Q. At the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock, were you in such a place that you would have seen him if he had been there? A. Yes, sir, with a bright lantern on the dump and about the gate-house; he made no report to anybody.

Mr. Scriver—Mr. Commissioners, I am not able to pay counsel to represent me here, and I

By Mr. Scriver:

Q. Did Mr. Dynan get out of the buggy with you? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And walk with you to the gate-house? A. Walked with me to the gate-house; both together.

Q. Did you have a lantern with you to take the measurement? A. Yes, sir; a very bright

One.

Q. Did you lower the lantern in the tunnel in the gate-house? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Could you have recognized any one going from the office to the dump?
Mr. Scott—That is not important.
A. I could have told if any one had passed between the gate-house and the office.
Q. Is there any way a person could possibly go from the gate-house without your seeing him from your point of observation? A. Certainly not with a lantern anyway, and I don't think without a lantern.

Lipink not without a lantern. out a lantern—I think not without a lantern.

Q. Did you ever do any surveying for the Rand Drill Company?

Commissioner Howe—What is the object of that inquiry?

Mr. Scriver—What I want to show 15, that while there is an object of the company?

Mr. Scriver—What I want to show is, that while there is an object to get hold of the least chance in an Inspector who is an old veteran, that such things in a higher official is not noticed.

Commissioner Scott—That is not relevant here.

Q. Did you see a light in the office, Mr. Kelly? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you go into the office to see if the Inspector was there? A. No.

Q. Did you look into the office? A. No.

Q. In your orders to Inspector Scriver, July 14, didn't you instruct him to remain in the vicinity of the gate-house or in the office, and have a light burning in the office—why didn't you go in the office and see if the Inspector was there or not? A. I had no reason to go.

Q. You didn't want to see if he was there? A. I did not.

he was at his duty or not.

Q. Is this the first charge you have found against Mr. Scriver? A. I think it is; I don't think, personally, I have ever made any charge myself.
Q. Have you ever found any reason to make a charge? A. No.
Mr. Scriver—Now, Mr. Commissioners, here is my affidavit which I wish to submit to you.
Affidavit filed.

Q. What did you do then? A. Sat down in the buggy and looked towards the office, and saw a light burning there, and we waited there until 2 o'clock, expecting to see the door open and somebody come out.

Q. Nobody came? A. No, sir; then we got out of the buggy and went up to the gate-house, and Mr. Kelly took the measurement in the lower and upper side of the gate-house, and he told me that the measurement on the lower side was three feet two inches, and on the upper side four feet.

Q. Was it a sufficiently clear night for you to have seen any one who went from the office to the

Q. Was it a sufficiently clear night for you to have seen any one who went from the office to the gate-house? A. If anybody opened the door we could see the light flash out; it would be impossible for anybody to walk from that office to the gate-house without my knowing it.

Q. The door was not opened? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you look into the office? A. I wasn't near enough to see inside of it clear.

Commissioner Tucker

By Commissioner Tucker:

Q. You remained in the wagon? A. No, sir; I got out of the wagon and went down to the gate-house to hold the lantern.

By Commissioner Scott:

Q. Do you know Mr. Scriver? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Didn't see him? A. No, sir.

A. From the time you arrived there, twenty minutes to two, until you left, no one showed up during that time? A. No one.

Q. Do you know where Mr. Scriver was? No, sir.

Mr. Scriver—Mr. Commissioners, there is my affidavit, together with various letters I have received concerning my duty at the gate-house.

Commissioner Scott reads from papers, "This is to certify that Henry Scriver left with me, on the morning of the 16th inst., his watch to be repaired—charge to be $1." You haven't this man here?

Mr. Scriver—No, sir.

Commissioner Scott (reading from papers in regard to working fourteen and fifteen hours a day)

—what has that got to do with this charge?

Mr. Scriver—Only to show that I am overworked; they sometimes make us work fourteen and fifteen hours daily at a time.

Br. Commissioner Scott.

By Commissioner Scott:

Q. Now, Mr. Scriver, what have you to say—did you go to the gate-house and take the measurements?

A. As near as I could on that night by burning candles?

Q. There is a space of nearly two hours that you did not show up at the gate-house at all?

A.

Q. There is a space of I couldn't do it any closer. By Commissioner Tucker:

Q. You mean you used candles as your time? A. Yes, sir; that is the only way I could gauge it—the only way I could gauge the time; in the tunnel we used to gauge the time by burning

By Commissioner Scott:
Q. You made your report in the morning just the same as if you had had the time? A. Yes, sir; just as if I had the time.

Q. You didn't make any report at the time about your having lost your watch? A. No, sir; because I didn't think it was necessary; I was in a hurry to get home that morning; I was delayed that morning; I had been away so long my wife was up at the office; she thought something had happened to me, and I hurried off home to allay her suspicions.

Q. How many observations did you make that night? A. From the first?

Q. How many did you take that night while on duty? A. Fourteen, I think—it is from six to severe thisteen.

to seven-thirteen.

Q. Then you took thirteen? A. Yes, sir; I took thirteen measurements.
Q. You must have got some of them pretty close together, if you got these so far apart? A. It didn't seem so to me; the last one I took it was not daybreak yet, and daybreak was a little after half-past three then.

Q. The last one you took was just before daybreak? A. No, sir; the last one was at seven o'clock; I mean the last one before daybreak; here is the book I kept the time in (hands book to Mr. Scott); this shows that I have done everything right that night.

Q. Well, it is quite evident that you didn't do everything right? A. As near as I could do it.

Q. Any more evidence or witnesses? A. No, sir; my other witnesses are not here.

By Commissioner Tucker:

Q. Were there any others there with you that night that you wish to call as witnesses?

Q. Were there any others there with you that night that you wish to call as witnesses? A. No, sir; I was there alone—not even a dog to speak for me.

