MESSAGES FROM HIS HONOR THE MAYOR.

The President laid before the Board the following message from his Honor the Mayor:

No. 134. City of New York, Office of the Mayor, March 25, 1902.

To the Honorable the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York:

I return herewith, without my approval, an ordinance adopted by the Board of Aldermen March 11, 1902, entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the licensing and otherwise regulating the erection of stands within stoop lines and under the stairs of the elevated railroad stations in The City of New York."

I regret to be obliged to return this ordinance disapproved, because of the importance to the city of having at as early a day as possible a general ordinance dealing with this subject. The revised Charter has made the old ordinance ineffective, and I am sorry that there should be delay in the enactment of a new one. On the other hand, because there is thus given an opportunity to make a fresh start, it is important that the ordinance to be adopted shall be as free as possible from serious defects.

The objectionable features of the pending ordinance seem to me to be these: First-The schedule of license fees is incomplete and in one instance, as it seems to me, not quite just. No provision is made for temporary stands for the sale of newspapers, periodicals or both; and no provision is made for permanent stands that sell both newspapers and periodicals and also fruits and soda water. Bootblack stands with one chair are to pay five dollars, and bootblack stands with two or more chairs, ten dollars. It would be much more fair, I think, to make the license fee five dollars a chair. Then the small bootblack could deal on even terms with the Second-The proposed ordinance repeats the provision of former ordinances that "No rent or other compensation shall be directly or indirectly paid by the licensee to the owner or occupant of the premises where such stand is located." It is generally understood that this requirement is a dead letter, and I think it desirable that it should be left out of the ordinance.

Third—Section 5 of the proposed ordinance requires every applicant for a license to file an application "having indorsed thereon the consent of the Alderman of the district in which said stand or booth is located." I recognize the propriety of some Sec. 9. The Chief of the Bu local oversight in these matters; but it seems to me obnoxious to our American ways that a citizen's right to enjoy a privilege established by general ordinances should depend absolutely upon the determination of seventy-three different men in as many different Aldermanic Districts. The administration of such an ordinance is sure to be unequal, and in that sense unjust. I suggest that any citizen failing to receive consent from the Alderman in whose district the stand or booth may be, should have an appeal to the local Board of said district.

SETH LOW, Mayor.

The Committee on Laws and Legislation, to whom was referred the annexed ordinance in favor of licensing, etc., bootblacks and stands within the stoop lines, respectfully

REPORT:

That, having examined the subject, they recommend that the annexed substitute ordinance be adopted.

No. 277.

City of New York, Office of the Mayor, March 25, 1902.

To the Honorable the Board of Aldermen of The City of New York:

Aldermen on March 11, 1902, assigning rooms in the Borough Hall, Brooklyn, to the use of the Memorial and Executive Committees of the Grand Army of the Republic of Kings County, and to the use of the reporters for the several newspapers.

My objection to this resolution is that, under the provisions of the Charter, the power to assign the rooms referred to rests in the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, to whom all such applications should be made. The resolution adopted by the Board would not accomplish its purpose.

SETH LOW, Mayor.

Resolved, That Room No. 1, in the Borough Hall, Brooklyn, be and the same is hereby set aside and assigned to the use of the Memorial and Executive Committees of the Grand Army of the Republic of Kings County, Department of New York, and Room No. 9, in the said Borough Hall, is hereby set aside and assigned to the use of the reporters for the several newspapers.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

Meeting held at the offices of the Board, Rooms 516 and 517, No. 1 Madison ave-

Meeting called to order at 3 p. m. Present-Francis C. Moore, Cornelius O'Reilly, William J. Fryer, Warren A. Conover, William C. Smith, Chief Croker and A. F. D'Oench, Chairman.

Minutes of meeting of the 18th inst. read, and on motion duly made and seconded, approved,

Appeal No. 47 of 1902, Alteration 28 of 1902, Bronx, premises south side of East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street, about 180 feet 10 inches from the easterly corner of One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street and Southern Boulevard, Herrmann

Horenburger, architect and appellant:

"As all walls will be laid in cement mortar, request that same be permitted 12 inches thick instead of 16 inches thick as ordinarily laid in lime mortar.

The parapet walls will be carried up 3 feet above the roof, but request that they be allowed 8 inches thick instead of 12 inches thick, for the reason that the lower walls are but 12 inches thick.'

Mr. Horenburger appeared in explanation.

On motion, duly made and seconded, appeal was approved on condition that projecting piers, where shown four inches on plans, shall be built eight inches thick, and that all walls be laid with cement and sand mortar.

Appeal No. 48 of 1902, Alteration 194 of 1902, southwest corner of Twelfth avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-first street, Manhattan, A. H. Downes, agent for the Cudahy Packing Company, appellant: "It is desired to install one electric elevator which is to be used for lowering and raising beef from first floor to basement, a distance of seven feet. This elevator will have automatic doors which will be closed when elevator is in cellar. We desire to do away with the customary brick shaft for this reason: Our office is very small and if compelled to build this shaft, it will be still smaller. Stairs to remain as at present."

Mr. Downes appeared in explanation.

