CORRECTION: NEW CAPABILITY PROJECT / DIGITAL EXPERIENCE PLATFORM - Request for Qualifications -PIN# 23-000XXRJT - Due 11-18-22 at 2:00 P.M.

The New York City School Construction Authority ("SCA"), has approximately 1300 staff, and 3,000 + external partners accessing our systems. The SCA is seeking a qualified developer/ designer ("Consultant"), to redesign the SCA's existing Digital Experience Platform (https://www.nycsca.org). The Digital Experience Platform must be designed and organized in a manner that follows modern web standards in design, security, ADA WCAG 2.0 AA, and functionality with a focus on providing information and services to the SCA's client users. The Digital Experience Platform must also have a user-friendly backend that can be easily operated by employees with non-technical backgrounds. The SCA aims to implement best practices and technologies, revise the information architecture, and improve content strategy and visual design.

This RFQEI seeks responses from consultants and associated products which would serve the needs of the SCA. We believe that there are many consultants that can satisfy our needs in regard to a platform. The ideal respondent has a proven track record on creating Business to Business and Government to Consultant websites.

The Consultant must have experience creating client-driven information architecture and graphic design that facilitates the SCA's engagement with its audience. The SCA website should be designed to meet the needs of companies seeking to do business with the SCA, vendors currently engaged with SCA contracts, and the general public. The Consultant must provide all labor, equipment, and expertise to efficiently review, evaluate, and produce multiple website designs for evaluation. The Consultant must have experience designing and/or redesigning websites, with special consideration for Consultants who have done so for public organizations or construction related firms.

The SCA also requires self-service portals for external users such as design firms, contractors, and the general public. The Consultant will guide the SCA through a needs/requirements analysis to identify and evaluate all possible design options and elements. Functional elements of the Digital Experience Platform must include:

- 1. Promotion of communication tools such as web posts, event calendars, and links to SCA social media (Twitter, Instagram, YouTube etc...) through robust integration.
- 2. Analytics integration that provides information on traffic analysis reporting capabilities and available metrics for user/system response times such as number of visitors, page views, and frequently visited pages
- 3. Security features to prevent website hacking or defacement
- 4. Third party integration

Other features that the Digital Experience Platform may require are listed in the Appendix at the end of the document.

Below are examples of the types of interactions customers currently have with our website. It is not comprehensive, and Consultants should explain how they would expand upon the user stories below to ensure our website serves all of our potential customers.

1. A design consultant, Construction Company, or other vendor is interested in potentially working with the SCA. The website should explain how to work with us, how to get prequalified, how to bid on our work, and what the benefits are to working with us.

- 2. A vendor has been awarded a contract and wants to know about the specifications and requirements to working with us and how to get paid.
- 3. A member of the public or elected official is interested in finding out about the work going on in their school district.
- 4. A member of the public is interested in becoming an SCA employee.
- 5. A member of the Minority-Owned Business, Women-Owned Business, or Locally Based Enterprise community wants to find out the benefits of being certified by the SCA and what special programs we run for them. The SCA has a variety of bespoke systems and COTS applications that will need to integrate with this solution. MS Active Directory integration - is our user access management tool, Vendor Access System, and APIs.

Submission: Please provide a written proposal with the following sections:

- 1. A letter of your interest in working with the School Construction Authority to provide a solution.
- 2. The firm's contact information
- 3. Please fill out the embedded spreadsheet with your answers to the queries.
- 4. All services, functions, and features the firm offers related to website design/redesign.
- 5. The firm's qualifications for the project including key personnel
- 6. A summary of firm's recent experience with similar projects including timeline, payment method (hourly rates, lump sum, etc.) and total cost
- 7. Examples of existing designs/redesigns e.g., web links, before and after shots, etc.
- 8. If awarded, please explain how this project will be integrated into the firm's present workload
- 9. Describe a government client engagement if any
- 10. Describe your experience partnering with Minority Owned, Women Owned or local New York City enterprises to deliver your product or services.
- 11. Described how your product and services are licensed

The SCA is implementing a two-step procurement process. Our initial step is asking prospective consultants to demonstrate certain qualifications in response to this RFQEI. Thereafter the SCA will evaluate procurement methods available and move towards consultant selection. The SCA may choose to short list respondents to this RFQEI to provide a live demonstration of your solution. Although proposing firms need not be pre-qualified by the SCA at the time of bid, each firm must be pre-qualified prior to contract award.

