CITY OF NEW YORK, September 22, 1903.

J. W. STEVENSON, Esq., Secretary, Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

DEAR SIR—Herewith I transmit to you for consideration at your meeting on Wednesday, September 23, 1903, progress report of the Commission on Additional Water Supply, consisting of Mr. William H. Burr, Chairman, Mr. Rudolph Hering and Mr. John R. Freeman.

Respectfully,

R. G. MONROE,

Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

DEPARTMENT OF WATER SUPPLY, GAS AND ELECTRICITY, OFFICE OF COMMISSION ON ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY, NOS. 13-21 PARK ROW,

CITY OF NEW YORK, September 17, 1903.

Progress Report.

Hon. ROBERT GRIER MONROE, Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity:

SIR—We present herewith, in accordance with your request, an outline of the work undertaken and the progress made to date pursuant to our appointment of December 16, 1902, and instructions received since. While we have already reached certain general conclusions, our final conclusions as to many details must depend upon surveys, designs and estimates not yet completed, for our work has been and still is largely that of balancing one project against another in the effort to review all of the reasonable possibilities for enlarging and improving the water supply, and finally to recommend that which appears best or most expedient.

Prior to December 16, the date of our formal appointment, several informal conferences had been held and matters so outlined that the work of the Commission was begun promptly, and such progress has been already made that we expect to present our final report on November 15, 1903, the date originally prescribed. We are now enabled to present the following conclusions:

1. That, notwithstanding the most favorable anticipations relative to the prevention of waste, the immediate beginning of the construction of a large additional supply is urgent.

2. We were advised at the outset by the Corporation Counsel that, owing to probability of litigation and consequent delay, we should not consider any streams flowing from New York into a neighboring State or waters outside this State.

We find that it is possible to obtain an adequate additional supply of excellent water from streams lying wholly within the State of New York.

3. It is feasible to secure an additional supply, larger than the present Croton and Bronx supply plus the present Brooklyn supply, capable of gradual development up to five hundred million gallons per day, from the following sources:

(a) From certain of the eastern tributaries of the Hudson, namely, the upper Fishkill, the upper Wappinger and the upper Roeliff Jansen kill.

(b) From a portion of those just named in combination with the head waters of Esopus creek on the easterly side of the Catskill mountains.

(c) By pumping and filtering water taken from the Hudson river six miles or more above Poughkeepsie, or near Hyde Park; the flow in time of drought to be reinforced from storage reservoirs to be constructed in the Adirondacks for the purpose of preventing the upflow of salt water to the intake.

All other possible sources have been considered, but none possesses the advantages of those named.

Each of these sources involves some special difficulty, and each has some advantage in location, quality or expense. Our preliminary estimates show no great difference in total cost.

We are unanimous in our preference for the upland water to that of the Hudson, although the Hudson can be made pure and palatable by filtration and should be regarded as in reserve for the more remote future.

We recommend a gravity supply from the sparsely inhabited uplands immediately north of the Croton watershed and in the Catskills, but pending the completion of surveys and the comparison of detailed estimates we are not ready to state which of the storage reservoirs should be first built, or which of the watersheds of the Fishkill, Wappinger or Esopus creeks or the Jansen kill should be first developed.

We have had surveys made both for a high level aqueduct, delivering water at nearly 300 feet above tide at the northern limit of the City, and for a low level aqueduct, delivering at the same elevation as the present Croton supply, in order to study their relative costs, and we are unanimously of the opinion that the first additional supply introduced should be delivered at the high service elevation, which can be accomplished without pumping.

Manhattan has now two low level aqueducts and two large low level distributing reservoirs. The high service demands are growing rapidly, and in some of the higher parts of the city a heavy burden of expense in the aggregate is thrown upon owners or occupants in the necessity for house pumps. Under a lax administration the economy and repair of a pumping plant may suffer far greater impairment without attracting public notice than a gravity aqueduct system, and there are elements of safety in a high pressure gravity supply for use in connection with special fire protection mains in some of the extra hazardous conflagration districts.

4. It appears possible to obtain from the upper waters of the Fishkill, Wappinger, Jansen kill and Esopus creeks, by means of storage in the great reservoir sites now under survey, five hundred million gallons daily or as much thereof as needed, all of which will flow by gravity at such an elevation as to be delivered at the City limits at about 300 feet above tide water, or nearly as high as the present high-tower service, without pumping.

5. By a judicious mingling of the hard water of some of the above gravity watersheds with the soft water from others, the combined supply from these elevated sources will be fully as soft as the present Croton supply. This matter, however, requires further study of the effect of spring floods upon the softness and turbidity of the stored water before exact figures can be given.

6. After a full consideration of economy and expediency, in view of the fact that any possible aqueduct line must be largely in tunnel and must be built of size suitable for future needs, delivering at times more rapidly than at the average rate, we recommend that the next aqueduct be built of a capacity of five hundred million gallons per twenty-four hours.

7. We strongly recommend that the City should at once begin the construction of filters, both for the Croton water and for all other waters taken from surface streams, and we have surveys and plans for filtration in progress for each and all of the new sources recommended. Further plans and estimates must be completed before we are ready to state our conclusions as to the most favorable sites for filtration plants.

8. We consider that the surface streams that form so large a part of Brooklyn's present supply should either be filtered, as already in progress, taking the most polluted first, or that the ground water being naturally filtered should be taken, so far as practicable, by means of carefully planned wells or intercepting galleries of a design yet to be perfected.

9. The one great natural obstacle which limits the date of the early introduction of an additional supply from any and every adequate source within the State of New York, is found in the long deep tunnel under the mountains and hills east of Peekskill. There are also some high dams needed in some of the projects, and it now appears that under the most prompt action, and with the best of management, fully five years will be required after construction is begun before the water of any additional up-country supply can be delivered in New York.

10. For nearly its entire length the aqueduct has to be built of full size for its ultimate five hundred million gallons daily capacity, and although but two reservoirs be built at first, it is most expedient to construct them of full capacity and with their dams at full height. Therefore the first installment of the completed work will be the most expensive, and after this from time to time, as the City grows and its population increases, other reservoirs can be added or extensions made to more distant points at comparatively small outlay.

The preliminary estimates indicate that the expenditure for the first installment of the increased supply will be not far from fifty million dollars. This will complete the necessary dams, reservoirs, aqueducts, tunnels and filters, and acquire the necessary lands and rights sufficient for a daily supply of upward of two hundred million gallons.

This is a large sum, but for comparison we may note that the Boston Metropolitan District has, within the past eight years, expended about twenty million dollars upon an additional supply of about one hundred and ten million gallons daily, for a total population now of about one million.

The new Croton Aqueduct, about 30 miles long, built mainly between 1886 and 1892, cost complete about twenty million dollars. The Jerome Park Reservoir will cost probably eleven millions, and the New Croton Dam and accessory works probably ten millions; which, exclusive of recent reservoirs in the Croton watershed and other appurtenant works, brings the total up to more than forty million dollars for the extension of the Croton system since 1885.

The revenue of the Water Department for Greater New York collected in the current year will be upward of nine million dollars, and will normally show an increase of half a million dollars per year.

11. Our Long Island investigations, so far as completed, indicate that the water resources of Long Island should be utilized to the greatest possible extent for the public supply of communities on Long Island, including Brooklyn, and that the use of this water in general will be cheaper than to bring the additional water wholly from the north; moreover, its entire independence is a safeguard against disaster, but the greatest amount of additional water that can be had here without extensions into Suffolk County, may not be more than enough to take care of the natural growth of Brooklyn and the other Long Island communities until the water from the north becomes available, or until it becomes demonstrated to the public that ground waters from Suffolk County can be taken without real injury to local interests.

12. The need of a further water supply for Queens Borough is urgent, and we have recommended the development of the present ground water supply on lines already undertaken by the Department as submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

13. The Borough of Richmond has no adequate supply available within its own limits and its needs are also urgent. The increased supply for this borough may in time be taken from the water supply of Brooklyn when increased by the additional supply to be secured from the north. We approve of the measures now being taken to secure in the meantime the needed water from the nearest available supply on the mainland of New Jersey.

14. We find no possible quickly available and near source, or anything that would be worth the trouble or expense of development as an interim supply to make good the present excess of consumption in Manhattan and The Bronx over the recorded actual yield of the present watersheds in a year of extreme drought.