Q. You said-you had other witnesses; what did you want to prove? A. I wanted to prove the long hours—fourteen or fifteen hours at a time we have to work.

By Commissioner Howe:

Q. How often are men on duty at one time for fourteen and fifteen hours? A. I will show you my data (hands Commissioner book). By Commissioner Scott:

Q. This is not hard work? A. No, sir; it is not hard work, with rest, but if you are boarding you can't get meals at night, and you can't get away to get it at noon-time, and you have to go without or get something cold and a dry lunch.

Q. These are ordinary watchmen's hours? A. I don't know, sir; I have never been a watchman; then you can't make your arrangements for meals at all hours when you are boarding. Commissioner Scott-Let the testimony be reduced to writing and referred to the Committee on Construction.

Resolved, That the following minute relative to the death of Commissioner Walter Howe be adopted by the Commission and spread upon the minutes, and that an engrossed copy duly certified by the President be sent to the family of Commissioner Howe:

Since the last meeting of this Commission the relentless hand of death has fallen on our colleague and friend. Walter Howe. He was taken away suddenly, in the prime of manhood, and in the enjoyment of full bodily and mental health and vigor.

The members of this Commission have had ample opportunity to learn and appreciate his many sterling qualities. Of studious habit and with well-trained powers of reasoning, he was quick to grasp and master the many difficult and involved questions upon which he has been called upon to decide, and he has at the same time ever displayed a patient industry in the examination of the most minute detail connected with the work of the Commission. He was deliberate and conservative in counsel, but prompt and decided in action. Firm and unyielding in following any course that his judgment and conscience approved as right, he was always considerate of the rights, and even of the feelings, of those with whom he was brought into contact.

In the performance of his duties as a member of this Commission, as in every other relation of a busy and useful life, the character of our late associate was marked by a steadfastness of purpose, a purity of motive, an instinctive integrity and a clearness of intellectual vision.

His future was as full of promise as his past had been of performance, and we look upon his death as a public calamity, as well as our own personal loss.

All the material excavated is to be removed by the contractor and deposited in all respects according to law, and any material dredged and not so deposited, shall not be paid for.

Bidders will state in their estimates a price for the whole of the work to be done, in conformity with the approved form of agreement and the specifications therein set forth, by which price the bids will be tested. This price is to cover all expenses of every kind involved in or incidental to the fulfillment of the contract, including any claim that may arise through delay, from any cause, in the performing of the work thereunder. The award of the contract, if awarded, will be made to the bidder who is the lowest for doing the whole of the work comprised, and whose estimate is regular in all respects.

Bidders will distinctly write out, both in words and in figures, the amount of their estimates for doing the work.

The person or persons to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to attend at this office with the sureties offered by him or them, and execute the contract within five days from the date of the service of a notice to that effect; and in case of failure or neglect so to do, he or they will be considered as having abandoned it, and as in default to the Corporation; and the contract will be readvertised and relet, and so on until it be accepted and executed.

Bidders are required to state in their estimates their names and places of residence; the names of all persons interested with them therein; and if no other person be so interested, the estimate shall distinctly state the fact; also, that the estimate is made without any connection with any other person making an estimate for the same work, and that it is in all respects fair, and without collusion or fraud; and also, that no member of the Common Council, head of a department, chief of a bureau, deputy thereof, or clerk therein, or other officer of the Corporation, is directly or indirectly interested therein, or in the supplies or work to which it relates, or in any portion of the profits thereof; which estimate must be verified by the oath, in writing, of the party making the estimate, that the several matters stated therein are in all respects true. Where more than one person is interested, it is requisite that the verification be made and subscribed to by all the parties interested.

Each estimate shall be accompanied by the consent, in writing, of two householders or freeholders in the City of New York, with their respective places of business or residence, to the effect that if the contract be awarded to the person or persons making the estimate, they will, on its being so awarded, become bound as his or their sureties for its faithful performance; and that if said person or persons shall omit or refuse to execute the contract, they will pay to the Corporation of the City of New York any difference between the sum to which said person or persons would be entitled upon its completion and that which said Corporation may be obliged to pay to the person to whom the contract may be awarded at any subsequent letting; the amount in each case to be calculated upon the estimated amount of the work to be done by which the bids are tested. The consent above mentioned shall be accompanied by the oath or affirmation, in writing, of each of the persons signing the same, that he is a householder or freeholder in the City of New York, and is worth the amount of the security required for the completion of the contract, over and above his liabilities as bail, surely and otherwise; and that he has offered himself as surety in good faith and with the intention to execute the bond required by law. The adequacy and sufficiency of the security offered will be subject to approval by the Comptroller of the City of New York after the award is made and prior to the signing of the contract.

No estimate will be received or considered unless accompanied by either a certified check upon one of the State or National Banks of the City of New York, drawn to the order of the Comptroller, or money, to the amount of five per centum of the amount of security required for the faithful performance of the contract. Such check or money must not be incl

Bidders are informed that no deviation from the specifications will be allowed, unless under the written instructions of the Engineer-in-Chief.

No estimate will be accepted from or contract awarded to any person who is in arrears to the Corporation, upon debt or contract, or who is a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon any obligation to the Corporation.

The right to decline all the estimates is reserved, it deemed for the interest of the Corporation of the City of New York.

Bidders are requested, in making their bids or estimates, to use the blank prepared for that purpose by the Department, a copy of which, together with the form of the agreement, including specifications, and showing the manner of payment for the work, can be obtained upon application therefor at the office of the Department.
