

TO: Mayor Eric Adams and Speaker Adrienne Adams
FROM: Dynishal Gross, Commissioner, NYC Department of Small Business Services
DATE: December 31, 2024
SUBJECT: Worker Cooperatives as per Section 6-139 of the Administrative Code

The NYC Department of Small Business Services (SBS) helps unlock economic potential and create economic security for all New Yorkers by connecting New Yorkers to good jobs, creating stronger businesses, and building thriving neighborhoods across the five boroughs. Pursuant to Section 6-139 of the Administrative Code, the Department of Small Business Services shall submit to the Council, no later than six months after the end of each fiscal year, a report detailing the number of worker cooperatives applied for assistance and received assistance, along with their industry and community district, and a summary of services received through the Worker Cooperative Business Development Initiative. This report covers the period beginning on July 1, 2023, and ending on June 30, 2024 (FY24).

The NYC Department of Small Business Services (SBS), with support from the New York City Council, helps the Worker Cooperative Business Development Initiative (WCBDI) offer innovative ways for New Yorkers to overcome economic and social inequality. Worker cooperatives are businesses that are owned and controlled by their workers (worker-owners). Worker cooperatives give New York workers the opportunity to co-own a business, creating sustainable and dignified jobs while developing community wealth. This helps people who lack access to traditional business ownership.

WCBDI encourages both the creation of worker cooperatives and the conversion of traditional businesses into cooperatives through specialized trainings and one-on-one services. Since creating a cooperative takes significant time and resources, WCBDI partners often work with worker-members for several years to either incubate or convert their business into a cooperative. During this time, prospective cooperatives receive business planning, market research, financial planning, access to capital, governance support, legal services, business development opportunities including contracting support with the city and state agencies, and many other forms of assistance to establish the business and organizational viability of each worker cooperative.

In FY24, 76 worker cooperatives applied for services. WCBDI provided assistance to all 76 worker cooperatives that applied for services. The program ensured that all cooperatives that sought support during this period received the help they needed.

Some key highlights for FY24 include:

Number of Educational Services Provided	3102
Number of One-on-One Services Provided	1783
Number of Businesses and Organizations Served*	120
Number of Worker Cooperatives Served	76
Number of Hires	125

*"Number of Businesses and Organizations Served" includes worker cooperatives, CBOs and business entities that received assistance in FY 24.

**For more information, please refer to the attached Cooperative Directory to find a detailed list of each cooperative assisted in FY24, including each coop's address, community district, industry, and details on the specific services they received from the initiative to assist in business development, education, and growth, skills that will ultimately help them compete for and obtain city contracts.