We therefore urge water-waste prevention in strongest terms as the best and cheapest safeguard; and, after having seen the result of the earnest efforts at waste prevention made in certain typical districts during the past season, by means of district meters and house to house inspection, urge the continuance and extension of this kind of work. The members of this Commission desire to record their unqualified recommendation of the immediate extension of metering to classes of buildings not yet included in the ordinances as one of the best means of permanent prevention of waste.

Progress of the Work.

The instructions of this Commission in brief were:

To investigate and report upon

1. The quickest and best method of reducing the waste of water.
2. Recommendations of the most practicable means for improving the quality.
3. The pressure and means of distribution for attaining the highest practicable degree of fire protection.
4. The probable future consumption of water, having in view the natural increase of population, increase in per capita use and the prevention of waste.
5. The future sources of supply most available in view of cost and quality, with estimates of their cost.
6. The feasibility of a temporary and supplementary supply.

Appreciating the large amount of important work to be done in a short time, this Commission, immediately after organization, divided the main portion of its work into six departments, and for taking charge of the detailed studies sought engineers of extended experience on similar recent large water works constructions near New York, Boston, Philadelphia, northeastern New Jersey and elsewhere. These departments are:

1. Eastern Aqueduct and Reservoir Department.
2. Catskill Department.
3. Filtration Department.
4. Chemical and Biological Department.
5. Long Island Department.
6. Department of Pumping.

Water Waste Prevention.

We were relieved from the necessity of establishing a department of studies of water waste by the fact that this work had already been begun in the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx by Mr. Nicholas S. Hill, Jr., Chief Engineer, and that it could be best carried on in connection with the regular work of the department having charge of valves, meters and distribution pipes. We are also informed that similar work has been inaugurated in the Borough of Brooklyn by Mr. I. M. de Varona, Chief Engineer. Pursuant to your desire for co-operation we made ourselves familiar with Mr. Hill's plans and had frequent conferences regarding the results of pitometer measurements and the house inspection, sewer inspection, etc., of typical districts; approving fully of the plan of work. The results have been already set forth in reports to you by Mr. Hill, from which we draw the following conclusions:

1. The leakage from the mains is much less than hitherto supposed. The distribution system of New York needs many new gate valves and hydrants to bring it into satisfactory condition, but the deterioration of the street mains is not such as to require extensive renewals to prevent waste.
2. The main sources of waste are leaky fixtures and defective plumbing design. The loss from leaky fixtures probably exceeds 15 per cent. of the total supply in the Manhattan and Bronx boroughs or upward of 40,000,000 gallons per day. The reduction of waste due to leaky fixtures can be accomplished by constant inspection, and that certainly has been done during the last twelve months, as demonstrated by the returns of the Chief Engineer submitted to us. The permanency of this reduction can only be secured by the continuance of the system of house to house inspection which has been so effectually conducted in these investigations in typical districts. Under the defective design of plumbing, hot and cold water pipes are usually placed adjacent to each other without proper circulation, requiring the waste of large quantities of water before securing either the hot or cold water desired. We do not believe it feasible to reduce materially the extravagant use of water due largely to defective plumbing design.
3. The reduction of all waste is effectively aided by the use of meters, which should be extended to other classes of buildings than those now metered. We recommend that all buildings over five stories in height be metered at the earliest practicable date. All meters should be owned, installed and maintained by the City and tested at regular intervals in order to secure reasonably effective service from them.
4. One important result demonstrated by these investigations is the absolute unfairness of frontage charges, leading to marked inequality of burden on users in different portions of the city. This is most manifest in connection with the large apartment houses covered by our recommendation to extend meters to all buildings over five stories in height.
5. These investigations have also demonstrated the necessity of considering the great transient population of the City when accounting for the per capita consumption. The per capita consumption in one residence and hotel district was found to be 175 gallons, based upon the resident population, and 121 gallons when based upon the combined resident and transient population. A district embracing a portion of the downtown office section disclosed a per capita consumption of 860 gallons per day when based upon resident population, and 83 gallons per day when based upon combined resident and non-resident population.
6. These investigations indicate that the possible saving by reduction in waste and extravagant use will not more than offset the natural increase in demand due to growth of the city, and hence the construction of an additional supply should be undertaken at the earliest practicable moment.

EASTERN AQUEDUCT AND RESERVOIR DEPARTMENT.

The Aqueduct and Reservoir Department, east of the Hudson river, began operations on February 4. These operations have thus far included the survey of about 125 miles of aqueduct locations extending from the Jerome Park Reservoir to Roeliff Jansen kill. These locations comprise 80 miles of line for aqueduct following the contour of the ground and designed to be built of masonry in open trench and covered by earth, about 40 miles of tunnel and about 5 miles of large steel pipe siphons; a part of the above being alternative projects. In addition, a large amount of open channel work has been surveyed.

The results of these field operations have been mapped to a large scale in permanent form suitable for future use.

A line of bench levels was run parallel to the aqueduct line, reference points were located at frequent intervals, and side topography was taken by the location party as the work advanced, so as to permit shifting the line to one side or the other, in order to gain economy in final studies. The surveys were tied to the triangulation points of the United States coast and Geodetic Survey and numerous places.

In the effort to fix upon the best possible location, the field parties are now retracing certain lines where alternative routes appear feasible, and where the best location was doubtful.

High Level Reservoir Studies.

Near Stormville and Billings, on the upper Fishkill, reservoir sites of about  $4\frac{1}{2}$  and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  square miles have been surveyed, contoured and plotted, and the capacities corresponding to various elevations of water surface computed. Jet borings are now in progress at the sites of the dams to determine the character of underlying strata and bed rock.

At Hibernia, on the upper Wappinger, surveys are being made of a promising site for a reservoir much larger than the New Croton Reservoir, requiring one main dam and a dike. Borings to determine the character and position of bed rock will soon be completed. Approximate estimates of capacity and cost of this reservoir have already been made.

Near Clinton Hollow, about 12 miles northeast of Poughkeepsie, on the upper Wappinger, surveys for a high level reservoir have been begun, and will require about six weeks for completion.

Near Silvernails, on the upper Roeliff Jansen kill, about 25 miles northeast of Poughkeepsie, an excellent site for a high level reservoir, covering about 9 square miles, has been surveyed, contoured and plotted, with dam site plans in detail. These plans and estimates are well advanced toward completion.

Surveys of large terminal reservoirs have been made, and a contour plotting completed ready for studies of excavation and embankments and estimates of cost.

Low Level Reservoir Studies.

In connection with the low level aqueduct lines, extensive surveys, covering 17 square miles have been made of a possible site for a great reservoir near Fishkill, and a large portion of the work is plotted. This survey presented unexpected difficulties, among which are the many thickly wooded swamps. These swamps are all surveyed and the depths of muck determined.

On the Wappinger, surveys covering 10 square miles have been made for a low level reservoir, and several dam sites have been studied. Contour plans of this reservoir site have been drawn.

Other surveys have been made in an extended study of other possibilities for large reservoir sites at suitable elevations east of the Hudson river, by means of the maps of the United States Geological Survey and reconnaissance in the field.

Comparative designs and estimates have been made to determine the best and most economical sections for aqueducts and tunnels, the best method of tunnel lining and other structural details from which close estimates of cost will be soon made, or from which contract drawings may be prepared.

Diversion Damages.

The data for estimates of damage to water powers and factory sites on each of the streams where a diversion of water is proposed have been collected. Nearly every factory has been visited and notes made of its water fall, power and use of water. The estimates of money value of damage sustained by the diversion have as yet been only approximated, but at what is thought to be an outside amount.

CATSKILL DEPARTMENT.

The Catskill Department was organized early in March. The principal work of this Department has been done in the Esopus valley, but it extended into the upper portions of the Schoharie and Catskill valleys. The surveys made two years ago under the former Department of Water Supply were availed of as far as possible.

Surveys in which much detail have shown that near Bishop's Falls on the Esopus a dam can be built higher than heretofore supposed practicable, which will flood an area of more than 14 square miles and form a storage reservoir of more than double the available capacity of the new Croton Reservoir when completed, and of admirable form for holding the water several months in storage in transit from the river to the aqueduct, thus favoring purification, sedimentation, bleaching and the destruction of pathogenic germs.

In this work a stadia survey was made of nearly 10 square miles of more or less broken and wooded land, together with a less complete survey of six square miles more. Contour and other maps of this site have been completed.

