence "Security against leakage of water out of a reservoir located as this one is" seems to imply that Mr. Croes is of the opinion that the outer wall and embankment of this particular reservoir cannot be made water-tight, and that the lining must be depended upon to prevent leakage; and yet he states that "the difficulty lies in making the bottom water-tight, placed as it is on a bed of saturated sand with a water-bearing, saturated rock bottom." In this he admits what I have always asserted—that there will be great difficulty in making the bottom water-tight.

Relative to the other engineering questions raised by Mr. Croes, I would state that they have been reviewed in previous reports upon this subject.

Yours respectfully,

W. R. HILL, Chief Engineer.

Relating to Jerome Park Reservoir.

Morris Building, No. 68 Broad Street.

New York City, January 23, 1902.

To the Honorable the Aqueduct Commissioners, New York City:

Gentlemen—In transmitting to me, on December 24, 1901, copies of a report of W. R. Hill, C. E., dated December 4, 1901, and a report of Edwin F. Smith, C. E., dated December 21, 1901, which had been called for by you, both relating to the report upon the conditions existing at Jerome Park Reservoir, which was submitted to you on November 18, 1901, by J. J. R. Croes, Edwin F. Smith and Elvathan Sweet, the Board of Engineers appointed by you under your resolution of June 21, 1901, your Chief Engineer, Mr. William R. Hill, gave me no intimation that any further communication from me was desired or invited by you, and consequently I merely acknowledge the receipt of the documents he forwarded.

I have, however, just been informed by Mr. Elvathan Sweet, C. E., that he has sent to you, in reply to a similar communication made to him by Mr. Hill, a statement commenting on certain criticisms of portions of our joint report of November 18, which are made by Mr. Hill and Mr. Smith in their later reports to you.

It appears under these circumstances that it is incumbent on me to submit to you my own views on the matters treated in these reports, that I may not be left in the position of appearing even to assent by silence to representations which display a serious misapprehension of facts and principles.

While expressing his entire concurrence with the findings of the Board of Engineers, of which he was a member, as to the unquestionable stability of the embankment built with a core wall in its centre, on the south and east sides of the reservoir, Mr. Smith fears that at some future time the constructors of buildings with deep foundations on the opposite side of Jerome avenue and Kingsbridge road may attribute the presence of water in their excavations to leaks from the reservoir.

As a matter of fact, there is no point on the line of the further side of these avenues where the rock bottom is lower than the present ground-water level, except for about four hundred feet along the Kingsbridge road at the south end of the reservoir. All along the east side of Jerome avenue the rock is about ten feet higher than the ground-water level, except at One Hundred and Ninety-eighth street, where there is a narrow depression in the ridge, rock being found at the elevation of the water table at 180 feet from the core wall and falling off rapidly towards the east. This is the point alluded to by Mr. Hill when he says that no rock was found at the elevation 106, which is 5 feet lower than the water level. He omits to state that this point was 210 feet from the wall and that 30 feet nearer the wall two borings 45 feet apart showed rock at elevation 116 and 117. The possibility of water leaking from the reservoir being encountered on the opposite avenue frontage is limited to a strip on the south side of Kingsbridge road, where there is a depression in the rock barrier triangular in form, about four hundred feet wide at top and forty feet deep in the centre. There will always be water there, whether the reservoir is made water-tight or not. The object sought in building the reservoir bank across the valley 150 feet north of this depression is to prevent the passage of any more water through this gap than has been flowing there from time immemorial.

The existing conditions are clearly not appreciated by either Mr. Smith or Mr. Hill. A study of the topography, the geology and the general conditions existing in this locality, shows that there is here a long and narrow depression, about an eighth of a mile wide, between two ridges of gneiss rock which has been subjected to glacial action at some remote period. The bottom of this valley is somewhat irregular but along its centre line is at a pretty uniform elevation of 75 feet above tide level.

For a depth of about thirty-six to forty feet it is overlaid with fine sand and gravel, the product of glacial action, with a very small proportion of any clayey matter. Over this there are deposits of ordinary glacial drift, compact, containing many boulders and not easily permeable by water. This bed of sand, overlying beds of disintegrated and rotten gneiss rock, full of seams and crevices, is saturated by water which must be supplied from some far distant source or greater elevation, for it rises through the fine porous sand to an elevation of about one hundred and twelve feet above tide level and stands there. The supply is very limited in quantity, for its surface level is very uniform, having a slight slope to the north and to the south from the summit at or near the Kingsbridge road, the excess of supply passing off at a slow velocity, by percolation where it encounters a pervious material or over the surface, where a depression furnishes it an outlet. To the southward it comes to the surface or over the surface about a thousand feet away and to the northward it appears on the surface at the swampy spots designated on Mr. Smith's latest map. From time immemorial these swampy spots have been drained off to the southward by ditches crossing the Kingsbridge road and through vacant lots. The ordinary flow of water in these ditches has always been very small.

