New York City's Energy and Water Use 2014 and 2015 Report

October 2017

NYC's latest comprehensive analysis on energy and water use in large buildings shows big decreases in greenhouse gas emissions in buildings across the City. Expanded energy benchmarking for buildings in all five boroughs will play a pivotal role in reaching the Mayor's goal of an 80 percent reduction in NYC's carbon emissions by 2050.

DOB Inspectors in Puerto Rico

commissioning Agents

1 RCNY 103-07 (effective 11.13.17)
The Department of Buildings (DOB) is amending section 103-07 of Title 1 of the Rules of the City of New York relating to the qualifications for energy auditors and retro-commissioning agents.

Requirements for Cableways used in Construction or Demolition

1 RCNY 3320-01 (effective 11.23.17)
This rule establishes requirements for cableways utilized in conjunction with the construction or demolition of a building or structure.

Requirements for the Approval of a Property Tax Abatement Application for the Installation of a Solar Electric Generating System

1 RCNY 105-02 (effective 10.6.17) The Department of Buildings (DOB) is amending section 105-02 of Title 1 of the Rules of the City of New York relating to tax abatements for solar electric generating systems. These amendments modify the prohibition of ballast for grade-level installations and clarify requirements of the New York City Building Code which apply to ballast systems.

Cranes and Derricks

1 RCNY 3319-01 (effective 10.6.17)
The amendment addresses the use of mini cranes in the construction industry, which represent a new and evolving class of technology, but do not fit into the current licensing classifications of Article 405, which are predominately geared towards larger cranes.

Individual Private On-Site Sewage Disposal Systems

1 RCNY 8001-01 (effective 10.18.17)
This rule regulates the design, construction, installation, alteration, maintenance and operation of individual private on-site sewage disposal systems when a permit is also issued for the construction or alteration of a building. This rule also repeals Reference Standard RS-16, Plumbing and Gas Piping, of the appendix to Chapter 1 of Title 27 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York.

Construction Document Approval Requirements For Compliance with the New York City Energy Conservation Code

Teams of DOB inspectors spent much of October on the ground in Puerto Rico, working alongside volunteers from NYC and across the USA to help the people of Puerto Rico get back on their feet after Hurricane Maria. They inspected thousands of buildings across the island, using their technical skills and expertise to aid in the recovery effort. $200K Settlement For Underpayment of DOB Fees

The New York City Law Department and DOB announced a $200,000 settlement with parties involved in the 2005 renovation of the Maritime Hotel in Chelsea, Manhattan. This case was originally brought to the City's attention by a whistleblower, who helped uncover that the owners, developers and design professionals associated with the renovation illegally underreported the cost of the project, and as a result underpaid permit fees owed to DOB.

Disciplinary Cases

DOB recently issued violations and $10,000 fines to four different individuals for failing to carry out their duties as construction superintendents.

A criminal court summons was issued to the owner of a Bronx building for failing to file Local Law 11 facade inspection reports in the last three cycles. As a result of these actions, the Department was able to compel the owner to file the appropriate inspection reports.

A criminal court summons was issued to a Manhattan property owner for failing to comply with numerous DOB orders to remove an illegal sign. After failing to show up at the scheduled hearing, a criminal court judge issued a $25,000 penalty to the owner and a bench warrant for their arrest.

DOB recently issued violations to two locations in Queens and one in Brooklyn for illegal alterations without proper DOB permits. $63,000 in fines were issued to the owners of these properties as a result of these violations.