The Ulster and Delaware Railroad runs through this reservoir site and two alternative surveys for its relocation, comprising 28 miles of location, have been run with such full detail that quantities and costs can be closely estimated. Nearly 1,000 test pits have been dug on the reservoir site in order to determine the character of the ground and the requirements for stripping or covering areas of peat or muck.

Other reservoir sites in the Esopus valley have been located at Cold Brook, Lake Hill, Wittenburg, Shandaken and Big Indian. Careful stadia surveys have been made of each, covering more than 5 square miles within projected flow lines; 5 dam sites have been studied, all property lines have been located, and the necessary plans made for estimating quantities and costs of each.

A tunnel line 13 miles long crossing under the Catskill range from the Schoharie Watershed into the Esopus valley has been reconnoitered and surveyed, and stadia surveys have been made of four reservoir and dam sites in the upper Schoharie Watershed on the northwestern slopes of the Catskill mountains, available for supplementing the Esopus in the more distant future. The computation of contents and the maps of these Schoharie reservoir sites are not yet completed, but they are well advanced.

For the sewage disposal of the villages of the Esopus region, mainly summer colonies, careful studies have been made, together with a detailed sanitary inspection of the whole region. Detailed plans for sewage disposal works have been made for the villages of Pine Hill, Chichester and Phoenicia, with estimates of cost. On the Schoharie Watershed surveys have been made for a trunk sewer for the removal of the sewage of the entire valley to a point below the lowest reservoir. On Catskill creek considerable work of a similar kind has been done.

Rainfall Studies.

Much study has been given to the rainfall of the Catskill mountain region to determine its volume in comparison with that of the Croton Watershed. This has involved a painstaking scrutiny of all available records, correction of errors and the establishment of ten new stations, together with the observations of the latter. A river gauging station was established on the Esopus near the principal dam site, in co-operation with the United States Geological Survey, and daily observations were maintained. Two rain gauges have been established high up on the mountainside in representative locations on opposite sides of the valley for comparing the rainfall on the heights with that in the valley. The indications are that it is materially larger, but the observations and studies so far made are not extended enough to warrant conclusions, and, like many other series of meteorological and hydrographic observations begun by this Commission, should be taken in charge by the regular engineering staff of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity and continued for a series of years.

FILTRATION DEPARTMENT.

Surveys were begun on February 19, 1903. At first the work of the entire force was directed toward the discovery, surveying and mapping of all areas along the aqueduct routes lying at suitable elevation and of sufficient size for filter sites.

Following the map studies and a reconnaissance, lines of bench levels starting from the precise level benches of the United States Government near Tarrytown, Fishkill Landing and Poughkeepsie were run for more than 50 miles on circuits through the territory in which filter sites were sought. Based on these levels, stadia surveys were made of the available areas near Brinkerhoff, Fishkill, Stormville, Freedom Plains, La Grangeville and Pleasant Valley in Dutchess County, Elm-for, Scarsdale, Greenville and other points in Westchester County, in order that comparative estimates of cost and construction could be made and the most economical sites selected. This work involved the survey of 42 square miles of territory, the running of 200 miles of traverse lines, and about 40,000 locations with elevation and position, sufficient points being taken to admit of locating contours at five-foot intervals. Eighty-eight survey sheets have so far been prepared and are now in use in making the final studies.

Filtration projects suitable for each of four independent schemes have been worked out covering all the projects for upland and Hudson river waters and for the filtration of the Croton supply.

Studies for improved methods of handling the sand and otherwise lessening the cost are now well advanced, designs of standard details such that full working drawings can be promptly made for filter construction are now in preparation, and a close estimate of cost will follow.

We hope to be able on November 15 to present complete plans for a first installment of filters of 50 million gallons per day capacity.

CHEMICAL AND BIOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

This Department was organized in the latter part of December, 1902, so as to be in readiness to collect samples of the winter or spring flood waters in all streams available for water supply.

The sanitary investigations extended from the Narrows to the headwaters of the Hudson along its principal affluents. Samples were taken from the principal eastern tributaries all the way from the Croton watershed north to Schroon lake in the Adirondacks. On the western bank the Esopus, Roundout and Catskill creeks were investigated. The streams on Long Island east of the present watershed of the Brooklyn supply were also frequently sampled.

The entire territory examined covered over 15,000 square miles. The magnitude of the work may be appreciated by the statement that between January 1 and September 1 over 4,000 samples of water had been collected and examined.

In this Department we availed ourselves of the excellent facilities of the Mount Prospect Laboratory of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, and all the sanitary studies of the Commission were made with the cordial and efficient co-operation of its staff.

A field laboratory was established at Poughkeepsie and equipped for the complete physical and bacteriological examination of water, but all chemical and microscopical analyses were concentrated at the Mount Prospect Laboratory.

The instructions of the Commission to this Department covered the making of such investigations and analyses, chemical and biological, as were necessary to determine the sanitary character of the various waters available for the supply of New York. As the work progressed its scope was extended to cover a study of the physical characteristics of the soil within the Long Island watershed from which Brooklyn is supplied, including soil moisture and its relation to rainfall and depth of ground water. So far as possible existing facilities and employees already in the service of the City were utilized.

Investigation of the Present Water Supply.

The investigations of the present supply have been carried on with respect to the immediate needs of the Department, but various compilations of analyses have been made to serve as a basis of comparison with the additional sources considered.

Among these compilations may be also mentioned a study of the typhoid fever statistics from 1868 to 1903, and a comparison with the rainfall and the past extensions of the present water supply. It is a matter of congratulation that the typhoid fever death rate in New York has been found much lower than in most large American cities.

Croton water has often been turbid during the past few years, and occasionally malodorous, but, nevertheless, appears to be generally satisfactory from a sanitary standpoint. The odors are due not to pollution, but to the effect of microscopic organisms which grow at certain seasons in the reservoirs, and especially in the distributing reservoirs in Central Park. The unsatisfactory physical condition of the Croton water has led to the expenditure by citizens of hundreds of thousands of dollars in household filters, stills, etc., and to large annual expenditures for spring water, all of which would be rendered unnecessary by public filtration.

The Brooklyn water has also been carefully studied. It is generally clear, but occasionally turbid after heavy rains.

The hardness of both the Croton and the Long Island water average about 40 by the ordinary scale, but the Brooklyn water is somewhat less desirable than the Croton for steam boilers, because of the infiltration of sea water into some of the driven wells near the shore. The population in some portions of the watershed now drawn on is rapidly increasing and the surface supplies, from brooks and streams, are being exposed to increasing dangers from pollution.

Sanitary Studies for the Additional Supply.

There is a growing demand for improvement in the quality of public water supplies, and our studies were entered upon in the conviction that the new supply must be better than present supplies. The following qualifications were kept in view as necessary throughout the work:

1. Absolute freedom from pollution.
2. Freedom from odor, turbidity and noticeable coloring matter.
3. Softness.
4. In the case of ground water, freedom from large amounts of iron.

Four distinct lines of investigation were carried on in the field:

1. A study of the watersheds and the water samples from the various streams considered as probable sources of supply.
2. The study of the water of the Hudson with reference to its filtration.
3. Study of the ground waters on Long Island.
4. Investigations in soil physics.

Stream Investigations.

Stations were established on all of the important streams, and daily samples were collected and sent in at the end of every week to the laboratory at Poughkeepsie, where they were examined for turbidity, color, alkalinity and hardness. At the time of collecting each sample the stage of the river was observed and the meteorological conditions were noted. Rain gauges were placed at ten new points scattered over the various watersheds. From time to time samples for chemical analyses were collected at the most important points, comprising 35 stations in all, located at 18 different streams.

In addition to the analyses of water samples from these regular daily stations, investigations were made of the watershed lying up-stream from points where samples were collected. These investigations differed much in their completeness according to the probability of the stream being selected as a source of supply. As the work progressed and the exact field for selection of sources of supply was narrowed, more attention was given to the Fishkill creek, Wappinger creek, Roeliff Jansen kill and Esopus creek.

