REPORT OF COMMISSIONER STERN ON THE FREE LABOR BUREAU, AND PROPOSED IM-PROVEMENTS FOR THE SAME.

JULY 30TH, .1873.

To the Board of Commissioners of Public Charities and Corrections.

GENTLEMEN.—The Free Labor and Intelligence Bureau, forming one of the Departments of the Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction, does not seem to have received that attention which its importance, as the best and most equitable medium of exchange between the labor, seeking and labor, requiring classes would labor-seeking and labor-requiring classes would demand.

The almost incidental manner in which the The almost incidental manner in which the Bureau was instituted, by the mere insertion of a clause in the Tax-levy of 1869, appropriating the sum of ten thousand dellars, by the Department of Public Charities and Correction, for the purpose of opening and advertising, under the control of its officers, a free Intelligence Office for the poor and stranger, seeking employment and information, would suggest that it was rather an experiment attempted by the Legislature to remove the evils and abuses that had their origin in the numerous intelligence offices, with which the city was dotted all over at that time. Many of these offices were sinks of vice and injustive the numerous interligence omices, with which the city was dotted all over at that time. Many of these offices were sinks of vice and iniquity, wherein the unwary emigrant and the stranger, that came from the country in search of honest labor, were inveigled, robbed of the little they had, and then sent adrift. These places were not unfrequently the pitfalls wherein innocent and virtuous girls were enticed, to be transferred to houses of shame and lust.

Of the thousands that come here looking for employment, a large portion fell into the hands of these sharpers, who drove a lucrative trade at the cost of those that are most entitled to our protection, because friendless and helpless.

The Free Labor and Intelligence Bureau, under the control of the public authorities was to remedy all this; the interests of the labor seeking classes were to be guarded; those protected who were earnestly in search of honest employment; a public office was to be established that would furnish the required accommodation between employer and employee. The amount appropriated for the purpose was but $10,000, the expenses however, gradually reached the sum of $21,333.66. This had mattered but little, if the object sought for had been really obtained; if the benefits that were expected from the Bureau were realized; if the institution had become in reality a medium of exchange between the honest, well meaning and well behaved servant, and the classes in need of help.

With regret must it be stated that these just expectations were not fulfilled. A careful investigation reveals the fact, that with the pressure of the reason of intoxication, or impudent behavior, indulgence in the use of profane and vulgar language, or refusing to perform service required of them, if not otherwise employed, though the labor required does not come strictly within the line for which they are engaged.

4. Every applicant shall be provided with a book, on the opening pages of which shall be printed the rules and regulations of the Free Labor and Intelligence Bureau, and in said book shall be entered the name, nativity, and present exidence of the applicant for labor, the name and residence of the applicant for labor, the name and residence of the persons in whose employ he or she has been, and the length of time they have remained in employment. Every engagement effected through the Bureau shall be entered on vestigation reveals the fact, that with the pres-expectations were not fulfilled. A careful investigation reveals the fact, that with the present system prevailing, with the loose control had over those that seek the benefits of the Bureau, it has rather become the resort of that class of nomadic servants that wander from place to place, from mistress to mistress, with no seri-ous intention to remain longer in one place than what it may suit their temporary whim and purpose; no encouragement is offered to the steady, sober toilers who honestly desire employment; rather an inducement is given to those erratic characters that have become the terror of housewives, and the torment of households. It is a common complaint of late years that servants common complaint of late years, that servants have become the masters; it is they who dictate terms and impose conditions. The Free Labor Bureau has indeed contributed no little to induce this condition of things.

