Executive Summary

This report was prepared in compliance with the requirements of Local Law 45 (“LL45”) of 2018. LL45, which was passed in January 2018, requires the Department of Citywide Administrative Services (“DCAS”), to report on electricity and fossil fuel usage, real-time metering, and assessments of or improvements made to the envelopes of covered facilities. DCAS’s Division of Energy Management (“DEM”) prepared this report. The law requires reports to be published annually for four years; this is the first report.

LL45 defines a “covered facility” as a facility where the City pays for at least one electricity account which had a peak demand of at least 300 kilowatts (“kW”) over the past fiscal year (Fiscal Year 2018). There are 680 covered facilities as of the end of Fiscal Year 2018 that meet this requirement. A subset of those, representing 620 facilities in total, are owned by the City. Per the requirements of LL45, for all covered facilities, this report identifies (a) their electricity usage over the past fiscal year and change in usage over the last five years; (b) if they have equipment that allows electricity to be measured and reported in near real-time, referred to as “real-time meters” (“RTM”);¹ and (c) if they do not, whether such equipment is “appropriate and practicable,”² and the expected installation timeline. Reporting the change in electricity usage for all covered facilities enables a comparison of the change for each facility to the overall change for all facilities. For City-owned covered facilities, the report also includes the facilities’ fossil fuel and steam usage over the past fiscal year,³ the change in fossil fuel and steam usage over the last five fiscal years, and if their facility envelopes have been subject to an assessment within the last year.

For this report, DEM utilized utility billing data for electricity, natural gas, and steam usage and City Agency-reported usage and purchasing records for heating fuel oil. To gather data on covered facilities’ RTM appropriate and practicable status, DEM conducted a survey of City Agencies. The report drew upon a number of data sources to identify facility envelope assessment status.

Over the past five fiscal years, total electricity usage has increased half a percent for covered facilities as a whole, and fossil fuel and steam usage has decreased by almost ten percent for City-owned covered facilities.⁴ Considering only those facilities that have been in service for the five previous fiscal years examined, electricity usage as a whole actually decreased one percent, and fossil fuel and steam usage decreased by 12 percent. At the facility level, almost 60 percent of all covered facilities either had no change in electricity usage or decreased electricity usage over the past five fiscal years, while 40 percent of covered facilities increased their usage.

Over half of covered facilities already have electricity RTM installed, and, based on survey results available as of the time of this report, RTM installation may be appropriate and practicable for an additional 32 percent of covered facilities. Thus, 84 percent of covered facilities either have RTMs installed or are viable for future installations. A very limited number of City-owned covered facilities underwent facility envelope assessments in Fiscal Year 2018.

Table 1 has a breakdown of the all covered facilities, with Agency and City-ownership designation. Section 1 and Appendix A have information on covered facilities’ electricity usage, and Section 2 and Appendix B have information on RTM status. For City-owned covered facilities, Section 3 and Appendix C have information on fossil fuel usage, and Section 4 and Appendix D have information on facility envelope status.

² In this report, RTM installation was not deemed “appropriate and practicable” if a covered facility’s electricity utility meter room was inaccessible or if the Agency/Organization was planning on relocating from the covered facility within the next four years, as reported in the initial Agency survey.

³ Fossil fuels include heating fuel oil and natural gas. District steam also is presented as it is produced by the burning of fossil fuels locally.

Section 1. Electricity Usage

Context and Data Collection Methodology

LL45 requires DEM to report on electricity usage over the past fiscal year and the change in usage over the last five fiscal years for covered facilities. Data about electricity usage is drawn from monthly utility billing information. In this report, electricity usage consists of both grid electricity and onsite solar generation.⁵ Electricity usage data from Fiscal Years 2014 through 2018 were available for this report.

