AN ORDINANCE to provide for the killing of Dogs in the City of New York.

The Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New York do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. Hereafter it shall not be lawful to permit any dog to go abroad loose, or at large, in any of the streets, lanes, alleys, where not enclosed, highways, parks, piers or public places within the corporate limits of the City of New York, unless the head of every such dog shall be encased in a wire muzzle sufficiently large to cover the head entirely, but so constructed as to admit of the dog opening its mouth to the fullest extent, and in no case to permit the nose of the dog to protrude; the muzzle to be securely fastened around the throat and behind the ears of every such dog, under a penalty of three dollars for each offence, to be recovered against the owner, possessor, or person who harbored such dog within three days previous to the time of such dog being so found going abroad loose or at large.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

OPINION OF THE COUNSEL TO THE CORPORATION.

The Commissioners appointed by the Mayor under the Statutes providing for the completion of the New Court House, in New York, may enter, traverse, occupy, control, and protect the building, so far as is necessary or reasonably convenient for that purpose.

Their powers do not extend to a general custody, care, or control, which are vested by the Charter and by the Consolidation Act in the Commissioner of Public Works.

LAW DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE
COUNSEL TO THE CORPORATION,
NEW YORK, June 5, 1874.

To the Commissioners for the Completion of the New Court House,

GENTLEMEN:—You request my official opinion whether, under the provisions of law relative to the New Court House, you have power to enter, take charge of, and control the building until its completion.

In an opinion published in THE CITY RECORD, Volume 2, No. 285, being the issue of Wednesday, May 27, 1874, you will find the following language: "Section 71 of the Charter vests in the Department of Public Works the cognizance, control, and care of the public buildings of the city not otherwise provided for. The public buildings heretofore leased by or belonging to the County, including the New Court House so far as completed and in public use, passed in virtue of the Consolidation Act and the provisions of the Charter, under the care and control of the Commissioner of Public Works, saving of course the right of any Commissioners legally empowered to complete an unfinished building to enter and occupy the same, so far as may be necessary and reasonably convenient for the performance of their duties." This paragraph expresses my views.

At the request of the Mayor, I have already given my opinion that he was required by law to appoint Commissioners for the completion of the New Court House, and he acted upon it in your appointment. (See CITY RECORD, Volume 2, No. 282, issue of Saturday, May 23, 1874.)

A statute passed in 1870, entitled "An act to make further provision for the government of the County of New York," enacted, among other things, that to provide for the final completion of the New Court House in New York, the Mayor should be authorized and empowered to appoint four Commissioners, and upon such appointment all powers of the Board of Supervisors of the County of New York over the erection of such Court House should cease. The Commissioners were therein further empowered to complete that building for a sum not exceeding $600,000, which the Comptroller was authorized to raise on stock of the County, payable within twenty-five years. The money so raised was required to be paid by the Comptroller on vouchers approved by the Commissioners. (Laws of 1870, Chapter 382, § 11, Volume 1, p. 880.)

In 1871, an act to make provision for the local government of the City and County of New York, provides that for the completion of the New York County Court House the sum of $750,000 should be appropriated and be expended under the directions of the Commissioners appointed under the act first cited, and the Comptroller was authorized, on requisition of the Commissioners, to pay over to their credit such sums as they might from time to time deem necessary for the completion of the building.

An examination of the statutes bearing upon your duties renders it plain that so long as there is an appropriation for the erection or completion of the building, you have a duty to perform. That duty is to proceed with the erection and completion. The term "repair" is not employed in any of these statutes.

Upon written inquiry made by me of the Finance Department, I find that there is now an unexpended appropriation for the erection and completion of the Court House.

