2. Specify the reasons why collection and retention of identifying information specified above furthers the purpose or mission of your agency.

DOI investigates corruption, fraud, conflicts of interest, mismanagement, and other abuses involving the City. DOI investigations result in the arrest and prosecution of individuals and entities found to have engaged in criminal activity, as well as recommendations to agencies to improve City operations. DOI's Inspector General units, operationally called Squads, span all City agencies.

DOI's investigations impact every city agency, numerous state and federal government offices, and many private businesses and individuals doing business with the city. While conducting investigations into waste, fraud, and abuse, DOI routinely collects information from both public and private sources, securely retains that information, and may disclose that information on a need to know basis when DOI believes that criminal, civil, or administrative action is appropriate.

DOI's authority derives from Chapter 34 of the City Charter and executive orders issued pursuant thereto, most notably Executive Order 16 of 1978, as amended.

3. Describe the types of collections and disclosures classified as: (1) pre-approved as "routine," (2) pre-approved as routine by APOs of two or more agencies, or (3) approved by the APO on a case-by-case basis. Appendix B of the 2020 Agency Guidance includes detailed examples of routine and non-routine collections and disclosures, with descriptions.

Describe the Collection or Disclosure	Classification Type
The investigations units (Squads) within DOI may collect and disclose information related to and received in the course of law enforcement investigations. Collection of identifying information is necessary to the successful investigation of cases because investigators must identify the relevant subjects and witnesses, follow investigatory leads, and collect relevant evidence.  Investigatory records are retained indefinitely pursuant to DOI's Records Management Policy and Record Retention Schedule.  Disclosure of investigatory records generally occurs when a criminal case is jointly investigated with a prosecutor or other law enforcement agency; a criminal matter is referred to prosecutors or other law enforcement agencies; a case is referred to civil authorities for administrative action; or a case is referred to City agencies for possible disciplinary or other agency action.	<ul> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> </ul>
DOI's Department of Investigation-Complaint Unit (CU) is the central unit responsible for receiving and disseminating complaints filed with DOI. DOI performs investigations to root out corruption, identify mismanagement, and strop fraud perpetrated by a City agency, employee, or people who receive funding or benefits from the City.  The CU collects information that is reported to it, or found on internal database reviews. The information may be disclosed to the oversight unit or agency as part of referring the complaint for any action deemed appropriate.	<ul> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> </ul>
DOI's Background Investigation Unit (BIU) conducts confidential background investigations of high level New York City employees, or persons selected to work in decision-making or sensitive City positions, which helps hiring/appointing agencies determine if the candidate is suited to serve the public trust.  The BIU collects personal information regarding City employees and temporary personnel and may disclose the information to the hiring/appointing agency and other law enforcement agencies.  DOI's Fingerprint Unit (FPU) is responsible for fingerprinting individuals who work at child care, home care, and family care facilities that are under contract with the City of New York to assist the employer and oversight agency in making hiring/retention decisions.  The FPU collects personal information that is reported to it, or received from government resources. This information may be disclosed to governmental agencies, the employer, the oversight unit, or agency.  DOI's VENDEX unit reports adverse DOI case history regarding potential city vendors to city agencies during the contracting process.  The VENDEX unit collects information that is reported by vendors seeking city contracts. The majority of the information is not routinely disclosed, and what is disclosed is often available to the contracting entities through their own information access.	<ul> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> </ul>
DOI's General Counsel's Office provides legal analysis and guidance regarding legal and compliance matters.  The work of the General Counsel's Office touches every aspect of agency operations and can include the collection information, whether sourced from an investigation, a contract, a complaint, an internal investigation, or other such source. While collection of identifying information is generally sourced directly from DOI files, the General Counsel's Office may additionally collect and retain such information as is referred to or submitted directly to the Office by other agencies or members of the public.  The General Counsel's Office may disclose information where required when referring matters to appropriate agencies, pursuant to a lawful order, where the law otherwise requires such disclosure, or where it is determined that disclosure is permissible by law and in the best interest of the agency.	<ul> <li>☑ Pre-approved as routine</li> <li>☑ Approve as routine by two or more agencies</li> <li>☑ Approved by APO on a case-by-case basis</li> </ul>

9. Describe the agency's current policies for handling proposals for disclosures of identifying information to other City agencies, local public authorities or local public benefit corporations, and third parties.

Disclosures already designated as routine and necessary to the agency's function by the Agency Privacy Officer, such as the results of background investigations, will continue. Any non-routine disclosures will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis by the Agency Privacy Officer. Where applicable, third parties may be directed to submit a Freedom of Information Law (FOIL) request.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(1)(c)(2)

10. Describe the agency's current policies regarding the classification of disclosures as necessitated by the existence of exigent circumstances or as routine.