Electricity Usage Overview

- See Table 2 for the summary of electricity usage data.
- Total electricity usage has increased a half percent over the past five fiscal years for all covered facilities.⁶ When filtering the list of facilities to only those that have been in service for all five fiscal years (664 facilities), electricity usage actually decreased one percent.
- 57 percent (387 facilities) of covered facilities either had no change in electricity usage or decreased electricity usage over the past five fiscal years, 23 percent (159 facilities) increased their usage by up to 10 percent, eight percent (56 facilities) increased their electricity usage between 11 to 24 percent, nine percent (62 facilities) of covered facilities increased their usage 25 or more percent, and two percent (16 facilities) of covered facilities did not have electricity data over all five fiscal years (Figure 1).
- The small net increase in electricity usage for all covered facilities may be the result of many factors including weather, facility occupancy rates, hours of operation, functional changes, additions in square footage and plug load; such data was not available for this report.
- Appendix A lists each facility's Fiscal Year 2018 electricity usage and change in usage over the past five fiscal years.

⁵ On-site solar installations began generating electricity at covered facilities in Fiscal Year 2016.

⁶ Usage data in the report has not been weather-normalized.

Section 2. Facility Envelope Assessment Status

Context and Data Collection Methodology

LL45 requires DEM to report on RTM status in covered facilities -- specifically, which covered facilities have RTMs; whether RTM installation would be practicable and appropriate in those lacking RTMs, and if installation is appropriate and practicable, in which fiscal year RTMs will be installed. Generally, RTMs are monitoring devices that automatically relay energy usage data from a utility meter to a local centralized portal at regular, near real-time intervals. Since early 2015, DEM has installed RTMs at more than 360 facilities. 355 of these locations are covered facilities; the rest are facilities with peak demand less than 300 kW in Fiscal Year 2018. Given sufficient resources, the City also has set a goal of installing such devices at enough facilities to cover 80 percent of municipal demand. This would include all covered facilities where RTMs are practicable and appropriate.

DEM initially focused RTM installation efforts to support the Demand Response (“DR”) Program; more recently, DEM has focused on expanding RTM installations to support enrollment in the Load Management (“LM”) Program. Through the DR Program, facilities reduce electric load during short-term periods of peak demand to preserve grid reliability and limit the use of the most expensive and often dirtiest power plants. Through the newer LM Program, DEM helps participating facilities identify additional time blocks in which they can reduce energy usage, instead of just during periods of peak demand. Through the LM Program, DEM trains building operators to identify operational changes⁷ to their buildings that support efficient long-term energy management. In general, RTMs improve performance during DR events by providing near-real-time information on the amount of load that has been shed. For the LM program, electricity usage patterns provided through RTMs are the basis for both identifying potential savings periods and assessing the impacts of operational changes.

For LL45 compliance, and as part of its ongoing metering commitment, DEM surveyed agencies to evaluate whether RTMs would be appropriate and practicable in covered facilities that do not yet have them. The survey asked, among other items, about power and Internet accessibility within the meter room, physical accessibility of base meters, and whether the agency had plans to vacate a facility within the next four years. For facilities that do not yet have RTMs, but where survey data indicated that installation is appropriate and practicable, the anticipated fiscal year for installation also is reported. Information about appropriateness and practicability statuses and installation schedules may change as site visits⁸ progress and further site-specific information is gathered, with updates to be reflected in subsequent LL45 annual reports.

Real-Time Metering Overview

- 52 percent (355 facilities) of covered facilities already have electricity RTM installed. This leaves a balance of 325 facilities, or nearly 48 percent, that currently do not have installations and that were surveyed for their ability to accommodate them (Figure 2).
- According to survey responses, RTM is appropriate and practicable in 32 percent (215 facilities) of all covered facilities. Less than one percent (nine facilities) of all covered facilities indicated that RTM is not appropriate nor practicable. The remaining 15 percent (101 facilities) of all covered facilities will require further follow-up, so both the appropriateness and practicability of RTM and the potential schedule for installation can be determined.
- Appendix B includes the RTM status of each of the covered facilities for which electricity usage is reported.

