

Summary

NYC Emergency Management (NYCEM), with the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (NYC Health Department), and other sibling agencies maintain plans and protocols in place to guide New York City's response to heat emergencies, including plans for cooling the public, messaging, and providing guidance to individuals, agencies, and the private sector on suggested safe behavior during periods of extreme heat.

Heat-Related Terminology and Triggers

- Heat Index: an estimate of how it feels when air temperature and humidity are combined. See the National Weather Service Heat Index Chart for more information.
- Heat Wave: in New York City, a heat wave is defined as at least three consecutive days with high temperatures of at least 90°F.
- Heat Advisory: issued by the National Weather Service when the heat index is forecast to reach 95°F to 99°F for at least two consecutive days or 100°F to 104°F for any length of time.
- Extreme Heat Watch: issued by the National Weather Service 24 to 48 hours in advance when the heat index values are forecast to reach or exceed 105°F for at least two consecutive hours.
- Extreme Heat Warning: issued by the National Weather Service when the heat index is forecast to reach or exceed 105°F for at least two consecutive hours within the next 24 hours.
- Air Quality Index: reports how clear or polluted the air is. It is issued by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation and relayed by the National Weather Service.
- Triggers for Activating the City's Heat Emergency Plan:
 - Predicted heat index of 95°F or higher for two days or more
 - Predicted heat index of 100°F or higher for one day or more

Assessment of Cooling Needs

The New York City Heat Vulnerability Index (HVI) compares the risk of dying during and immediately after an extreme heat event across NYC neighborhoods. Developed by NYC Health Department and Columbia University, the HVI is based on an analysis of heat-related mortality in New York City. The HVI helps the City prioritize resources to neighborhoods identified as having a high risk of the adverse health impacts of extreme heat. Through its comprehensive Cool Neighborhoods NYC strategy, the City has taken proactive steps to keep New York City communities safe during extreme heat events. These actions include programming to promote community resiliency through increased social cohesion, outreach efforts to educate residents about heat risks and resources, such as cooling assistance available through the Home Energy Assistance Program

(HEAP), coating roofs white, and planting street trees in areas with high heat vulnerability.

Heat exposure can lead to heat-related illness or worsen existing chronic conditions, sometimes leading to death. In New York City, most heat-stress deaths happen after exposure to heat in un-air-conditioned homes among people who have one or more other risk factors. These risk factors are older age (60+ years), having a chronic medical conditions or serious mental health condition, socially isolated or with limited mobility, alcohol or drug misuse, or taking medications that impact a person's ability to stay cool. More than 500 people annually are estimated to die prematurely due to hot weather in New York City. Read more about heat-related deaths in NYC here.

Access to air conditioning is the primary intervention for preventing heat-related deaths and a significant health equity issue. Approximately 9% of city households do not have air conditioning, but as many as 25% of households are without residential cooling in environmental justice communities. Access is lowest among low-income households and Latinx and Black New Yorkers. For New Yorkers without access to a safe home environment during extreme heat, the City provides cooling centers where anyone can access air conditioning and reduce their risk.

Structural and institutional racism directly impacts both individual and community risk during an extreme heat event. Legacies of underinvestment in Black and Latinx neighborhoods, compounded by systems of oppression deeply woven into existing social, economic, and health systems, contribute to vast inequities across our city. These inequities, including access to resources that protect health, such as safe and stable housing, affordable energy and economic opportunities, present significant barriers for individuals and communities to accessing home cooling, a key intervention in decreasing heat-related illness and death. Limited resources also contribute to higher burdens of chronic medical conditions among Black New Yorkers. As a result, Black New Yorkers are more likely to die during extreme heat than other New Yorkers, and communities with a higher percentage of Black residents have higher neighborhood- level heat risks.

Public Outreach and Communication

Overview

When the City's Heat Emergency Plan is activated, verified, and approved, messaging can be disseminated through citywide channels, including press releases, NYC.gov websites, Notify NYC, NYC Advance Warning System, 311, and social media channels. City agencies' respective press and communications teams are chiefly responsible for ensuring messaging is accurate, timely, consistent, and accessible to the whole community.