The waters of the Rondout and Esopus are of excellent quality, being light colored and very soft. After rains they become slightly turbid from the effect of a few local clay deposits, which may be readily controlled at comparatively small expense. The Esopus water is better in quality than that of the Rondout. In fact, the investigations thus far made indicate the Esopus to be superior in quality and better adapted for general public and domestic use than any other untreated natural water examined. It has less than half the hardness of the present Croton supply, is tasteless, odorless and practically colorless, and is clear except for the cloudiness observed after rains, which would disappear after storage. Filtration would render this water well nigh perfect for purposes of public supply. The water of the Catskill creek has been found clearer than that of the Esopus, but it contains more calcareous matter and has a hardness which exceeds that of the Croton. The water of the Schoharie creek is soft and has little color.

The Roeliff Jansen kill, Wappinger creek and Fishkill creek are practically unpolluted, clear, tasteless, odorless and with low color, but rather hard at times. This region is overlaid in places with limestone, and much variation in hardness is found in streams near together. Obviously the hardness of the water flowing in summer, which is mainly ground water, does not represent the hardness that would be found in the same water collected during the spring freshets in storage reservoirs which has not percolated through the ground. The studies to determine the probable hardness of the reservoir waters are not complete, but we are justified in stating that by a mixture of these waters from the Esopus, the hardness of the whole would not exceed that of the present Croton supply. If the entire additional supply were taken from the eastern streams alone the hardness would be somewhat greater.

Hudson River Water.

The average of many analyses shows that the hardness of the water at the proposed future intake, between Greer Point and Hyde Park, would be substantially the same as that taken from this river at Albany, and that this water could be made at least equally satisfactory by filtration. The additional pollution received below Albany is more than offset by dilution from the volume of water received from tributaries entering below.

The pollution of the Hudson was carefully studied statistically by making estimates of the city and country population per square mile at various selected points between Glens Falls and New York Harbor, and by ascertaining the typhoid statistics of all the cities along its course, the amount of sewage and factory waste. Samples for examination have been taken daily since May 1, at Mechanicsville, Cohoes, Catskill, Saugerties, Kingston, Hyde Park, Poughkeepsie and Garrison. Daily bacteriological examinations have been made at Poughkeepsie, and weekly chemical analyses have been made upon the samples collected between Newburgh and Catskill. Samples have also been taken to ascertain the efficiency of filters receiving Hudson river water at Poughkeepsie.

By adopting proper precautions the water between Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park would be rendered perfectly safe for domestic use. It would have an average hardness probably a little greater than that of the present Croton supply.

Salt Water in the Hudson.

Much time was devoted to finding the limit of upflow of salt water in the Hudson. The present season has been less favorable for this purpose than if there had been less rain, but many series of analyses have been made and the tidal phenomena have been observed and studied. Automatic tide gauges were located at Yonkers, Oscawanna, West Point, Poughkeepsie and Rhinecliff.

The preliminary review of these and other data gives reasons for belief that the chlorine never extends up the river beyond Greer Point even in the driest year.

Ground Water Studies.

While the many analyses of the ground water supplies of Brooklyn and Queens furnished the basis of these studies, various samples from other portions of Long Island were analyzed and comparison made with the density of population in the regions surrounding the wells from which the samples were taken. Samples from the thickly populated portions of Brooklyn were also analyzed for comparison, and the results show that many ground waters collected by means of driven wells from regions which have a large population and which might be considered unsatisfactory on chemical analyses are satisfactory bacteriologically and may be safely used for drinking purposes. This is due largely to the sandy character of Long Island, which renders it an excellent filtering medium.

Investigations were made to determine the limit at which pollution will extend from large amounts of faecal matter deposited at a depth of 6 or 8 feet below the ground, as in privy vaults. Other experiments have been made to determine the decrease of bacteria from the surface of the ground downward in the soil.

The studies of the water in Suffolk County show it to be very similar in character to that of the present Brooklyn supply.

In the study of soil physics over a thousand samples have been collected and dried and their moisture determined by differential weighings. These were collected at a number of representative places with the water table at different distances below the surface, and the results, although not yet completely worked out, are exceedingly instructive.

LONG ISLAND DEPARTMENT.

This department was organized in March. The chief object sought was definite information about the underground sources of water available on Long Island through driven wells or wells of other types, intercepting galleries or other means. A brief review of the situation suffices to show that the surface streams from which the larger portion of the supply is now taken will become more and more polluted as the population increases and spreads into the suburbs, and must be filtered to be fit for use, whereas the ground water is filtered naturally. Moreover, it is desirable to learn what is the greatest possible quantity of ground water that can be taken from the present watersheds without injury to property, for this excellent water, so near at hand and stored in the great natural reservoir of the deep saturated sands, is obviously a source that should be utilized to the utmost. Attention was directed to learning the topographical features of the subterranean watersheds, and the direction and velocity of flow of the deep, slow subterranean currents, for the real limits of the underground watershed in this kind of formation may be very different from that bounded by the summits of the hills.

Diligent search was made for all dug wells favorably located for observation of the height at which the ground water naturally stands. More than one thousand of these wells, scattered nearly over all parts of the island in Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties, have been investigated, and the height of water in them measured at frequent intervals.

In sparsely populated districts where the wells were too far apart to define the height of the ground water in the intervening territory, or where the surface indications gave reasons to suppose irregularities might exist, test wells of 2-inch wrought iron pipe were driven into the saturated ground to varying depths, all the way from 20 feet to 100 feet. Upward of 250 of such wells have been driven. Samples of the material penetrated by these wells were taken at frequent intervals and subjected to mechanical analysis through the co-operation of the United States Geological Survey. The height of water in these wells has been regularly observed.

In order to compare the elevations of water surface in these wells, extensive circuits of accurate levels had to be run and connected with the standard bench marks of the United States Government at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and the tide gauges at Governor's Island, in order that the relations of the heights of water to sea level might be accurately known. This work will require lines of levels more than a thousand miles in length, and of this upward of 650 miles have been already completed.

In order to obtain a closer estimate of the amount of water available in addition to that already taken by the Brooklyn works, a series of observations was planned, consisting of observations on the rainfall by means of two self-recording rain gauges located at representative points and by three other rain gauges of the ordinary type at intermediate locations. To obtain a more precise idea of the percentage of rainfall passing off in evaporation, a meteorological station was established at Floral Park with apparatus designed to record the amount of evaporation, the direction and force of the wind, the temperature of the air, the temperature of the ground and the daily percentage of sunshine. At Brentwood, in Suffolk County, another station was established for similar data, except that the apparatus for measuring the evaporation was not duplicated. These observations were carried on in connection with the frequent observations on the soil moisture at different depths referred to under the work of the chemical and biological department. Weirs for precise water measurements were set on the principal streams and equipped with autographic registers.

Measurements of Velocity of Underflow.

The United States Geological Survey co-operated generously in this work and detailed Prof. C. S. Slichter to make measurements of the velocity of the underflow. The field work has been nearly completed, but the results are not fully computed.

The results of all this work will be of great value, and several of the lines of observation should be assumed by the regular forces of the Department and carried on for a series of years.

The results already obtained show that the real limits of the underground watersheds are materially different from the boundaries indicated by the surface topography.

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUMPING.

This Department was organized with a view to planning the large pumping stations necessary in connection with the taking of water from the Hudson river had that source been selected for the first development, and for studies of other pumping plants for pumping from certain promising reservoir sites that lay at an elevation lower than the aqueduct. There have been great advances in this branch of steam engineering in recent years, and the comparative economy of a system involving pumping in comparison with one delivering by gravity depends largely on the design and arrangement of the pumps and the steam power equipment. As the pumping station for a supply taken wholly from the Hudson river would have necessarily contained pumping machinery of much greater capacity than any plant now in existence, it is obvious that most careful studies of this design were paramount.

As the surveys and estimates progressed and it was found practicable to obtain the additional supply now required from sources lying at an elevation such that the water can be delivered by gravity, the work of this Department was largely directed to co-operation with the Chief Engineers in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity in improving the efficiency of the present pumping stations forming a part of the Manhattan and Brooklyn systems. The principal work thus far accomplished is the following:

1. In connection with the building of new pumping stations, as a part of the system of additional supply, tables and graphical charts have been prepared showing the estimated cost of building and maintaining stations having a daily capacity up to five hundred million gallons.

