July 15, 2014

To the Mayor and the City Council:

Pursuant to the Open Data Law, section 23-506(c) of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the Department of Information Technology and Telecommunications (DoITT) hereby submits the first annual update to the NYC Open Data Plan.

The original NYC Open Data Plan included lists of public data sets submitted to DoITT by agencies covered by the Open Data Law. This report reflects updated information from those agencies. A summary description and anticipated date of publication for each public data set is included in the tables that are part of this update.

The NYC Open Data Plan and this update were created in compliance with the Open Data Law and with the Technical Standards Manual issued pursuant to the Open Data Law, and are available via the City's official website, NYC.gov.

Much like the data sets it catalogues, the NYC Open Data Plan will evolve, and will be updated annually each July 15.

Respectfully Submitted,

Anne M. Roest
Commissioner

NYC Open Data Plan 2014

July 15, 2014

Contents

Introduction

To date the City of New York has opened nearly 1,300 City agency data sets through the NYC Open Data portal. This first annual update to the NYC Open Data Plan lists additional City data sets that are not yet available, but which are to be added to the NYC Open Data portal in the coming years. This plan is available via NYC.gov, and will be updated again no later than July 15, 2015, and every July 15th thereafter.

The NYC Open Data Plan has been prepared in accordance with Local Law 11 of 2012 to make the operation of City government more transparent, accessible, and accountable to the public. Making City data sets available online using open standards will allow the public to assist in the development of analyses, applications and other tools to improve City government and the lives of New Yorkers.

The NYC Open Data Plan is intended to be a comprehensive accounting of the public data sets maintained by the City of New York as well as a commitment by the City to make those data sets available by a date certain. To help ensure this commitment is kept, DoITT has worked with agency-designated Open Data Coordinators (ODCs) as per the Open Data Policy and Technical Standards Manual. DoITT will continue its work to prioritize and schedule the release of public data sets, and to complete annual updates to the Open Data Plan.

The 2014 update to the NYC Open Data Plan includes three tables:

- List of 345 data sets scheduled for release with release date and update frequency
- List of 160 data sets published since the inaugural release of the plan in September 2013 (Sixty-seven (67) data sets published during that time were not identified by agencies in the initial NYC Open Data plan, but have been released as these plans were updated and refined.)
- List of 27 data sets removed from the plan, and the reason for their removal

This year, we are on pace to more than double the 61 data sets published in 2013 – 135 data sets are scheduled to be opened in 2014, with nearly 100 more to follow in 2015.

This NYC Open Data Plan is a living document and will be consistently updated to reflect additional data sets that are identified and released. To that end, we request your feedback on the plan and assistance in identifying any additional data sets that might be appropriate for release.

To submit feedback on this plan, please send correspondence to: nycdatasupport@doitt.nyc.gov.

To suggest data for inclusion on the NYC Open Data portal, please visit: https://data.cityofnewyork.us/nominate.