Now it is proposed to create in this valley a reservoir 25 feet deep, with its bottom at an elevation about four feet lower than the level of the ground water. Its surface will in general be a little above the level of the ground surrounding it, but in a few instances will be from twelve to fifteen feet above it. With the material obtainable in the vicinity, it is an easy task to construct water-tight earthen embankments around the reservoir, above the surface of the ground. The difficulty lies in making the bottom water-tight, placed as it is, on a bed of saturated sand with a water-bearing, saturated rotten rock bottom.

The plan adopted by the Aqueduct Commission and now in course of construction under the contract entered into in 1895, is to make a water-tight basin or ditch of concrete, the bottom flat and the sides sloping, set on the sand bottom which is carefully prepared for its reception and on the surrounding carefully-built earth embankment.

The clauses of this contract which relate to the mode of construction of this basin and which have been collated by Mr. Smith in his last report to you, for convenient reference, show clearly that the principal feature of the plan is the securing of a water-tight lining over the whole interior surface.

The plan now proposed by your Chief Engineer, Mr. Hill, is to surround the valley with a heavy wall of masonry built up from the rock bottom of the valley and backed above the present surface of the ground with a bank of earth dumped in. This has been done at some points on the north and west sides of the reservoir.

The mode of construction is not applicable to the south end of the reservoir, now under consideration. First: Because the leakage cannot be prevented by building a masonry wall on the seamy and rotten rock composing the bottom of the valley, which would permit the passage of the confined water through the seams and crevices of the rock under the wall, where water has always had a passage; and secondly: On account of the enormous expense attending the construction of such a wall without any corresponding advantages.

Around the south end of the reservoir there is now in the bank a masonry wall which is built up from the bed-rock for 1,650 feet of its length, and for 1,200 feet in all, is founded on sand, 10 feet below the bottom of the reservoir. I do not understand the object of this core wall to be to prevent all leakage from the reservoir. As is stated in our report on the New Croton Dam, core walls in embankments are generally not entirely waterproof. They are intended as a safeguard against muskrats boring through the bank and against the "free passage of water." These objects are fully accomplished by a wall such as here exists, carried down 10 feet below the bottom of the reservoir and 20 feet or more below the surface of the ground outside of the embankment.

Security against leakage of water out of a reservoir located as this one is must be afforded by the lining of the bottom and banks. Any water which may penetrate this lining and pass into the rock-water basin below it cannot be prevented from filtering out into the surrounding ground by any system of walls or other barriers founded on the seamy, water-bearing rotten rock which constitutes the bottom of the basin.

The plans and specifications for this work fully provide for making the lining water-tight, as is clearly shown by the convenient collation of the several clauses relating to this subject made by Mr. Smith. The only criticism he finds to make is that the contract does not provide for paying the contractor an extra price for preparing the bottom and bank for receiving the lining. His comment that this is not in accord with the best engineering practice, is entirely irrelevant to the questions now at issue and is moreover incorrect. Conditions vary as to the best form of contract in different circumstances, and it is rather late now to say that a provision inserted in the contract of 1895, with the approval of such men as General Duane, George Walton Green and John J. Tucker, on the advice of Mr. Alphonse Pteley, and discussed, understood and accepted by the eighteen firms of contractors which bid upon the contract, was injudicious or bad practice. At all events it is a part of the contract and has all the force of a Legislative enactment. To enforce compliance with the contract requirements is the duty of the engineer, and Mr. Smith's report to you merely emphasizes what has been recognized from the beginning of the work, that the material needed for the purpose is to be found on the ground, but not in superabundance, and that intelligence and care must be exercised in its selection and preparation.

The proposition to place at the junction of the bottom and sides a footing wall was carefully considered by the Board of Engineers and was rejected as needless. In the form now presented to you by Mr. Smith it is peculiarly objectionable, as leaving the dimensions and depth of such a wall entirely to the discretion of the engineer in charge of the work, who has already committed himself to the opinion that such a wall must be extended down to rock bottom, in direct opposition to the judgment of the Board of Engineers, unanimously agreed upon.

In this matter Mr. Hill's opinion seems to be based, to a great degree, on his misconception of the nature of the material underlying the reservoir, which he terms "quicksand."

This material is a very fine-grained sharp sand containing little or no clay, and saturated with the water which issues from the underlying rock.

Such material as this will boil up and be "quick" on the surface when exposed to a stream of water entering it from below, as in the case of a pit or trench sunk in it with the sides protected by sheet piling. It will not flow for any distance when its surface is allowed to take its natural slope. The water will drain out of it, and it will maintain its position with an outer slope of generally not more than one and a half to one. It is not compressible and when subjected to a heavy load will not displace the adjacent material either laterally or vertically. It has sustained for four years the weight of the core walls built upon it 35 feet high, without any appreciable settlement. It is moreover confined by the rock below, the solid earth which overlies it and the hundreds of feet of similar material extending up and down the valley.

It was the unanimous judgment of the Board of Engineers, based upon a careful examination of the material itself and the water which was used in bringing it to the surface, that it is not a dangerous material on which to found a wall or an embankment and that its stability would not be affected by an excavation in or beyond the adjacent avenues.