NYC Emergency Management Communications

- Notify NYC: Notify NYC is New York City's official source for information about emergency events and important City services. Notify NYC will strategically message subscribers about impacts to area and community, etc. Notify NYC notifications are available in 14 different languages and American Sign Language (ASL) video format. Visit NYC.gov/notifynyc for more information.
- NYC Advance Warning System (AWS): AWS is New York City's emergency alert system for organizations that serve people with disabilities and others with access and functional needs.
- Media: Through its press office, NYCEM will coordinate press releases and inquiries relating to the event, as well as press briefings/conferences for the City's response. Press releases and information will be shared with media, community partners, private-sector partners, etc., as needed.
- Non-English speakers: NYCEM seeks to engage with local and ethnic media and employs several individuals who speak languages other than English who are prepared to appear on ethnic TV or radio to disseminate information. Local Law 83 of 2021 requires NYCEM to spend 50% of its advertising dollars to media in languages other than English, which provides a framework for NYCEM to advertise extensively in ethnic and community newspapers. Additionally, Ready New York's Beat the Heat outreach materials surrounding emergency planning with respect to extreme heat, are available online in a number of different languages. NYCEM also works with the NYC Health Department and the Mayor's Office of Immigrant Affairs on a regular basis to best address the needs of the City's non-English speaking neighbors.
- Language Access: NYCEM is in compliance with Local Law 30 of 2017 which requires the designation of ten languages for which all covered agencies would be required to provide language access services.
- Elected Official Outreach: Agencies will amplify messaging to elected officials and send them heat preparedness resources that they can send to their constituents.

NYC Health Department Communications

- Health Alert Network (HAN): The Health Alert Network (HAN) shares public health information, including health information related to emergencies, with medical providers. This includes up-to-date health alert information, an online document library on public health topics, and an online community to exchange information and ideas with colleagues. For more information, visit Health Alert Network online.
- Mass Communication to Community Partners: The NYC Health Department sends a mass email to community partners from across the entire agency, including community- and faith-based organizations and houses of worship, through Public Health Partners Connect. The NYC Health Department sends out heat-related guidance during a heat advisory to daycares and camps and also disseminates messaging to mental health providers. The NYC Health Department also relaunched the Be a Buddy (BaB) program in early 2025. The program funds and trains community-based organizations and older adult centers to activate volunteer networks to check on residents at higher risk during heat events within BaB communities.
- Outreach Presentations: Community organizations may request heat health safety presentations from the NYC Health Department through an online request form or through the Neighborhood Health Action Centers' community engagement teams. The presentations are offered in English and Spanish and provide information on and facilitate discussion of summer heat safety, including how to sign up for Notify NYC and how to apply for HEAP cooling assistance. Starting in 2020, the NYC Health Department and NYCEM (Community Preparedness) have collaborated annually to deliver presentations virtually and in person.
- Heat Health Training: The heat health training is a curriculum created by the NYC Health Department to train “trusted messengers,” such as community health workers about how to keep their clients safe during extreme heat events. The training can also be tailored for different audiences with less medical background including faith leaders/houses of worship, organizational leaders, emergency managers, and community engagement staff, and community-based organizations (CBOs). Before the COVID-19 pandemic, the Mayor’s Office of Climate Resiliency hosted a series of training sessions at Neighborhood Health Action Centers in heat-vulnerable neighborhoods.

Citywide Messaging Strategies

- NYC 311 Messaging and Coordination: City agencies will work closely with 311 to ensure updates are made related to the incident.
- Website Management, Development, and Messaging: Agency websites will reflect updates on the incident as needed.
- Social Media: To ensure that a consistent, unified message is communicated through social media channels, City agencies will amplify information regarding the incident and related impacts to residents/communities. Public-facing links to these items, where applicable, can be found below:

Strategies From City Agencies and Private-Sector Partners

- Beat the Heat: The Beat the Heat campaign encourages New Yorkers to prepare for extreme heat by knowing the hazards they may face, having a plan, and staying informed:

 - Request a spray cap for a fire hydrant through 311 and FDNY

NYC Department of Social Services (DSS) Programming:

- During a heat emergency, a Code Red may be issued which makes shelter available system-wide to accommodate homeless individuals. Outreach teams will contact vulnerable individuals on their Code Red priority lists to encourage them to accept services, including transportation to shelter placement. Accommodations are also available for walk-ins.

