No Trash, Recycling or Compost Collection on Independence Day, Tuesday, July 4, 2023

The New York City Department of Sanitation announced there will be no trash, recycling or compost collection on Tuesday, July 4, 2023, Independence Day.

- Residents who normally receive TUESDAY TRASH AND COMPOST COLLECTION should place their material at the curb Tuesday evening for collection beginning Wednesday, July 5. Residents may experience delays, as is common after holidays. We appreciate patience as we work to collect the backlog of material.
- Residents who normally receive TUESDAY RECYCLING COLLECTION should hold their material for a week, and place it out curbside the evening of Monday, July 10 for pickup on Tuesday, July 11.

About the New York City Department of Sanitation

The Department of Sanitation (DSNY) keeps New York City clean, safe, and healthy by collecting, recycling, and disposing of waste, cleaning streets, attacking the scourge of illegal dumping, and clearing snow and ice. The Department operates 59 district garages and manages a fleet of more than 2,000 rear-loading collection trucks, 450 mechanical brooms, 705 salt spreaders, and several dozen bike lane operations machines. Under the Adams Administration, the Department is aggressively cleaning more parts of the City than ever before, including over 1,000 long-ignored areas spread across every neighborhood. With the highest wintertime uniformed headcount in 20 years, DSNY is more equipped than ever to remove snow and ice from the approximately 19,000 lane-miles of City streets.