The officials employed by the Commissioners to carry out their designs, to conduct and administer the affairs of the institution, have cared more to mislead the Commissioners and the public by a magnified exhibit of the business transacted, than to have an eye to efficient management, by which the institution could have been brought to a standard of real usefulness. Thus the official report rendered in 1870 magnified the sumber of places secured for feartless. Thus the official report rendered in 1870 magnified the number of places secured for female applicants by 7,079 over and above the actual number; an excess in the figures of males 1,208; in 1871, excess of figures, females, 15,526, males, 1,491; 1872, females, 12,065, males, 3,685; 1873, only six months, females, 3,330, males, 992. This deception, as officially stated by the Chief Clerk, has been practiced up to the first of this month, and whatever the motive for it may have been, was perpetrated by the clerks in the employ of the Bureau, some of whom held their positions since it was first established. Instead, therefore, of the Bureau becoming the Central Office, where employers would resort to to obtain the required help, private offices are first central Office, where employers would resort to to obtain the required help, private offices are first applied to, and the Bureau is only brought into requisition as the last resource; the Institution which should enjoy most the confidence of the public is looked upon with suspicion, and we must not be astonished therefore if the better classes of servants rather prefer other agencies, though connected with some expense.

As long as we permit worthless characters to fill our rooms and occupy the places of I onest servants; as long as persons addicted to drink and dismissed for that cause by their employers, are allowed to enjoy again and again the privileges of the Institution; as long as we continue the laxity of control over those whom we labor to benefit and improve their condition, we cannot hope to effect a material improvement; we must introduce strict rules of discipline that must be impartually but rigorously executed; we must be impartially but rigorously executed; we must endeavor to be just to the employer, as well as to the employee; we must establish the confidence of the public in the Institution, if we mean to make the Bureau what it should be.

Every one seeking its benefit must be made to conform to the rules of the establishment and conform to the rules of the establishment, and these must be laid down so as to be clear and these must be laid down so as to be clear and intelligent to every one; our rooms will then soon be purged of those that make them the resort of idleness and shiftlesness; we will have more applications for help, because the employer feels secure in engaging the services of one who enjoys the protection of the Labor Bureau, at once an evidence of good character, faithfulness, and steadiness and we will be sure that the money expended confers a benefit upon faithfulness, and steadiness and we will be sure that the money expended confers a benefit upon those meriting our sympathy and protection.

I would propose, therefore, the following resolution, in the hope of succeeding; inducing thereby a radical cure of the evils existing, which in my opinion are so injurious, that should we fail in our efforts of reform, after a fair and faithful trial and experiment for at least three months, we had better close the entire establishment as a useless waste of public funds of rather pernicious than beneficial effect.

Resolved, That the following rules and regulations be and are hereby established for the Free Labor and Intelligence Bureau, and the chief Clerk be charged with the strict enforcement thereof.

1. Applicants for employment must state their name, age, place of birth, and present residence to the Registry Clerk, designating the nature of employment they are in search of, produce written references from previous employers, or, if seeking employment for the first time, give reference to some reliable person, as to character. These statements shall be entered in a book kept for that purpose.

2. All applicants are assigned to a room in which they must remain during business hours; they must keep themselves clean and neat in person, observe decorous behavior, not indulge in loud conversation, or be guilty of impertinceed $325.

3. Every engagement entered into shall be for no less a term than one monch except by special agreemnets. And if servants leave the service of their employer, without sufficient grounds, in less time than one month, they shall not be entitled to any compensation for the time served; if with the consent of the employer, they shall be remunerated, pro rata. They shall not be entitled to compensation if discharged from service to submit an estimate of the amounts directed to submit an estimate of the amounts.

effected through the Bureau shall be entered on this book, and such engagement can not be cancelled except by permission of the chief clerk. This book must be delivered to the employer as soon as the engagement is concluded, to be returned by him to the employer when discharged from service. The employer shall state frankly and truthfully in the book the reasons for discharge, whether by his or her own request, or for incompetence, or suspicion of dishonesty, or bad temper, intoxication, or any other cause that induced the dissolution of the contract. Every employer should state briefly, the character and disposition of the employee and make such other disposition of the employee and make such other remarks as circumstances merit and require.

5. In applying for employment this book must be handed to the clerk, and no employe shall be admitted to the privileges of the Bureau who is without the book, and cannot satisfactorily account for it.