A dangerous quicksand under a foundation is one in which the particles of sand are rounded and are mingled with particles of clay in such proportion that the mass is plastic, will be displaced laterally by pressure and will flow in mass when saturated. Such material is not found under Jerome Park Reservoir at the south end.

I see no reason to alter or modify in any way the conclusions expressed in our report of November 18, that this reservoir will be stable, and practically, if not absolutely water-tight, if constructed as therein recommended, provided that the construction is supervised by an engineer who will be possessed of sufficient intelligence and firmness to see that the contract requirements are strictly carried out and the specifications complied with, whether such compliance entails on the contractor an expense greater or less than the compensation to which he is entitled under his contract.

Respectfully submitted, J. JAMES R. CROES, Civil Engineer.

The following communication was received from the Law Department:

New York, February 11, 1902.

Hon. WILLIAM H. TEN EYCK, President, Board of Aqueduct Commissioners:

Sir—I have received a communication from your secretary, dated January 31, 1902, inclosing requests of Jane M. Page and others for the removal of bodies interred in certain cemeteries, title to which was acquired by The City of New York.

My opinion is requested as to their validity and the power of the Aqueduct Commissioners relative thereto.

I have conferred with Mr. H. T. Dykman in regard to this matter and have received his communication dated February 5, 1902.

Under the decision of the Supreme Court, in what is known as the Cornell Dam, Seventh Supplemental Proceeding, Judge Barnard rendering the opinion, it is the duty of the city to remove the remains of the dead from a cemetery, title to which has been acquired in fee by the city.

The title to the Katonah Cemetery was acquired by the city in fee under the provisions of chapter 490 of the Laws of 1883, and the burden of removing the bodies is placed on the Aqueduct Commission, who have power to do the work under the provisions of the said act.

Yours respectfully,

G. L. RIVES, Corporation Counsel.

(Inclosures, 6 requests.)

Which was referred to the Chief Engineer for report.

A communication was received from Robertson & Barrett, attorneys for Lewis E. Ferris, dated February 11, 1902, accompanied by a claim of said Lewis E. Ferris against Williams & Gerstle, contractors for building the Muscoot Dam, amounting to $107.

Which was ordered filed.

A communication was received from Oscar Miersch, of Purdy's, N. Y., dated February 15, 1902, asking permission to occupy the property known as Parcel No. 491 in Purdy's, N. Y., until about May 1, 1902.

Which was referred to the Chief Engineer for report.

By Commissioner Power—

Resolved, That the President and Secretary be and they are hereby authorized and directed to indorse checks that may be received from time to time by the Aqueduct Commissioners, and transmit the same to the City Chamberlain for the credit of the "Additional Water Fund."

Which was adopted.

The Chief Engineer stated that he had transmitted the following letter to H. T. Dykman, and had received the following reply thereto:

New York, January 31, 1902.

Harry T. Dykman, Esq., White Plains, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Relating to the M. E. Church Cemetery, Parcel No. 105, near Pines Bridge, will you please advise me what disposition is to be made of the bodies and how soon we can take possession of the cemetery to construct Road No. 18, which is to pass through it?

Yours very truly,

W. R. HILL, Chief Engineer.

Eighth Cornell Dam.

White Plains, N. Y., February 8, 1902.

WILLIAM R. HILL, Esq., Chief Engineer:

Dear Sir—Referring to your letter under date of January 31 in relation to the cemetery Parcel No. 105, near Pines Ridge, I would advise you that the case has not as yet been tried. The question of the disposition of the bodies in the various cemeteries is now before the Law Department, and I would suggest that you write direct to the Corporation Counsel in regard to this matter.

Yours truly,

H. T. DYKMAN.

Which were laid over.

Report No. 331, dated February 14, 1902, was received from the Chief Engineer, being in reply to the "Bacon Air Lift Company's answer to objections to adopting Bacon Air Lift System for pumping out Shaft No. 25 of the New Croton Aqueduct," which was referred to the Chief Engineer at the previous meeting.

Which was laid over.

Report No. 332, dated February 17, 1902, was also received from the Chief Engineer, relative to the communication received by the Commissioners from the R. G. Packard Company, dated February 8, 1902, relating to the bid and plans submitted by them on December 17, 1901, for building a pumping plant in the engine room and Shaft No. 25 of the New Croton Aqueduct, which was referred to the Chief Engineer at the previous meeting.

Which was laid over.

A communication, dated February 15, 1902, was received from Messrs. Ward, Hayden & Satterlee, attorneys for the Bacon Air Lift Company, one of the bidders for building a pumping plant in the engine room and Shaft No. 25 of the New Croton Aqueduct, suggesting that a written opinion as to the respective merits of the Harris System and the Bacon Air Lift System be obtained from the Department of Water Supply.

Which was ordered filed.

The Commissioners then had under consideration Report No. 322 of the Chief Engineer, dated January 20, 1902, wherein he certifies that the work of building the Muscoot Dam by Messrs. Williams & Gerstle, contractors, is unnecessarily and unreasonably delayed; the consideration of which was set down for to-day.