The answer to your inquiry seems, therefore, to be that you are empowered by law to proceed toward the completion of the building, so long as an unexpended balance or appropriation remains upon the books of the Department of Finance. With regard to your rights and duties over the building itself, it is well settled that where the law grants a power or imposes a duty, all the means necessary or reasonably convenient thereto, are given by indisputable legal implication. Hence, there is no doubt that you may enter, traverse, occupy, control, and protect the building so far as is necessary and reasonably convenient to effect the object of your appointment, which is to complete its erection. It is equally clear that you have the right to take, occupy, and use within the building a room as an office for the proper direction and discharge of the obligations imposed upon you by law. Under the statutes as they stand, the Commissioner of Public Works has custody, charge, and control of the building, except so far as your duties require you to enter, traverse, occupy, control, and protect the same. The general custody is in him, but your rights necessarily grow out of the duty which the laws impose upon you, and so far as is necessary and convenient to the erection and completion of the building, they may be exercised on your own motion and authority, unquestioned by any other power. Within these limitations, the assignment of offices, the care of the building, and the employment of subordinates belong to the Commissioner of Public Works.

I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully, yours,
E. DELAFIELD SMITH,
Counsel to the Corporation.

ORDINANCES, RESOLUTIONS, &c., &c.,

PASSED BY BOTH BRANCHES OF THE COMMON COUNCIL

AND

DURING THE WEEK ENDING JUNE 13, 1874.

AN ORDINANCE in relation to the burial of strangers or unknown persons who may die in any of the public institutions of the City of New York.

The Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New York do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. The Commissioners of Charities and Correction are hereby instructed and required to advertise in THE CITY RECORD, on the day succeeding the death of any stranger or unknown person who may die in any of the institutions under their charge, a notice giving a full description of such person, and a statement of all the property found in his or her possession at the time such person became an inmate of any such institution, together with such other information as, in the opinion of the officers in charge of any such institution, would be most likely to lead to the identification of the person so dying.

SECTION 2. Hereafter all interments in the city cemetery, on Hart's Island, shall be in trenches to be numbered consecutively, commencing with number one; every such trench shall contain one hundred and fifty bodies and no more, and each coffin shall be numbered by figures to be made of iron or other metal, or branded into the lid or cover of such coffin so as to be indelible, in the manner shown in the annexed diagram, viz.: Each trench shall be constructed, running in a direction from east to west; shall be of a size sufficient to contain the said number of one hundred and fifty bodies, which shall be laid therein in the order following, to wit: No. 1 at the northeast corner, No. 2 adjoining, and so on in regular order until No. 25 is deposited, when a layer of earth shall be placed on the twenty-five coffins thus deposited; No. 26 shall then be placed at the southeast corner, directly in the rear and in a line with No. 1; No. 27 adjoining, and so on until No. 50 is interred, which will be directly in the rear, and on a straight line with No. 25, then covered with a layer of earth, similar to those numbered from 1 to 25, thus completing the first stratum of coffins in the trench. No. 51 shall then be placed directly over No. 1; No. 52 over No. 2, and so on until No. 75 is interred over No. 25, then covered as before from 1 to 25; No. 76 being placed directly over No. 26; and so on in the regular order until No. 100 is interred directly over No. 50, thus completing the second stratum of coffins; No. 101 shall then be placed directly over Nos. 1 and 51, and so on in regular order until No. 125 is placed directly over No. 75, then half the trench shall be permanently covered. No. 126 shall then be placed directly over Nos. 26 and 76, and so on in regular order until No. 150 is placed directly over Nos. 50 and 100, when the trench shall be considered full, and finally covered; a new trench, to be numbered trench No. 2, shall then be commenced and filled in the manner above provided, and succeeded by trench No. 3, and so on for the future in this and all other of the city cemeteries. At the head of each tier of coffins shall be placed a proper and durable board or stone, with the numbers corresponding with the numbers on such coffins placed therein, with figures made of iron or other durable metal, or branded thereon in such a manner as to be indelible. Each trench, when completed, and the numbers placed at the head of each tier of coffins, shall be inclosed by a substantial fence, leaving a space sufficient to pass between it and the head-boards, to admit of the passage of two persons to afford an opportunity to inspect each head-board, to ascertain the numbers thereon.

SECTION 3. A register of burials shall be kept by the Superintendent, or other person in charge of the city cemetery, which shall be so arranged that the name of each person interred shall be numbered to correspond with the numbers on the head-boards of the tiers of coffins deposited in each trench, and shall be accessible, at all reasonable times, for the inspection of the public or the use of any person desiring to ascertain the particular place in which any person may be buried. A duplicate copy of such register shall be kept in the office of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction.
