ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

■ NOTICE

V A R I A N C E

BACKGROUND

On November 20, 2012, ECC, a contractor engaged in the Hurricane Sandy recovery effort, filed a petition for a variance from applicable provisions of the Air Pollution Control Code (APCC) (Title 24, Chapter 1 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York). ECC seeks to conduct a seven day pilot test of an air curtain burner (ACB) to combust storm-related vegetative debris, consisting of shredded and unshredded trees, limbs, and branches ("Tree Debris") generated by Hurricane Sandy. On November 23, 2012, the New York City Department of Environmental Protection published notice of having received the petition in the City Record.

On October 29 to 30, 2012, Hurricane Sandy struck New York City. Among the many impacts of this unprecedented storm, thousands of trees were felled or damaged; it is estimated that the total amount of such Tree Debris exceeds 100,000 cubic yards. Although Tree Debris is typically managed through composting or other means, given the vast quantity caused by Hurricane Sandy, the proper disposal of this debris has become a significant impediment to the successful cleanup of the City's streets, sidewalks, and parks. Large amounts of this debris are being stockpiled at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn, Cunningham Park in Queens, and other locations; such stockpiling poses certain public safety risks, as discussed below.

ACBs operate by forcefully projecting a curtain of air across an open chamber in which combustion occurs. They are designed to reduce wood debris to ash while minimizing particulate emissions. The ACB is proposed to be located at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn.

Section 24-118 of the APCC provides that "No person shall cause or permit the installation of refuse burning equipment." "Refuse burning equipment" is defined in Section 24-104(46) as "equipment designed to burn waste material, garbage, and refuse."

Section 24-149 of the Administrative Code provides that "No person shall cause or permit the kindling, maintenance, or use of any open fire so as to cause the emission of an air contaminant into the open air..." Five exceptions are set forth, but the operation of an ACB to dispose of waste generated by a hurricane does not fall into any of the exceptions.

Section 24-104(36) of the Administrative Code defines "open fire" as "any fire wherein the products of combustion are emitted directly into open air and are not directed thereto through a stack, conduit, flue, duct or similar device."

ACBs fall within the definition of "refuse burning equipment" and the use of an ACB falls within the definition of "open fire." ACBs may therefore be operated in New York City only pursuant to a variance from Sections 24-118 and 24-149 of the APCC.

Section 24-110(a) of the Administrative Code provides that "the commissioner [of DEP] may grant individual variances...beyond the limitations prescribed by this code, whenever it is found, upon presentation of adequate proof, that compliance with any provisions of this code...would impose unreasonable hardship."

CLAIM OF UNREASONABLE HARDSHIP

In its Petition, ECC sets forth several bases to support a finding of unreasonable hardship. They may be summarized as follows:

- Using limited trucking and disposal resources for disposal of Tree Debris would divert these resources from the more urgent task of disposing of putrescible and noxious waste, which presents a greater public health hazard.
- The large stockpiles of Tree Debris which are accumulating at Floyd Bennett Field, Cunningham Park and other locations pose a fire hazard. As of November 24, it is reported that one of the waste piles' internal temperature was 100 degrees Fahrenheit and is expected to climb to 130-140 degrees Fahrenheit in the next 30 days.
- Since some of the Tree Debris was generated from areas infested with the Asian Longhorned Beetle, it is necessary to destroy it promptly in a way which will prevent any possibility that the beetle may spread to uninfested areas.
- It is currently estimated that over 100,000 cubic yards of Tree Debris were generated by Hurricane Sandy. This is far more than can be used for compost under existing arrangements for management of woody debris, and incineration of a portion of the waste will greatly reduce its volume.

FINDING OF UNREASONABLE HARDSHIP

In light of the above, I find that ECC has demonstrated unreasonable hardship and hereby grant ECC a limited Variance from Sections 24-118 and 24-149, for a period of a maximum of seven day. As detailed below, only one ACB shall be installed for the sole purpose of conducting s, pilot burning. The pilot burning shall provide DEP additional information to evaluate the performance of the ACB and determining the feasibility of complying with proposed operating opacity limits as well as the appropriate ratio of unshredded to shredded woody debris while additional alternatives to this activity are explored. My decision is informed by the following additional considerations:

- ECC contacted 20 companies identified as reusing or landfilling shredded or unshredded wood, and received positive responses from two companies deemed to be economically viable. These companies must regrind shredded wood to meet the maximum size requirements associated with the quarantine of the Asian Longhorned Beetle, and export from New York City requires approval of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other authorities.
- Assuming that this authority is granted, the two companies can accommodate roughly 85,000 cubic yards of the estimated 150,000 to 200,000 cubic yards of shredded and unshredded debris. It will take approximately 30 days for the two companies to remove 85,000 cubic yards.
- The New York City Parks Department and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will continue to pursue reuse and alternative methods of disposal of shredded material to the maximum extent practicable.
- ACBs have been used frequently to dispose of vegetative waste during disaster recovery operations in the United States and around the world. Under Federal regulations (40 CFR 60.2969), ACBs may be used to combust debris for a limited time period in an area where the state or local government has declared that a State of Emergency exists, or where the President has declared that an emergency or major disaster exists; both of these conditions apply to New York City in the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy.
- The prior use of ACBs in New York State has resulted in very few complaints from nearby residents.
- In terms of reduction of air pollution, DEP modeling based on the best available information shows that the combustion of Tree Debris using ACBs will generate less overall emissions of the primary pollutant of concern, fine particulate matter (known as PM 2.5) than the use of trucks to remove the waste to transfer or disposal locations outside of the City, although either option would have a de minimis impact on overall air quality and ambient concentrations of particulate matter in particular, given the many other sources of that pollutant in the New York City area.
- DEP is coordinating monitoring of ambient air with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation. There will be two air monitors located in neighbors north of the operating area (Gerritsen Beach and Mill Basin) and one air monitor located in a neighborhood south of the operating area (Rockaways).
- The conditions set forth below will, to the extent practicable, reduce the impacts of the operation of the ACBs on nearby sensitive receptors.

CONDITIONS

This Variance is subject to compliance with the following conditions:

1. The Variance shall be effective from November 27, 2012 through December 3, 2012 ("Pilot Period") or until such DEP requires termination of the pilot, whichever comes first. No operations shall continue beyond that period absent the grant of a new Variance.
2. Only one ACB shall be operated.
3. Only Tree Debris related to Hurricane Sandy shall be combusted. Any other materials found to be in a Tree Debris pile must be promptly segregated.
4. Material must not be added to the ACB in such a manner as to be stacked above the air curtain.
5. If a proper mix of shredded and unshredded Tree Debris cannot be maintained so as to minimize the emission of air pollution from the ACB, then operation of the ACB shall cease until the correct mix of materials can be established.
6. The ACB must be operated at an opacity level of less than or equal to 10 percent (six-minute average) except during the first 30 minutes of operation, when it must be operated at an opacity level of less than or equal to 35 percent (six-minute average).
7. Opacity measurements shall be taken by a certified Method 9 opacity observer, and shall be taken every 20 minutes during daylight hours.
8. DEP may order the cessation of ACB operations at any time prior to the expiration of the Pilot Period upon a determination that the ACB is consistently operating within the prescribed opacity limits.
9. The ACB may be operated up to 9 hours per day, during daylight hours only.
10. The ACB may not be operated when the wind speed at the container measures 20 miles per hour or greater.
11. An operator must be present at all times when the ACB is operating, and the operator shall be qualified and trained in the proper operation of the ACB.
12. The ACB shall be installed and operated in the location depicted in the operating plan submitted

- with the Petition for Variance.
- Upon notice from DEP or the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) that there is an inversion or other weather condition which could cause operation of the ACB to violate air quality standards or cause significant air pollution, operation of the ACB shall cease until resumption is authorized. Operations shall be prohibited in wind speed of greater than 20 mph that are sustained for more than 1 hour, as established by the weather stations at JFK or LaGuardia airports.
 - If any air monitoring conducted in the vicinity of the ACB shows unacceptable levels of air pollution as determined by DEP or DEC, operation of the ACB must be adjusted or terminated in accordance with DEP instructions.
 - Ash must be removed from the ACB during burning as necessary to maintain efficient combustion.
 - Ash must be removed from the ACB in such a manner as to minimize the ash becoming airborne.
 - All material removed from the ACB must be completely extinguished before being disposed of and must be stored in a manner which does not constitute a fire hazard or allow material to smolder or burn outside of the ACB. Ash shall be disposed of in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, and best efforts shall be made to utilize the ash in a beneficial way.
 - The storage and handling of Tree Debris shall comply with the attached guidelines from the New York City Fire Department.
 - Records of all opacity measurements and hours of - operation shall be maintained for the ACB, and shall be provided to DEP and by electronic mail on a daily basis, and upon request. Records may be sent to DEP at gerryk@dep.nyc.gov.

- Any excursion from opacity and other operating limits shall be reported immediately to DEP.
 - Records of the amount of material handled, the ratio of chipped to unchipped woody debris, the amount of ash generated shall be maintained on a daily basis, and records of burn temperature if available shall be maintained on an hourly basis.
 - Records of any complaints received and any responsive action shall be maintained for each occurrence, and notification of any such complaints shall be provided to DEP on a daily basis via electronic mail.
 - At the end of the Pilot Period, ECC shall submit a written report detailing the results of the pilot operations including, but not limited to: amount of wood burned; emissions data; complaints and responses thereto; and recommendations on any future proposal to operate ACBs to limit, to the maximum extent practicable, the emissions and any nuisance odors from ACB operations.

ENFORCEMENT

DEP shall have the right to enter and inspect premises, logbooks, and records without notice. This Variance may be suspended or terminated upon a determination by DEP that ECC is not in compliance with any condition of this Variance, or upon a determination by DEP that continued operation of the ACB is not in the public interest.

Upon notification to ECC that this Variance is suspended or revoked, operation of the ACB shall cease immediately.

Continued operation of the ACB after suspension or termination of this variance may result in the issuance of a Notice of Violation pursuant to applicable provisions of the APCC.