Interested firms should respond via email submitting their qualifications and expression of interest.

Use the following address unless otherwise specified in notice, to secure, examine or submit bid/proposal documents, vendor prequalification and other forms; specifications/blueprints; other information; and for opening and reading of bids at date and time specified above.

On behalf of all New York City agencies and entities subject to the New York City Procurement Policy Board (PPB) Rules, the New York City Department of Design and Construction ("DDC") hereby requests approval to use the Innovative Procurement method, pursuant to PPB Rule § 3-12, to procure the design and construction services, including any services incidental thereto, through the project delivery method commonly known as design-build for public work projects authorized pursuant to New York State law.

On July 2, 2018, the then-acting Chief Procurement Officer ("CCPO") approved DDC's request to use PPB Rule § 3-12 to procure design and construction services using the design-build project delivery methodology for project authorized under New York State law. Since the approval, and as of the date of this request, DDC has registered eight (8) design-build agreements ("DBAs") and is currently in the process of procuring approximately 11 more design-build projects.

For the reasons listed below, DDC is requesting a new approval for use of PPB Rule § 3-12 to procure design and construction services using the design-build project delivery methodology for additional projects, including any projects authorized under the expanded design-build authority granted by the New York City Public Works Investment Act. This innovative method expands upon the contract administration component of design-build.

1. The Nature and Requirements of the Procurement and Contract Administration Method being proposed

The innovative procurement method to be used for a design-build contract varies in a number of respects from the procedure otherwise applicable pursuant to the PPB Rules. The proposed innovative procurement process involves multiple steps and may result in multiple awards, including one award to the design-builder and additional awards, in the form of stipends agreements, to short-listed proposers

Step (1): Request for Qualifications

The contracting agency develops a short list of qualified design-build entities through the issuance of a publicly advertised Request for Qualifications (RFQ). The RFQ includes a general description of the public work, the maximum number of responding entities to be included on the list, the selection criteria to be used and the relative weight of each criteria in generating the shortlist. The contracting agency evaluates and rates all responses to generate the short list of entities that may propose as outlined in Step (2).

Step (2): Request for Proposals

Once the short list is established, the contracting agency releases a Request for Proposals (RFP). The contracting agency may, at its discretion, solicit feedback from the short-listed entities to help finalize the scope or other language of the RFP. Only the short-listed entities will be permitted to submit a proposal in response to the RFP. The contracting agency will select the proposal that represents the best value to the City and may incorporate a quantitative factor to be used in evaluating bids or offers of firms that are certified as Minority-or Women-Owned Business Enterprises (M/WBEs) pursuant to Section 1304 of the New York City charter or article 15-A of the executive law.

The RFP sets forth the scope of work, and other requirements, as determined by the contracting agency, including separate goals for design and construction work under the DBA to be performed by M/WBEs. The RFP must specify the criteria to be used to evaluate the proposals and the relative weight of each evaluation factor. All proposals submitted shall be scored according to the criteria listed in the RFP and such final scores will be published on the contracting agency's website.

Award Phase

The RFP may result in multiple awards. There will be an award to the responsive and responsible design-builder that offers a proposal that is of the best value to the City for the design-build work. At the agency's discretion, there may be awards to the remaining short-listed proposers that are responsive and responsible. The amount for these additional awards will be based on a pre-determined percentage or dollar value as outlined in the RFP and serves as an incentive to submit a proposal and enable the contracting agency to purchase the ownership of ideas and intellectual property set forth in the proposal(s).

Contract Administration Phase

The awarded DBAs will include contract administration processes other than the standard City procedures, including, but not limited to, time extensions and the dispute resolution process.

Time Extensions

Time extensions under the DBAs are not subject to the Board of Time Extension approval as set forth in PPB Rule 4-03, but the DBA will provide that determinations with regard to time extensions are final and binding. The design-builders are entitled to time relief pursuant to specific relief events enumerated in the DBAs. There are specific events for which design-builder is only entitled to time extensions (Relief Events) and other events, referred to as Compensable Relief Events, where the design-builder may be entitled to compensation in addition to time. Subject to the requirements set forth in the DBA, the designbuilder can seek a time extension due to a Relief Event and that request may be granted upon review by the agency of the designbuilder's time impact analysis, among other documentation, showing how the specific Relief Event has delayed the project's critical path. The determination as to whether the design-builder is entitled to time relief is made by agency representative and must be approved by the ACCO. However, this decision is not subject to the Board of Time Extension. Furthermore, the decision as to whether the design-builder is entitled to an extension of time to the guaranteed substantial completion date, or another milestone date, can occur, at any time during the project duration, and not only at substantial completion, provided that the Relief Event that has caused the delay has ended.

