highest importance. To insure it, the people are prepared to make any necessary sacrifice, provided they can receive in exchange just administration. But with, as at present, limited power to act where the health of the city is at stake, or with no power at all, the efficiency of the department cannot be guaranteed.

With these remarks, the undersigned submits the whole question to the honorable the Common Council, for such action thereon as in its wisdom it may deem proper to take.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

DANIEL E. DELAVAN.