2. In co-operation with Mr. Nicholas S. Hill, Jr., Chief Engineer, a careful examination was made of the mechanical efficiency of the three pumping stations in Manhattan, at One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street, High Bridge, and Ninety-eighth street. About May 1, prior to the first of these studies, five engines, including the new Worthington engine, were kept in operation at One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street and one engine at the High Bridge station in order to supply the consumption. Two of these engines having a daily capacity of 10,000,000 gallons each were found by these tests to have a slippage or loss of action in the pumps of 65 per cent. and 60 per cent. respectively, and two engines having a daily capacity of 4,000,000 gallons each were tested and found also to have some slippage. On account of the necessity for continuous running it was decided not to take the time then to test the steam engine efficiency in detail, but to proceed immediately with the repair of the pumps. Each of the 10,000,000 gallon engines was dismantled, and after the repairs were finished on all four pumps it was found that by the prevention of slippage one engine at One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street could be shut down all the time, and that at High Bridge the greater part of the time, while the other four engines, including the new Worthington engine at One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street, performed all the work previously performed by the six engines. This immediately resulted in a saving of about $37 per day in fuel and oil.

There will be a further saving as soon as the repair work now in progress on the steam cylinders and valve gear is completed. At the Ninety-eighth street station the engines had been repaired but a short time previous and were found to be in fairly good condition.

Further studies were made of possible improvements in pumping station economies by means of improved methods of firing and other changes of detail. When the improvements already begun have been fully carried out it is estimated that there will result an annual saving of not less than $20,000 in value of fuel.

alone, and 40 per cent. in value of oil and small supplies at the three Manhattan stations.

3. In connection with the Brooklyn pumping stations, the work of this Department has so far consisted chiefly in co-operating with the Chief Engineer, Mr. I. M. de Varona, in the study of methods for securing greater economy in the operation of the present numerous driven well pumping stations by operating them by electric power generated at a central power plant that may form a part of the Millburn pumping station, in assistance upon the preparation of specifications for new high service pumps at Ridgewood, in preparing plans and specifications for the new Gravesend station and in perfecting the design of the Wantagh station. The average cost of pumping one million gallons of water one foot high at the driven well stations is .28 cent., and the estimated cost of pumping the same quantity with improved centrifugal pumps operated by electrical motors is .085 cent.

The tests at the Ridgewood station are not yet finished, but the preliminary inspections indicate that by improved methods the present cost per million gallons at the station probably can be decreased 30 per cent., representing an annual saving in total cost of maintenance of $75,000.

Public School 146, Borough of Brooklyn.

This new building is to be erected on a plot of ground 150 feet wide, running through the block from Eighteenth to Nineteenth street, 150 feet distant from Sixth avenue, and is designed to relieve the overcrowding of Public Schools 10, 39, 40, 107 and 124.

The building will be four stories high, with a cellar for heating and ventilating apparatus, coal storage, etc., and a basement with a 16-foot ceiling, placed beneath the outdoor playground in such a manner as to form a large assembly room, easily accessible from the school for assembly purposes and from the street by the public when used for evening lectures. The exterior is designed in adaptation of the Jacobian, and will be constructed of dark red brick, with gray stone and terra cotta trimmings.

The basement auditorium above referred to will be 83 feet wide by 109 feet long, getting a space greatly in excess of any which could be obtained in the school building proper, and is the result of an effort made to afford a proper assembly room for the school, and at the same time have it easily accessible to the general public.

The first story will contain the Principal's office, library room (which will also be used by the Local School Board of District No. 30), work shop, two kindergarten rooms, indoor playrooms, pupils' toilets, etc.

The second, third and fourth stories will contain sixteen class rooms each, a total of forty-eight class rooms, one of which, on the upper floor, has been set aside for a cooking room, having been made 28 feet square, with tile wainscoting seven feet high and Terrazza floor. These floors also contain the necessary toilets, Medical Inspectors' rooms, Teachers' retiring rooms, etc., etc.

The building has been supplied with eight stairways, built of stone and iron, the structure being of standard fireproof construction throughout, all walls being laid up with cement mortar, and floor system with steel beams and brick arches.

The contract price for the general construction of the building is $341,850.

The Secretary presented the following communication from the Board of Education relative to an appropriation of $367 for additional sanitary work at the High School of Commerce, Borough of Manhattan:

To the Executive Committee:

The Committee on Buildings respectfully reports that it is in receipt of an estimate, amounting to $367, from Kirchhof & Brown, for additional work on their contract for sanitary work at the High School of Commerce, Borough of Manhattan.

The additional work mentioned consists of making and placing in position in the heater pit a lining or tank 6 feet 1 inch by 6 feet 1 1/2 inches by 4 feet 10 inches, made of 3/4-inch steel, etc.; anchoring the same in pit and grouting around tank with Portland cement, making the same perfectly water-tight.

The Superintendent of School Buildings recommended that Messrs. Kirchhof & Brown be authorized to do this work, as the heater pit in the building is entirely below the level of the cellar, and it is the lowest point of excavation on the entire block, half of which is not built on, in consequence of which the rain percolates through the surface along the rock and into this heater pit, rendering impracticable the setting of the heater, which had to be placed at this low level in order to obtain a proper circulation of water between the heater and the swimming pool.

Your Committee has given the matter very careful deliberation and submits for adoption the following resolution:

Resolved, That, subject to the approval of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the sum of three hundred and sixty-seven dollars ($367) be and the same is hereby appropriated from premiums from the sale of bonds issued pursuant to chapter 412, Laws of 1897, to be applied in full payment for extra cost to Kirchhof & Brown, contractors, for additional work in connection with the contract for sanitary work at the High School of Commerce, Borough of Manhattan, requisition for which sum is hereby made upon the Comptroller.

To the Honorable the Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

GENTLEMEN—I respectfully request that you recommend that the Board of Aldermen establish the position of Structural Steel Draughtsman in this Department at an annual salary of $1,500.

I have asked the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners to consent to the transfer from that Department to this Department of Mr. C. I. Crocker, a Structural Steel Draughtsman, whose salary is $1,500, and am informed by the Department of Finance that action by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Board of Aldermen, in conformity with section 56 of the Greater New York Charter, is necessary before his name can be placed on the payrolls of this Department. I therefore request your earliest action in this matter.

These grades do not exist at present in the Department of Bridges, and there are two Bridge Tenders whose salaries I wish to increase from $730 to $803 per year, and one Fireman, whose compensation is 34¼ cents an hour, which requires a special weekly roll to be made for him. By making his compensation $1,000 a year he will go on a regular monthly payroll.

DEPARTMENT OF BRIDGES,

SIR—In reply to your favor of this date, I beg to say that the man who will be affected by the establishment of a grade of Firemen at a compensation of $1,000 per annum, is now receiving for that work 34¼ cents per hour. As he works every day in the year, for eight hours, his annual pay at that rate is $1,000.10. Therefore you will see that there will be no increase in his compensation.

Respectfully,

G. LINDENTHAL, Commissioner of Bridges.

The Secretary presented the following report of the Engineer of the Department of Finance relative to the estimate and specifications for installing the Ellithorpe Safety Air Cushions in the new Hall of Records.

Which was referred to the Architects of the new Hall of Records.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE—COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
August 5, 1903.

Hon. EDWARD M. GROUT, Comptroller:

SIR—Hon. Jacob A. Cantor, President of the Borough of Manhattan, in communication under date of July 23, 1903, transmits, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Board at meeting of July 15, 1903, an estimate with specifications for installing the Ellithorpe safety air cushions in the Hall of Records.

I would report that the specifications submitted, prepared by the company, propose to furnish and erect in a substantial and workmanlike manner six Ellithorpe improved safety air cushions in and about the elevator shafts of the building known as the "Hall of Records," construction to consist of beams, channels and steel plates of such size as may be necessary, comprising a length of about 38 feet from bottom to top of air cushion, 3 feet in cellar, basement 16 feet, first floor 19 feet. The doors opening into the air cushion to be furnished by the company, and to consist of steel construction and to be provided with ball-bearing trolleys. All work to be neatly painted.

The company will test any one of the six air cushions by dropping the car from its highest point of travel into the air cushion without damage. Every part of the air cushion is to be guaranteed to be free from defect in material and workmanship.

The price for each air cushion complete as specified is $2,960, payable in monthly payments, based upon the estimated value of material delivered at the building and work executed, less 10 per cent., which 10 per cent. is to be retained until the entire plant has been tested and accepted. If test of dropping more than one car entirely detached from cables is required the additional cost will be $150 per car.