⁸ All covered facilities without RTM already installed will have their appropriate and practicable RTM status as reported in their survey results confirmed by a site visit.

Section 3. Fossil Fuel and Steam Usage

- See Appendix C for the table of fossil fuel usage and steam data.

Context and Data Collection Methodology

LL45 requires DEM to report on fossil fuel use for the last fiscal year and change in usage over the last five fiscal years for City-owned covered facilities (620 facilities). In this report, fossil fuels are defined as heating fuel oil (Fuel Oil Numbers 2, 4, 6) and natural gas. District steam usage is included in this report because it is produced from fossil fuel usage within New York City. Fossil fuels and steam primarily are used for heat and hot water in covered facilities. To curb airborne pollutants, the City has mandated the phasing out of heavy heating fuels (i.e. Fuel Oil Numbers 4 and 6) and has pursued efforts to switch over facilities to natural gas and use oil as emergency back-up. Heavy fuel oil phase-out is expected to reduce City CO₂e emissions by almost one million tons.⁹ A number of covered facilities, such as schools and hospitals, still rely on Fuel Oil No. 2 to heat some of their covered facilities.

⁹ Mayor's Office of Long-Term Planning and Sustainability. One City, Built to Last: Transforming New York City's Buildings for a Low-Carbon Future. 2014.

Data on natural gas and district steam usage come from monthly utility billing information. For heating oil, City Agencies are responsible for tracking their oil usage and for reporting usage to DEM. In this report, Fiscal Years 2013 through 2017 data are reported, since Fiscal Year 2017 is the last year for which full heating oil data currently is available.

Fossil Fuel and Steam Usage Overview

- See Table 3 for the fossil fuel and steam usage data summary for all covered facilities.
- Over the past five fiscal years, overall fossil fuel and steam usage has decreased by almost 10 percent; heating fuel oil usage has decreased 49 percent, reflecting the phasing out of Nos. 4 and 6 heavy fuel oils, while natural gas usage has increased by 14 percent. Overall fossil fuel usage has decreased by almost 10 percent. Steam usage has increased by less than two percent.
- For facilities with fossil and steam usage data for all five fiscal years (543 facilities), overall fossil fuel and steam usage decreased by almost 12 percent between Fiscal Years 2013 and 2017.

Section 4. Facility Envelope Assessment Status

Context and Data Sources

LL45 requires DEM to report on whether City-owned covered facilities have undergone facility envelope assessments and if any improvements to a facility's envelope were commenced, continued, or completed during the previous fiscal year. The facility envelope is the physical barrier between a building's interior environment and the exterior. This report interprets the terms "envelope assessment" and "envelope improvement" to refer to envelope thermal performance, which may be defined as the capacity of a building's envelope to prevent undesired energy transfers between a building's interior environment and the exterior. Envelope thermal performance is critical to energy efficiency because it serves to both reduce energy loss from inside a building and temper influences from adverse external weather conditions on the building's interior environment, thereby helping reduce the amount of energy needed to maintain comfortable interior conditions.

Information on electricity usage, fossil fuel usage, and RTM installation status is collected by DEM and its partner agencies. However, there is no comprehensive collection of information on statuses of envelope assessments or improvements across covered facilities. This report marks the first attempt by any City entity to collect such information in a standardized, quantifiable form. While DEM has access to a range of data sources about aspects of facilities' envelopes, not all of them provide the kind of information about envelope thermal performance that is useful for LL45 reporting compliance.

Overall, the available data sources can be grouped by those from which limited indirect thermal envelope performance information may be inferred and data sources that directly measure thermal performance. For this report, the indirect data source used was Local Law 87 ("LL87") energy audits. LL87 energy audits, which are conducted under DEM's supervision for covered facilities with 50,000 square feet and greater, describe the condition of the audited structure's envelope based on visual observation, but do not include detailed or quantitative assessments of thermal performance. 41 City-owned covered facilities had LL87 energy audits in Fiscal Year 2018.