Office Building Energy Reduction

In the event of the City activating the Heat Emergency Plan and an Extreme Heat Emergency Declaration by Executive Order, City agencies are required to set municipal building thermostats to 78 degrees or higher. Owners of private office buildings that are 25,000 square feet or greater will also be required to set thermostats to 78 degrees or higher. Exemptions will be made for certain buildings that provide critical health or disability services or buildings that have critical equipment that require certain levels of cooling. The mandate would be in effect for the extent of the heat wave or heat advisory. To promote greater compliance private building landlords are encouraged to send notices to office tenants of the heat wave/heat advisory event and the thermostat requirements. Physical signage in buildings is also encouraged.

Cooling Centers

Safety

Cooling centers are air-conditioned spaces, such as older adult centers, community centers, public libraries, and other public facilities that typically operate during daytime hours and are free and open to the public. Cooling centers are facilities managed by agency partners who determine each site's hours of operation and level(s) of accessibility. Given this, a cooling center may not be available for several reasons, including, but not limited to, a designated space being used for another purpose, an ongoing capital improvement, and a broken air conditioner.

Cooling centers that are available for public use will be listed on the Cooling Center Finder, an online tool where New Yorkers can see what cooling centers are open during a heat emergency. New Yorkers also may call 311 for this information. NYCEM, the Mayor's Office of Climate and Environmental Justice, and the NYC Health Department are working together to expand the number of cooling centers throughout the city using the HVI as a guide.

Disease Control Guidelines

All cooling centers are required to comply with any current local, state, and federal laws, rules, and regulations regarding infection control, including ventilation, social distancing, face-covering compliance, and disinfection protocols. NYCEM will coordinate with facility management and the NYC Health Department to provide any necessary training— virtual or in-person — for health-related safety, if safety requirements are established for cooling center use.

In addition:

- If physical distancing and occupancy restrictions are required, NYC Health will provide guidance at the time of activation. Cooling centers must have capacity to modify the space for occupancy with reduced capacity in order to adhere to any physical distancing guidance.
- Centers will follow current guidance on best ventilation practices from NYC health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at time of activation.
- Restrooms will be offered with adequate hand-washing facilities, including soap, working faucets, and drying materials. A handwashing sign will be posted in every restroom or near hand-washing areas.
- Accessible drinking water will be available for visitors. Paper cups will be available to people who cannot access a drinking fountain.
- Cleaning and disinfection will occur regularly.
- Staff, volunteers, and visitors will be told to remain at home if sick.

Potential Cooling Centers as of May 15, 2025

Please see Exhibit 1 following this report, current data as of May 15, 2025. Cooling centers are facilities managed by partners who determine each site's hours of operation and level(s) of accessibility.

Please note that a site's designation for potential use as a cooling center does not mean that the site will be used every time there is a heat emergency. This list should not be used as a guide, nor should it be disseminated publicly. Cooling center facilities are managed by agency partners who determine each site's hours of operation and level(s) of accessibility. Weekend availability may be limited as many facilities do not have regular operating hours on Saturdays or Sundays. The public is encouraged through messaging to check the Cooling Center Finder online or call 311 to find out which cooling centers are available to them at that time as sites come online or offline continuously.

When activated, the Cooling Center Finder is updated continuously during the heat emergency in real time.

When the Cooling Center Finder is not activated, the website will read: “Cooling Centers are NOT activated at this time. NYC opens cooling centers in air-conditioned, public facilities during extreme heat events to help prevent heat-related illnesses or deaths. Visit this site during heat emergencies for updated cooling center information, including locations and hours of operation.”