In explanation of the Ellithorpe safety air cushion I give the following brief description:

In the bottom of the elevator shaft is to be constructed an air-tight steel chamber, sufficient to withstand the pressure developed by a falling car. It is to be in height about one-fifth the total travel of car. It is to be provided with proper air escape and suction valves, etc.; is to have exits for the occupants of the car; the doors to the cushion chamber are to be self-closing, of fireproof construction and provided with such locking apparatus as will infallibly insure their being locked tightly when the car is away from the landing.

The doors to be constructed sufficiently air tight to resist the air pressure from within, heavy plate glass of suitable size and thickness being used. The bottom of the car must be built of sufficient strength to avoid danger from upward pressure in case of falling.

I would report that I have examined the model of the Ellithorpe safety air cushion at the company's office, Nos. 31 and 33 Broadway, and I consider that it will do all that is claimed for it—check the fall of the elevator car (in case of accident), and stop it without any jar or injury to the occupant of the car; being simple in construction, it has no parts to get out of order, hence sure to work at any time.

The appliance I consider excellent and would advise that it be installed in the new Hall of Records, but before any action be taken by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, I would suggest that the matter be referred to Horgan & Slatery, the architects for the erection of the Hall of Records. This I consider essential, for in contract known as Contract No. 2, for the completion of the Hall of Records, with John Peirce, elevators, grill work to elevator shafts, etc., are called for.

Therefore, I think the architects should report to the Board if it is possible to apply these air cushions to the elevators as specified, and if so, how, and if it is necessary to omit certain parts called for in the contract of John Peirce. As an example, I think it will be necessary to omit the doors in the grill work in the basement and first floor, and change the design of grill work to harmonize with the steel air chamber.

Respectfully,

EUG. E. McLEAN, Engineer.

Which was ordered on file.

The Secretary presented a communication from the Commissioner of Parks for the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, requesting an issue of $802,454 Corporate Stock for the improvement of parks, parkways, drives, etc., and in connection with said request the Comptroller offered the following communication from Mr. Elijah R. Kennedy, formerly President of the Commission which located the Shore road in Brooklyn:

NEW YORK, September 4, 1903.

The Honorable the Board of Estimate of The City of New York:

GENTLEMEN—Having been President of the Commission which located the Shore road in Brooklyn, I take the liberty of addressing you, since, as I understand, there is or soon will be an application for you to pass upon for a considerable appropriation for the development and improvement of that property.

The statutes under which this great improvement was undertaken provided:

1st. That the Commission should consider what property ought to be taken to carry out plans that the Commission itself was to make.

2d. Having determined upon the plans, the Commission was charged with the duty of making an outline map of the boundaries of such property as would be needed for the carrying out of the plans.

3d. These proposed boundaries and plans were to be submitted to certain City and County officials of Brooklyn and Kings, and if approved by them the Park Commissioner of the City of Brooklyn was authorized and required to acquire the property shown upon the map made by the Commission.

4th. It was then the duty of the Commission to perfect its plans and subsequently the Commission was charged with the duty of supervising the work of improvement, a duty which at first rested upon the Park Department of the City of Brooklyn.

All the above duties were, I believe, properly performed.

5th. At the time we were engaged in this work the late Frederick Law Olmsted, whose obituaries have so recently engaged our attention and who has by many been pronounced the greatest park designer who ever lived, was in unimpaired health, and the Commission and the City enjoyed the benefit of his great talents in perfecting all the plans, both those preliminary to the making of the boundary maps and the subsequent development of the property into the noble parkway contemplated. Mr. Olmsted's partners, especially his son, Mr. John M. Olmsted, went over the property repeatedly with the senior of the firm and the plans then explained to Mayor Schieren and the other city and county officials were approved, so far as I know, without any unfavorable criticism whatever.

I should perhaps say that the reason why detailed plans and specifications for this entire work were not acquired by the Commission was that such plans and specifications were to have been based upon an estimate of the cost of the entire work and the plans themselves might, therefore, have cost much more than the entire sum of money that we had in hand to begin the improvement. As the Olmsted firm was engaged upon an annual salary and was encouraged by us to believe that it would be continued to supervise the work, they magnanimously agreed to waive the preliminary payment which architects and designers usually receive for such plans and specifications as I have mentioned. However, the fact remains that the Olmsteds explained their plans to the Commission, that our Commission were enthusiastic in approval of them, and that the city and county officials who had the improvement of them according to the statute suggested no change whatever.

Now, I venture to suggest to your Honorable Board that the city and county officials of Brooklyn and Kings having approved of the purchase of the lands at a cost of more than $3,500,000, based upon said plans and specifications, which were described to those officials when they went over the ground, and as the entire community of Brooklyn was made aware of this fact, and public sentiment was consulted and found to be cordially in favor of this expenditure, the administration of the Park Department at any time which undertakes the improvement of the Shore road is bound in good faith to make this improvement in accordance with the Olmsted plans, unless very strong reasons have arisen to convince your honorable Board and the community that somebody else is able to make better plans or that for some reasons the Olmsted plans are impracticable.

If the present administration of the Park Department is unfortunately not in possession of the Olmsted plans and specifications, the reason is above stated, but Mr. John L. Olmsted, whose eminence as a landscape architect is recognized the world over and who, with his brother, was in partnership with Frederick Law Olmsted and in the most intimate consultation with him upon all this Shore road work, is thoroughly aware of the plans and specifications which were decided upon and which, as I have above stated, were the basis upon which the public officials of Brooklyn and Kings and the entire community approved and justified the great expenditure made in acquiring the property.

I have had shown me plans which I understand the Park Commissioner for the Borough of Brooklyn desires to work out if your Honorable Board now furnishes him with the funds. I have the highest respect for the character of the gentleman who at this time occupies the position of Park Commissioner for the Borough of Brooklyn (a statement which I make in all sincerity and without qualification), but my respect for him cannot prevent me from saying that the plans which he proposes to work out are not only greatly inferior to those originated by the Olmsted firm, but are a violation of the very principle of "stateliness" which Mr. Frederick Law Olmsted declared should be the keynote of this whole superb improvement. I am informed that public spirited gentlemen in Brooklyn who have learned of the plans proposed are thoroughly dissatisfied with them and that when the community becomes aware of them there will be, as I believe there ought to be, very great dissatisfaction.

That a work of improvement of the properties comprehended within the boundaries of the Shore road is to be immediately undertaken; indeed that that work ought to have been undertaken years ago and carried on, is a proposition not only involving the good taste of the City, but the City's good faith. There are certain parts of the Shore road which even before the invention and use of the automobile were scarcely wide enough for two carriages to pass abreast; with the development of the traffic which now patronizes the Shore road there are places which are extremely dangerous to life and property. These places ought, of course, to be widened. They ought to have been widened years ago. But they could not be widened economically and judiciously except as parts of a more extensive improvement.

It was the purpose of the Olmsted to not only widen the present road in certain places, as this widening was indispensable, but to build upon a lower level a beautiful esplanade, as shown by the lithographed maps which were made at the time our Shore Road Commission was in existence. I confess that I was shocked to be told by the Park Commissioner of the Borough of Brooklyn, that instead of this wide and noble esplanade—where there should be abundant room for driving, for automobilizing, for bicycling and for thousands of pedestrians—he proposed to build a recreation pier! The result of this would be that the City, having purchased at enormous expense land under water extending in some places 600 feet beyond the bank, was to make the poor use of this wide and splendid property of building a recreation pier upon it.

The former members of the Shore Road Commission have always been willing and ready to give to any Park Commissioner the benefit of their knowledge, and if desired, of their counsel. They served with no compensation, and with mighty poor appreciation if the plans which they wrought out with the ablest assistance and as the result of profound study on their own part, and the expenditure of great time are to be thrown aside and disregarded in defiance of the equity involved under which the great expenditures were made for the purchase of the property.

Very truly yours,

ELIJAH R. KENNEDY.

The communication from Mr. Kennedy was referred to the Commissioner of Parks with the request that he confer with Mr. Kennedy and advise him that the plan proposed for the improvement of the Shore road is the same as the Olmsted plan, referred to in his communication.

Whereas, The Executive Committee of the Board of Education, by resolution dated September 16, 1903, has stated that the sum of two hundred and forty-seven thousand seven hundred and thirty-four dollars and ninety-nine cents of the General School Fund for the year 1902 is in excess of its requirements; therefore be it

OFFICE OF THE CORPORATION COUNSEL,
NEW YORK, July 23, 1903.