For this report, the direct envelope data sources used were records from the DEM Deep Energy Retrofit Program and the Department of Design and Construction ("DDC") Low-Energy Pilot Program. Both provide detailed information about facilities' envelope thermal performance and other energy performance characteristics. Both programs fund studies that describe the condition and quantify the approximate thermal performance of the studied building's major envelope elements. Some of these studies also include thermographic imaging to identify areas of high heat transfer and air or water infiltration (Figure 3).

The image shows heat loss occurring through skylight mullions, glass block windows, and grout-filled masonry and water infiltration at the top of the walls. DEM is providing incremental funding to insulate a new façade beyond code-minimum levels as part of an extensive renovation.

- The Deep Energy Retrofit Program was established by DEM in 2018 in response to Executive Order 26, and targets existing buildings with high levels of GHG emissions. Twenty-five facility assessments are currently in progress under the Deep Energy Retrofit Program, and twenty of these are at covered facilities.
- The Low-Energy Pilot Program was jointly established by DEM and DDC in 2016 to help Agencies prepare their buildings for the stringent energy use intensity requirements of Local Law 31 ("LL31"). The program targets new construction, as well as existing buildings or spaces undergoing substantial reconstruction.

Fifteen studies have been completed under the Low-Energy Pilot Program, including assessments of five existing buildings, but none of these are covered facilities.

Both the Deep Energy Retrofit Program and the Low-Energy Pilot Program are intended to support DEM investments in major capital projects at the studied buildings. However, lessons learned from such studies, such as the cost-effectiveness of triple-pane windows or the maximum insulation that can be applied to the interior of a masonry façade without risking freeze-thaw damage, will also be applied to other energy projects undertaken by DEM. Studies of additional facilities are planned under both programs.

DEM also explored the Department of Buildings' Buildings Information System ("BIS") database, which tracks the status of building permits and violations, as a potential data source. Unfortunately, the permit application data available for a facility in BIS does not provide enough detail to determine whether permitted work actually addresses an improvement to the facility's envelope.

Appendix D includes envelope data. Only information on envelope assessments is available at this time.

Section 5. Conclusion

Over the past five fiscal years, total electricity usage has remained relatively flat for covered facilities with 300 kW and greater peak demand during Fiscal Year 2018. When looking at the population of facilities that were in operation for all five years electricity usage decreased by one percent. Changes in building usage patterns may be masking greater energy efficiency gains. At the time of this report, there is insufficient data to determine this.

Over the same period, fossil fuel and steam usage has decreased by almost ten percent for City-owned covered facilities. Over the last five fiscal years, more than half of covered facilities either had no change in electricity usage or decreased electricity usage, less than a third increased energy usage up to 24 percent and nine percent increased their usage by 25 percent or more.

In comparison, overall City facility electricity usage has decreased by three percent, natural gas usage has increased by six percent, and steam usage has decreased nine percent between Fiscal Years 2014 and 2018.

Over half of covered facilities already have electricity RTM installed, and an additional 32 percent have been identified as facilities where RTM is appropriate and practicable. Thus, in total, 84 percent of covered facilities either already have or may be suitable for electricity RTM installation.

There are limited City information sources available that contain relevant data on envelope thermal performance assessments. However, based on the information available, few City-owned covered facilities underwent facility envelope assessments in Fiscal Year 2018, although additional covered facilities may have received assessments prior to Fiscal Year 2018.

Appendix A. Covered Facilities' Electricity Usage

This appendix includes electricity usage information between Fiscal Years 2014 through 2018 for City-owned and City-leased covered facilities which had peak demand of 300 kW or more in Fiscal Year 2018. The last column is color-coded by usage change. For the last column, white indicates the covered facility was not using electricity in all five fiscal years; green indicates that the covered facility experienced a reduction in energy usage over the last five fiscal years; yellow indicates that the covered facility experienced an increase in energy usage of zero to 10 percent; orange indicates an increase in energy usage of 11 to 24 percent, and red indicates an increase in energy usage of 25 percent or more.
