DSNY Issues ‘Winter Operations Advisory’ for Monday, January 3rd, 2022 at 12:00 a.m.

Due to the possibility of snow and, especially, ice accretion in the overnight forecast, the New York City Department of Sanitation has issued a Winter Operations Advisory for Monday, January 3rd, beginning at midnight. Snow accumulation during the overnight hours is likely to be less than two inches in all parts of the city, however given this weekend’s rain, the sudden drop in temperatures may lead to ice buildup on roadways. The Department’s salt spreaders are filled and will be active across the city beginning at 12:00 a.m., and if snow is heavier than anticipated, the Department is prepared to deploy plows. All residents are encouraged to be especially cautious during the morning commute, and to take mass transit if possible.

Open Restaurants may continue to offer outdoor and roadway dining throughout this event. Restaurants with roadway seating should be aware that DSNY equipment may spread salt on the roadway.

Residents should continue to follow their normal collection schedule for trash, compost and recycling, though delays may occur while the Department is in snow operations mode.

Alternate Side Parking Regulations are suspended on Monday, January 3rd, in order to facilitate these winter weather operations. Parking meters are in effect.

The Department is coordinating with other City agencies on snow clearing protocol in accordance with each agency’s written snow plan. All relevant city agencies have been notified and the Department will continue to monitor forecasts as the snow event approaches.

All winter weather information and information about the City’s response to the storm can be found by visiting the City’s Severe Weather website at www.nyc.gov/severeweather or by calling 311. New Yorkers are also encouraged to sign up for Notify NYC, the City’s free emergency notification system.