6. The violations of any of the rules of the department involves the forfeiture of the privileges which it confers.

7. All complaints of employers and employes will be received at the desk of the Complaint Clerk, and will be investigated by the Chief Clerk.

8. This Board will adopt such further rules and regulations, from time to time, as the interest of the Bureau may require, in order to make it a blessing to the community.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MEYER STERN.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

HEALTH DEP'T, No. 301 MOTT ST., NEW YORK, August 6th, 1873.

The Sanitary Committee respectfully call the attention of the Board to the large quantities of unripe and decaying vegetables and fruit exposed for sale in different parts of the city especially in the poorer districts. On scores of fruit stands there is scarcely an article that is suitable for eating. It appears, on inquiry, that there is a large class of tradesmen and women who purchase in the markets only unripe and worthless fruits, and they either locate themselves on the sidewalks, and retail this miserable trash princ pally to poor children, or go through the stree with carts and sell it from door to door.

pally to poor children, or go through the stree with carts and sell it from door to door.

The effects of these fruits upon the health o those who consume them is most disastrous. They induce diseases of the bowels of the most intractable and fatal character. With the advent of these fruits the death rate from diarrhoeal diseases is largely increased and though other conditions at that season of the year aggravate such affections, yet it is a matter of common experience among medical men that unripe and decayed fruit are far too often the exciting cause.

The present season has been unfavorable for the growth and ripening of many fruits now in market and it is the testimony of market men that the amount of unripe fruit offered for sale by small venders is in excess of former years. This circumstance, together with the prevalence of cholera in the West, will, we think justify this Board in taking measures to prevent the distribution of such dangerous materials among the poor.

The Committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

the following resolution:
Resolved, That the Sanitary Superintendent, be and is hereby directed, to superintend the in-spection of fruits of every description, with instructions to seize, condemn and cause the de-struction of all unripe, decayed and unwholesome fruits offered for sale, as provided by the ordinances of this Board.

Respectfully submitted, STEPHEN SMITH, M.D., Chairman, San. Supt.

SIR.—In compliance with order received from SIR.—In compliance with order received from you, August 2d, 1873, in company with Inspectors Bryant, Tracy, Hall and Ewing, I inspected Fulton Market at the time of and after the destruction of the "booths" around the same and have the honor to report as follows:

The workmen under the charge of Inspector Gridley, began the demolition on the Fulton street side of the market, and as the floors of the booths were removed, the street gutters, beneath booths were removed, the street gutters beneath them were all found in a very fithy condition. The gutter under the stand occupied by Mr. Fitzpatrick, (about 150 ft. east of Front street)

Fitzpatrick, (about 150 ft. east of Front street) as an oyster and coffee saloon being extremely filthy, the black mud and slime deposited to the depth of 6 or 8 inches, and masses of decomposing animal matter emitting a frightful stench. Under the floors on this side of the market the deposits accumulated were mostly decaying animal matter, and in the Beekman street side, decaying vegetable matter seemed to predominate.

On the South street side the bootes had from one to four layers, and also the beams on which they rested were so decomposed and rotten that they crumbled to pieces at the slightest touch. Between the floors of the booths and the side-walk, in many cases the space had beeu filled in with sawdust, and in some instances this had be-come saturated with liquid filth, so as to present very offensive accumulation.

The odors given off from these places, as they were exposed by the workmen were so intensely foul and disgusting that I deemed it necessary to have disinfectants applied at once, and 4:45 A. M., telegraphed to the Corps at the Laboratory, in Worth street, and hadl 150 gallons of the street disinfecting fluid sprinkled over it.

In the morning I telegraphed the Police Inspector in charge at Central Office, asking "if a gang of street sweepers could not be sent," and informed him of the condition of the street. I also called at the Central Office at 10:30 A. M., and saw Inspector Walling, who telegraphed

The work was completed, and the lumber removed by 10 A. M.