Resolution of Disputes Arising Out of Contract Administration

Disputes under the DBA are subject to a different dispute resolution procedure than what is currently provided for in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. Each design-build project has its own Disputes Review Board ("DRB"), which is created at the beginning of a project. Depending on the size of the project, the DRB may consist of one or three members. All disputes, unless they are ineligible disputes, must go through the DRB process.

The DBA sets out specific timelines for each step of the DRB process, resulting in a DRB recommendation being issued as early as 60 days after the submission of the notice of dispute by either the agency or design-builder, provided no extensions are requested and agreed to by both parties. The recommendation of the DRB is non-binding and both the agency and the design-builder must respond within 15 business days of the DRB determination by either accepting or rejecting the DRB's recommendation. Except as noted below, if the agency and the design-builder cannot come to an agreement on a dispute following the DRB's recommendation, the design-builder may commence a plenary action on such dispute.

If the agency determines that the design-builder is in default, such decision also is subject to the DRB process (except in cases of criminal or ethical defaults). However, following the DRB's recommendation, the design-builder's only recourse is a proceeding pursuant to Article 78 of the New York State Civil Practice Law and Rules. Additionally, the agency's determination of design-builder defaults on ethical or criminal basis is not subject to the DRB process.

1. Why this method serves the City's interest better than the current Rules

The design-build project delivery method is an important tool for the City's procurement process and has seen increasing widespread adoption throughout the United States. The design-build method combines into a single contract both the design and construction services. Design-build projects allow a single entity to be responsible for all phases of the project, including design and construction, with the goal of reducing costs and expediting project delivery while maintaining the required quality and compliance. This innovative method enables the City to award such contracts on the basis of best value and also provides the City with the option to make multiple additional awards to a short-list of proposers, increasing the competition and quality of proposers. The method operationalizes the authority granted to certain City agencies pursuant to New York State law. The current PPB rules do not contemplate the necessary multistep process to procure both design and construction services, as described above.

2. The time within which this method will be implemented and utilized

To date, DDC has awarded and registered eight (8) design-build contracts; however only one design-build project has been in the contract administration stage for more than a year; the NTPs for the remaining design-build projects have been issued in the last five to four months. So far, the design-build project delivery method has been successful for the City; however, due to the extensive and labor and time intensive procurement process, and the limited experience DDC has administering these contracts, DDC is requesting a new innovative procurement approval under PPB § 3-12 so that it can further examine and evaluate the design-build method before proposing rule changes to the PPB. In particular, the City needs more time to examine how design-build contracts are administered.

Finally, feedback from other City agencies, once they have their own experience in procuring, awarding, and administering design-build contracts should be taken into consideration before rule changes to the PPB, which will impact all City agencies using the design-build method, are implemented.

The method will be in use until there are codified PPB rules addressing these procedures, the time period to utilize such innovative procurement method elapses, or the authority granted pursuant to New York State law elapses, whichever occurs first.

3. Description of services to be procured and approximate dollar value of  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{contract}}(s)$

This method will be utilized by agencies to procure design-build services, and any services incidental thereto, in connection with certain public works as authorized by State Law. The value of the projects procured under the New York City Public Works Investment Act must be either 1) not less than $10 million, 2) not less than $1.2 million if the project primarily consists of a) pedestrian ramps and similar infrastructure to improve access to sidewalks in the City to improve access for people with disabilities, b) renovation and construction of cultural institutions located on publicly owned real property and of public libraries in the City; or c) security infrastructure, including bollards, planters and other physical structures, designed to protect life and property from acts of terror or mass violence, or 3) not less than $1.2 million if the project is a public work in connection with property within the jurisdiction of the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation or the New York City Housing Authority.

Based on the above, it is proposed that innovative method constitutes an appropriate procurement method under Section 3-12 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules.

NYC DDC would like to give this opportunity to accept comments and expressions of interest on this proposed method. Comments and expressions of interest may be emailed no later than November 30, 2022, to Michael Ransom, at Ransommi@ddc.nyc.gov.

The first planned procurement to the Design Build Project Delivery Method will be for Murphy Brother's Playground Comfort Station, EPIN: 8502310009.
