The Board of Armory Commissioners or a sub-committee of the same, together with its Consulting Architects, Messrs. George B. Post and Henry J. Dear Sir.—In regard to the work done on the New Croton Dam for the week ending Friday, June 27, 1902, I would report as follows:

The removal of the wing-wall and core-wall at the south end of the dam continued, the core-wall being removed above elevation 110 and south of station 2 + 40. (See photos 1A and 4.) Excavation in the sidehill at the south end of the dam progressed with the steam shovel, both day and night (see photos 1A and 4), and an additional cut in the hard pan was made above the berm planned at elevation 100. Excavation also continued at elevation 80, on the upstream side of the south and of the dam south of stations 4 + 75 (see photo No. 2). Excavation was also begun near the top of the south slope at the south end of the dam at Gatchouse No. 1, to the left of station 1 + 00, with a shovel gang, derrick and cars.

The total amount of this excavation of embankment and sidehill at the south end of the dam, including material removed from the core-wall and wing-wall, would approximate 6,000 cubic yards for the week.

The laying of masonry (see Photo No. 3) continued at the north end of the dam with three gangs of masons working, distributed as follows, viz.:

One gang between stations 5 + 30 and 6 + 70 on main dam.

One gang at station 178K in overfall.

The total amount of masoury laid on the dam during the week approximated 460 cubic yards.

The force of men at work on the dam and at the quarties averaged 370.

the coal amount of massing lands the dam and at the quarries averaged 370.

The following communication was received from Williams & Gerstle, Contractors for the Muscoot Dam: Re Muscoot Dam.

New York, July 3, 1902.

Hon. William H. Ten Eyck, President of the Aqueduct Commissioners:

Dear Sir—In reply to your favor of the 1st inst., we beg leave to say that after a search of many months, we have secured the services of Mr. Peter F. Madden, as Superintendent of Construction of the Muscoot Dam, who is a thoroughly competent man, as no doubt your Engineers will admit. It was always our intention to increase our plant, but the conditions that prevailed were such that one-half of our plant was idle, including from 16 to 24 horses. Since Mr. Madden has taken charge we have considerably increased our plant, adding five additional derricks, one new pile driving machine, have 100,000 feet of sheath piling on the job, and have ordered three new hoisting engines. We are working all the men we can get, and are advertising weekly for more, and we beg leave here to say that it is a very difficult matter to get men, and it is equally as hard to retain them, as there is more work going on in the United States at the prezent time than was ever known before. With all this taken into consideration and the fact that we are paying 20 per cent, more wages than is usual in this locality, we trust that your Honorable Body will feel that we are doing as well as is possible under the circumstances.

Very respectfuly.

WILLIAMS & GERSTLE,

J. W.

Y.; also referring to an understanding with the Aqueduct Commissioners as to the condemnation of land for Road No. 9.

On motion of Commissioner Power, the same was referred to the Construction or Executive Committee.

The Commissioners then adjourned.

Mr. Joseph A. Flannery, attorney, representing the United Real Estate and Trust Company, objected to the excessive expenses connected with the work, amounting to nearly 27 per cent. of the cost of the contract.

The Board of Assessors stated that after hearing the objectors it had passed a resolution recommending that the Board of Revision of Assessments grant some relief to the property owners.

Mr. Mulqueen objected to the expense of the work and principally to that of interest.

The assessors made explanation of their action in apportioning the cost of the