Designation of routine collections and disclosures are reviewed and approved by the DOI Agency Privacy Officer and the Agency General Counsel. Any non-routine disclosure will require authorization from the Agency Privacy Officer and the Agency General Counsel.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(1)(c)(3)

11. Describe the agency's current policies regarding which divisions and categories of employees within an agency make disclosures of identifying information following the approval of the privacy officer.

DOI is committed to keeping its investigations confidential. Employees are not authorized to disclose information without executive approval. Exceptions may include where the agency is working in partnership with or at the behest of another agency, or where DOI has already entered into an agreement to share information.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(1)(c)(4)

12. Describe whether the agency has considered or implemented, where applicable, any alternative policies that minimize the collection, retention, and disclosure of identifying information to the greatest extent possible while furthering the purpose or mission of such agency.

DOI actively works to minimize the collection and disclosure of information unrelated to its core mission to investigate waste, fraud, and abuse.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(4)

13. Describe the agency's use of agreements for any use or disclosure of identifying information.

DOI has entered into numerous agreements with government agencies, database providers, and third parties in order to fulfill the agency's mission, provide investigatory services, or assist in the screening of applicants and the medical treatment of DOI Peace Officers.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(1)(d)

14. Using the table below, specify the types of entities requesting the disclosure of identifying information or proposals for disclosures of identifying information, and for each entity, describe (1) the reasons why an agency discloses identifying information to such entity, and (2) why any such disclosures furthers the purpose or mission of such agency.

Investigatory records may be disclosed in connection with a joint investigation or referral of a criminal matter for prosecution.	Pursuant to Executive Order 16 and Chapter 32 of the New York City Charter, DOI investigates corruption, fraud, conflicts of interest, mismanagement, and other abuses involving the City. Where appropriate, DOI refers the results of its investigations to prosecutor's offices for prosecution of criminal misconduct.
Investigatory records may be disclosed along with the referral of potential violations of Chapter 68 of the New York City Charter.	Pursuant to Executive Order 16 and Chapter 32 of the New York City Charter, DOI refers investigations to COIB in cases where DOI believes a City employee may have violated Chapter 68 of the New York City Charter. In addition, DOI may investigate an allegation at the request of COIB.
At the conclusion of an investigation (regarding an allegation of wrongdoing, a background investigation request, a fingerprint request by DOHMH for childcare services, or a Vendor Name Check request as part of a contract review), a summary letter or investigatory records may be disclosed to the relevant city agency.	Pursuant to Executive Order 16 and Chapter 32 or the New York City Charter, DOI refers the results of its investigations to city agencies for any disciplinary action deemed appropriate. The Background, Fingerprint and VENDEX Units also routinely respond to requests for information necessary for city agencies to determine eligibility for employment or to award a contract.
When requesting records pursuant to a subpoena or search warrant, DOI may disclose personal information to a private company in order for the private company to locate responsive records.	Pursuant to an authorized investigation, DOI may disclose information to allow a private company to identify records sought by a DOI subpoena or search warrant. Such records often include telephone or banking records.
DOI may share personal information with companies who maintain various proprietary law enforcement software programs that are used during investigations.	Pursuant to an authorized investigation, DOI may provide some personal information, such as a name, in order to assist in querying a law enforcement database pursuant to an investigation.
DOI may disclose employee information in order to provide medical care or assist in psychological screening for DOI's Peace Officer Program.	It is necessary for DOI to disclose employee information order for contracted parties to provide appropriate medical care and to assist in the psychological screening of applicants for DOI's Peace Officer Program. 15. Describe the impact of the Identifying Information Law and other applicable laws upon your agency's practices in relation to collection, retention, and disclosure of identifying information.

DOI has always taken confidentiality seriously. The introduction of the Identifying Information Law has reinforced DOI's long-standing commitment to providing effective oversight while being respectful of personal privacy and limiting disclosure of identifying information.

N.Y.C. Admin. Code §23-1205(a)(2)

16. Describe the impact of the privacy policies and protocols issued by the Chief Privacy Officer, or by the Citywide Privacy Protection Committee, as applicable, upon your agency's practices in relation to the collection, retention, and disclosure of identifying information.

DOI reviews all policies and protocols issues by the Chief Privacy Officer and the Citywide Privacy Protection Committee. The Guidance on Privacy Considerations Related to the City's Efforts to Combat Covid-19 informs all Covid-19 disclosures made by DOI. As confidentiality is a core attribute of our work, no additional changes to DOI practices are necessary at this time.