To the Board of Estimate and Apportionment:

GENTLEMEN—I am in receipt of a communication from the Secretary of your Board informing me that at a meeting held July 15, 1903, the following resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen June 23, 1903, and approved by the Mayor June 30, 1903, was presented and referred to me for an opinion as to the authority of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to make such an appropriation:

"Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment be and hereby is requested, in pursuance of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the amended Greater New York Charter, to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of one hundred dollars ($100), the proceeds thereof to be applied to defraying the expenses to be incurred by W. W. Stephenson Post No. 669, G. A. R., on the occasion of firing the annual salute, Washington Park, Borough of Brooklyn, on Independence Day, July 4, 1903."

Section 188 of the Charter is as follows:

"The Comptroller is authorized to issue Special Revenue Bonds to provide the means necessary to make payments for the following purposes:

"8. To provide for the payment of expenses authorized by the concurrent vote of all the members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment upon a resolution requesting such authorization, adopted by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of all the members of the Board of Aldermen; provided, however, that the amount thus issued shall not in any one year exceed one million dollars."

In my opinion the expenses referred to in this section are expenses incurred or to be incurred by The City of New York or some department or official thereof for a municipal purpose, and do not include the payment of the expenses of independent organizations or individuals incurred for the purposes mentioned in the above resolution.

Respectfully yours,

G. L. RIVES, Corporation Counsel.

IN THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment be and hereby is requested, in pursuance of subdivision 8 of section 188 of the amended Greater New York Charter, to authorize the Comptroller to issue Special Revenue Bonds to the amount of one hundred dollars ($100), the proceeds thereof to be applied to defraying the expenses to be incurred by W. W. Stephenson Post No. 669, G. A. R., on the occasion of firing the annual salute in Washington Park, Borough of Brooklyn, on Independence Day, July 4, 1903.

Adopted by the Board of Aldermen June 23, 1903, three-fourths of all the members elected voting in favor thereof.

Approved by the Mayor June 30, 1903.

P. J. SCULLY, Clerk.

Which was ordered on file.

The Secretary presented the following request of the Corporation Counsel for a transfer of $35,000 to "Supplies and Contingencies, including Deficiencies," and the consent of the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity that $25,000 be taken from his Department and transferred to the Law Department:

OFFICE OF THE CORPORATION COUNSEL,
NEW YORK, August 18, 1903.

To the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of The City of New York:

GENTLEMEN—The appropriation made to this Department for "Supplies and Contingencies, including Deficiencies, 1903," is almost exhausted, and it is necessary for me to ask you to make a transfer from some other account so as to make an additional appropriation for the balance of this year. The account now stands as follows, including all bills which were certified up to and including the 15th instant:

Appropriation .....	$60,000 00
Amount disbursed.....	57,300 49
Balance unexpended.....	$2,699 51

As nearly as I can estimate at the present time it will take $35,000 to pay the bills which will be incurred between now and the close of the present year.

In my letter to your Board dated August 28, 1902, containing the departmental estimate for the year 1903, I asked for an appropriation of $75,000 and was allowed only $60,000.

The amount which has been actually disbursed by the Law Department for general contingencies since the date of consolidation is as follows:

1898.....	$37,612 70
1899.....	40,942 29
1900.....	44,178 93
1901.....	88,223 74
1902.....	101,920 61

If an additional appropriation of $35,000 is made and the whole amount disbursed, the total amount expended during the year would be considerably less than in the year 1902.

The following statement shows the manner in which the appropriation has been used, and the approximate amounts needed for various purposes for the balance of the year:

	Amount Disbursed to August 15, 1903.	Needed for Balance of Year.
For medical and other expert witnesses, Appraisers, Engineers, etc.....	$15,011 79	$9,000 00
Disbursements of Examiners, Process Servers, etc., in obtaining evidence, preparing cases for trial, subpoena fees and witnesses' disbursements.....	6,500 00	4,000 00
For fees of Court Stenographers, copies of stenographic minutes, and extra stenographic services...	12,327 66	8,000 00
For office supplies, furniture, extra cleaning, repairs, etc.....	3,732 58	2,500 00
For traveling expenses and disbursements in attendance at Court of Appeals, sessions of the Legislature and elsewhere.....	1,533 81	1,000 00
For court fees, Referees' fees, fees for searchers, opinions, etc. ....	2,856 66	2,000 00

For telephone services, messenger service, etc.....	3,249 21	2,500 00
For law books and periodicals and copies of legislative bills .....	2,292 90	1,600 00
For photographs, models and exhibits for use in court..	1,344 00	1,000 00
For services of extra Process Servers and extra clerical services .....	4,796 52	3,500 00
Disbursements for postage, telegrams, expressage, car fares, etc., by Chief Clerks of main office and all branch offices .....	3,655 76	2,900 00
Totals .....	$57,300 49	$38,000 00

It seems, therefore, that it will require about $38,000 to pay the bills which will be incurred during the balance of the year, and, as there is a balance of less than $3,000 in the appropriation, an additional allowance of approximately $35,000 is needed.

The items in the above schedule of disbursements, which have been larger than has been anticipated, are those for Examiners' fees, Stenographers' fees, extra Process Servers and Chief Clerks' disbursements.

In regard to the Examiners' fees, the increased disbursements are easily explained, as the number of actions tried has increased.

The number of actions tried by this office since consolidation is as follows:

1898 .....	118
1899 .....	231
1900 .....	273
1901 .....	255
1902 .....	348

During the first six months of this year 264 cases were tried, and it seems probable therefore that the number of trials during the year will exceed 400.

I am sure also that our cases are better prepared for trial now than they have been for many years. One of the best evidences of this is the fact that the recovery in accident cases has been so small. In New York County the aggregate amount of all the verdicts in such cases was only one and three-tenths per cent. of the amounts claimed. This is by far the smallest percentage ever obtained by this Department, and I am sure that it is due, in a large measure, to the careful preparation of cases before trial, and that money disbursed in this manner is wisely expended.

The same reason also partially explains the increased cost of Stenographers' minutes. As the number of trials and the number of appeals increases, the cost of Stenographers' minutes grows, and, as the price allowed Court Stenographers is fixed by statute, there is no possible way of reducing the amount needed for this purpose. Included in this item also were several very large amounts paid out to private stenographic concerns for copying summonses and complaints for the Bureau for the Collection of Arrears of Personal Taxes and the Tenement House Branch Office. An enormous quantity of this work had to be done, and I have found that it was much more economical to have it done by contracts with outside agencies than to employ persons by the year. The wisdom of such expenditures is fully established by the increased collections.

The same reasons also account for the large sums expended for the compensation of extra Process Servers, etc. These persons were needed to serve the summonses and complaints in all these actions, and, as it was cheaper to have the work done by private concerns, and the employment was temporary in character, agreements were made for serving these papers and paying for them out of the Contingent Fund. I am sure it has resulted in the saving of considerable money to the City.

The disbursements of the Chief Clerks of the various bureaus have been somewhat larger than expected, but this is also explained by the increase in the volume of business transacted and in the increase of the number of persons employed.

Your Board has always dealt generously with this Department in the appropriations made, and the wisdom of such a policy is fully demonstrated, I think, by the fact that this Department, which, up to the first of January, 1902, always cost the City considerably more than it collected, has now been put on a profitable basis. During the first year of my administration the amount collected exceeded the total disbursements by $129,342.32, and during the first six months of this year the Department has collected $1,023,368.83, which was $780,020.60 more than the amount disbursed, and which was also more than was collected during the whole of the five years immediately preceding the current year.

I therefore request that an additional appropriation of $35,000 be made for "Supplies and Contingencies, including Deficiencies, 1903," and, as each of the other appropriations to this Department is barely sufficient to meet the demands, the money will have to be obtained from some other source.

Yours respectfully,

G. L. RIVES, Corporation Counsel.

The Secretary presented the following report of the Appraiser of Real Estate, Department of Finance, relative to the purchase of land for a public park on Seventh avenue, Fort Hamilton avenue and Seventy-third street, Borough of Brooklyn:

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE—COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,

September 23, 1903.

Hon. EDWARD M. GROUT, Comptroller:

SIR—On the 29th day of July, 1903, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, at a meeting (Public Improvement) adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of The City of New York, in pursuance of the provisions of section 970 of the Greater New York Charter, deems it for the public interest that the title to the land and premises required for the opening and extending of the public park bounded by Seventh avenue, Fort Hamilton avenue and Seventy-third street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, City of New York, should be acquired by The City of New York.

"Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, deeming it for the public interest so to do, hereby requests the Corporation Counsel to make application to a Special Term of the Supreme Court for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment, and to take the necessary proceedings in the name of The City of New York to acquire title, wherever the same has not heretofore been acquired, for the use of the public to the lands, tenements, hereditaments that shall or may be required for the purpose of opening and extending the public park bounded by Seventh avenue, Fort Hamilton avenue and Seventy-third street, in the Borough of Brooklyn, City of New York.

"Resolved, That the entire cost and expense of said proceedings shall be borne and paid by The City of New York."

(See Minutes Public Improvement Calendar, July 29, 1903, pages 2152 and 2153). I understand that no proceedings have been taken by the Corporation Counsel as yet in the matter of the appointment of Commissioners in condemnation.

The entire property is about four feet above grade. Seventy-fifth street is the only street that extends through the property, and is a macadamized boulevard 100 feet in width. The plot extending from Seventy-fifth to Seventy-third street contains about 132 city lots, and is now covered with trees and laid out as a park, and has been kept as a park by the owner of the property for the use of herself and friends.

Fort Hamilton avenue and Seventy-fifth street along this property are flagged with concrete flagging, and Seventh avenue is flagged for a distance of about 100 feet. Seventy-third street has been opened, regulated and graded, curbed, guttered and sewered and is now under contract to asphalt.

I do not know of any property that can be more readily turned into a public park at less expense to the City than this particular piece of ground. There are about 800 trees on the property of various kinds.

The plot of ground extending from what would be the southerly side of Seventy-sixth street to the northerly side of Seventy-fifth street contains about forty lots. There are very few trees on this property, but it has been laid out in keeping with the plot to the north just mentioned and very little money would be required to use the same for park purposes.

The plot on the corner, commencing on the southerly side of Seventy-sixth street and running down to the junction of Fort Hamilton avenue and Seventh avenue, contains about sixteen and one-half lots. This has been kept in the same condition as the other two and with them forms a natural park, kept as such by the owners.

The street surrounding the last two mentioned plots are flagged with asphalt, have concrete curbing, and have trees set out along the streets so that very little additional expense would be necessary to make them useful for park purposes.

The owners of the property have offered to sell to the City for the sum of $127,000. I have made an examination of the property as to the valuation thereof, and have had Mr. Mullooney, of this Bureau, also examine it, and we find that in Blocks 568 and 569, including Seventy-seventh street, which is not put through, that a fair and reasonable price is..... $17,000 00
For Block 567, which includes all of Seventy-sixth street..... 27,000 00
Block between Seventy-fifth and Seventy-third streets, known as Blocks 565-566, the sum of..... 80,000 00

Making a total of..... $124,000 00

I believe the prices mentioned above are reasonable and just and I would respectfully recommend that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment adopt a resolution authorizing the purchase of this property at a price not exceeding $124,000.

Respectfully submitted for approval,

MORTIMER J. BROWN,

Appraiser of Real Estate in Charge of Bureau.

Approved: EDWARD M. GROUT, Comptroller.

From Beverley R. Robinson, dated the 21st instant, asking for the removal of Aaron Mendoza as Inspector of Elections for the Fourteenth Election District, Twenty-seventh Assembly District, New York County, on the ground of incompetency.

From Nicholson & Co., real estate, dated the 22d instant, stating that the occupant of the premises No. 227 East Forty-second street, who leased the same for use as a polling place, had no authority to do so; that dispossess proceedings are pending against him, and requesting the Board to vacate the said premises.

To be answered and filed.

The Board then considered the lists of nominations made by the several political parties and independent organizations of candidates for the offices to be voted for in The City of New York at the general election to be held on November 3, 1903, which were certified to the Board on the 21st instant by the Chief Clerk of the Board, and the following resolution was adopted, viz.:

Resolved, That the certificates and petitions of nomination of persons therein named as candidates for the various offices to be voted for in The City of New York at the general election to be held November 3, 1903, which certificates and petitions purport to contain the names and addresses, with the title of the offices for which said persons are nominated, and are to be found and are set forth in the lists received from the Chief Clerk of the Board on the 21st inst., marked for the Counties of New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond, respectively, as "A," "B," "C" and "D," the same having been certified to by the Secretary of State or the Chief Clerk of the Board as being in accordance with the requirements of law, and filed within the statutory time, be and hereby are directed to be filed, and the names and addresses, with the title of the offices to which said persons may have been nominated as may Hinrichs for the office of Comptroller of The City of New York, and Edward J. McGuire for the office of President of the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York, on the ground that the said certificate of nomination is not in accordance with the original minutes of the convention filed with the Board, as required by law.

The Board then considered the matter of the purported certificate of nomination of William J. Kelly for Justice of the Supreme Court, Second District, by the independent body known as the United Workingmen's League, which was received by the Chief Clerk of the Board for filing, but which has not been certified by the Secretary of State as having been filed in his office, and Commissioner Maguire proposed the following resolution, viz.:

Resolved, That the certificate of nomination of William J. Kelly for Justice of the Supreme Court, Second District, by the independent body known as the United Workingmen's League, which was received by the Chief Clerk of the Board of Elections for filing on the 14th day of October, 1903, be and hereby is directed to be filed, and the name and address of said person, with the title of the office to which he has been nominated be entered on the minutes of the Board, and directed to be printed on the official ballot for the ensuing general election.

The resolution was rejected, Commissioners Voorhis, Page and Fuller voting in the negative on the ground that the nomination certificate had not been filed as required by law, and Commissioner Maguire in the affirmative.

The Board adopted the following:

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS.

The person or persons making a bid or estimate for any services, work, materials or supplies for The City of New York, or for any of its departments, bureaus or offices, shall furnish the same in a sealed envelope, indorsed with the title of the supplies, materials, work or services for which the bid or estimate is made, with his or their name or names and the date of presentation to the President or Board or to the head of the Department at his or its office, on or before the date and hour named in the advertisement for the same, at which time and place the estimates received will be publicly opened by the President or Board or head of said Department and read, and the award of the contract made according to law as soon thereafter as practicable.

Each bid or estimate shall contain the name and place of residence of the person making the same, the names of all persons interested with him therein, and, if no other person be so interested, it shall distinctly state that fact; also, that it is made without any connection with any other person making an estimate for the same purpose, and is in all respects fair and without collusion or fraud, and that no member of the Board of Aldermen, head of a department, chief of a bureau, deputy thereof, or clerk therein, or other officer of The City of New York is, shall be or become interested, directly or indirectly, as contracting party, partner, stockholder, surety or otherwise in or in the performance of the contract, or in the supplies, work or business to which it relates, or in any portion of the profits thereof. The bid or estimate must be verified by the oath, in writing, of the party or parties making the estimate that the several matters stated herein are in all respects true.

Each bid or estimate shall be accompanied by the consent, in writing, of two householders or freeholders in The City of New York, or of a guaranty or surety company duly authorized by law to act as surety, and shall contain the matters set forth in the blank forms mentioned below. No bid or estimate will be considered unless, as a condition precedent to the reception or consideration of any proposal, it be accompanied by a certified check upon one of the State or National banks of The City of New York, drawn to the order of the Comptroller, or money to the amount of five per centum of the amount of the bond required, as provided in section 420 of the Greater New York Charter.

The certified check or money should not be inclosed in the envelope containing the bid or estimate, but should be either inclosed in a separate envelope addressed to the head of the Department, President or Board, or submitted personally upon the presentation of the bid or estimate.

For particulars as to the quantity and quality of the supplies, or the nature and extent of the work, reference must be made to the specifications, schedules, plans, etc., on file in the said office of the President, Board or Department.

No bid shall be accepted from or contract awarded to any person who is in arrears to The City of New York upon debt or contract, or who is a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon any obligation to the City.

The contract must be bid for separately. The right is reserved in each case to reject all bids or estimates if it is deemed to be for the interest of the City so to do.

Bidders will write out the amount of their bids or estimates in addition to inserting the same in figures.

Bidders are requested to make their bids or estimates upon the blank forms prepared and furnished by the City, a copy of which, with the proper envelope in which to inclose the bid, together with a copy of the contract, including the specifications, in the form approved by the Corporation Counsel, can be obtained upon application therefor at the office of the Department for which the work is to be done. Plans and drawings of construction work may also be seen there.
