The borough has been invaded by the health-destroying, death-duling contrivance to which this is designed to call your official attention, to wit, the as-called converted trolley car of the Nassa. Freeze Railroad Company.

Those reductes are daily causing thousands in people acons disconnium and in many cases tong irreparable to lary to the bashin of those compelled to use them.

The open moment car, with all their fatal mails or odd weather vehicles, were at least frank with their estims, who knew when they bounded them that a free circulation of air might be expected. In incl, your publicones are informed that open cars are popular in the winter among the timens of two American municipalities, Charago and Washington. They are, however, operated in connection with closed and heated cars.

operated in connection with closed and heated cars.

In case neither your official detter not other business engagements have sumpelled you to ride in one of these schicles your petitioners would respectfully specify wherein they justify the terms health-destroying and death-dealing.

The old pattern of open engager cars, in which the passengers at back to back, a type distarded in every other great city even for warm weather, have been further with a close-fitting side, gloud as to its upper position, but with wentows that cannot be opened. On the other side shifting doors have been put in, one to each after between the rous of scats.

When an intending parsenger halts one of these cars, and, the day being cool, finds the doors closed, he or she is note: the necessity of opening one after another of the doors in order to discove in which compartment, it any, there is a seat. The doors are operated by suchas of a shallow, proceeding log, accreely giving hold coming for a drong must to move the door by, even when the latter is not such fact, and next to impossible for a woman or child at any time. shallow, proceeding log, scarcely giving hold conugh for a strong must to more the door when the latter start ruch for, and next to impossible for a woman or child at any time.

In warm weather these cars are warmer than no ordinary closed one, while in winter they threaten to be simply interestable, awing to the difficulty of branching them, and the exposure that occurs when the down are opened, as they must be for the express and ogress of passengers and the collection of tares and issue of transfers by the conductor, who has also in open them in order to stop or start the car, when he is not on the reary platform.

From notice the best provided conditions, passengers to consider the down when boarding.

Even under the heat possible conditions, passengers promptly closing the thors when boarding the car or ally those velocies are utterly unit for as an any but the weather of the late spring or early fall, while in the case of a person leaving the door open on a stormy day the rest of the passengers, expecially those in the sents to the rear of the open doors, would be exposed to the full passengers, especially those in the sents to the rear or me upon soons.

In sonwy or modely weather it is necessary for all passengers who do not occupy and sents to alight in the genter, as the carectonic is stopped as as to enable them to get off at a crossing.

There is no provision for the circulation of air in the care, except such as has been described, a little slit over the construction is head sending a drought outside presengers' heads, but having no means of existor the violated air. In converting the open care there was no attempt made to reproduce the centilators used on the ordinary closed vehicles.