On motion, duly made and seconded, approved. Appeal No. 49 of 1902, Alteration 236 of 1902, premises Nos. 49 to 53 Lafayette place, Manhattan, Francis H. Kimball, Esq., architect and appellant: "To allow the proposed additional seventh story to the existing six-story building for the follow-

"(1) Section 105 of the Building Code, which limits the heighth of non-fireproof buildings, does not apply to this case, as this building now exists and is not being altered for other than its present use. "(2) This building, with its additional seventh story, is constructed in a manner superior to the requirements of the Building Code for seven-story buildings. It was constructed with sufficient strength to carry an intended future addition of a seventh story, which is now applied for. Its superior construction consists in—"A. The building is constructed on the slow-burning principle, in a superior manner, and is better than required by the Code for an ordinary seven-story nonfireproof building.

B. All the floors are deafened between the floor beams and leveled off flush with the tops of the beams, so that there is no air space between the top of the deafening and the under floor above. "C. The ceilings throughout are covered with plaster boards and the girders are all fireproofed. In the new work for the ceilings and walls, wherever the latter are furred, metal lathing and plaster will be used.

"D. The interior columns throughout are encased with two-inch terra cotta blocks and plastered on the inside.

E. The staircase is built entirely of fireproof material and inclosed in brick walls from the lower story to the top of the building, including the passenger elevator shaft, the latter having iron doors. The freight elevator shaft is inclosed with brick walls with fireproof doors.

'F. The front ends of the lines of girders are supported on independent columns, so that no part of the floor loads are carried by the street front.

"H. The foundations and piers are more than ample to sustain the additional story, the sizes of which are given on sectional drawing.

"I. The walls are of such thickness as to comply with the requirements of the Code in that respect when the seventh story is added. The average thickness of the side walls on the top story with the buttress piers will be fully 16 inches in thickness. . In addition to the fireproof staircase, fire escapes on each story are carried across the side court to the adjoining fireproof building on the north, which latter building is the property of the same owner.

"K. The entire building is equipped with a first-class sprinkler system throughout and will also have this system extended to the new seventh story.'
Mr. Kimball appeared in explanation.

Motion, made and seconded, to approve, lost on vote. Denied.

Appeal No. 50 of 1902, New Building 482 of 1900, premises corner formed by the intersection of Wales and Westchester avenues, running 112 feet 73% inches on Wales avenue and 89 feet 21/4 inches on Westchester avenue, The Bronx, Richard R. Davis, architect and appellant:

'1st. That the stone foundation wall be allowed to remain 20 inches thick, as constructed, in place of 24 inches, as required.

"2d. That the 12-inch brick wall, exceeding the height of 50 feet, be allowed to remain as now constructed.

"3d. That the 8-inch brick wall, exceeding the required height, be allowed to remain as now constructed.'

Mr. Davis, architect, appeared before the Board in explanation. Also Mr. T. Channon Press, attorney. On motion, duly made and seconded, approved on condition that all trims, jambs and doors leading from apartments to public halls on top floor be made of kale.

Appeal No. 51 of 1902, Alteration 277 of 1902, premises Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York Life Insurance Company, per Franklin Engineering Company, appellants:

'That the walls of penthouse shall be constructed of 4-inch terra cotta blocks, supported in upright steel angle covered with fireproof metal and all iron in said walls be covered with fireproofing, for the reason that the extension on roof is to be used as a lounging and dining-room, and the construction should be of as light material as possible, at the same time fireproof."

Mr. Mack appeared before the Board in explanation. On motion, duly made and seconded, denied.

Appeal No. 52 of 1902, New Building 1224 of 1901, premises No 29 East Twenty-ninth street and No. 30 East Thirtieth street, Manhattan, Robert W. Gibson, architect and appellant: "It is desired to omit the tie rods, for the reason that the Roebling system of flat arch construction is used, in which there is no thrust; for the further reason that the tension bars used in such construction answer the same purpose as tie rods. The bars used in this case are 1/8 inch by 2 inches and spaced 12 inches and 16 inches on centres, and serve all the purposes of tie rods; and for the further reason that the ordinary tie rods, if used, would be exposed in the ceiling and would make an unsightly appearance.

Mr. Robert W. Gibson, architect; Mr. Willmoth, of the Roebling Company, and Mr. C. E. F. McCann, attorney, appeared before the Board in explanation.

On motion, duly made and seconded, approved. Messrs. Conover and Smith voting no. Appeal No. 53 of 1902, alteration 272 of 1902, premises No. 154 Nassau street,

Tribune Building, Louis Thouvard, architect and appellant: "To allow the construction of a penthouse on the roof of the present building. Said penthouse to be 21 feet long and 18 feet wide, and the highest point to be 15 feet above the level of the roof of the present building, which roof is 150 feet above the curb line. The structure will be constructed of 3½ inch angles, tees and channels, as shown, filled in with hard-burned terra cotta blocks. The entire outside will be covered with galvanized iron, and the entire inside will be plastered. The wood of the doors and sashes will be entirely covered with metal, so no wood will be exposed to fire. The floor will be made of concrete, cemented over. The small passage will be built as shown and be entirely fireproof."

Mr. Thouvard appeared before the Board in explanation. On motion, duly made and seconded, approved, Mr. D'Oench not voting. Appeal No. 54 of 1902, Alteration 2787 of 1901, premises No. 606 Madison avenue. Messrs. Jardine, Kent & Jardine, architects and appellants:

"It is proposed to add two additional stories to the building without having to line or thicken the present walls. The building when raised will not exceed 75 feet in height (attention being called to amendment filed March 20, 1902).

On motion, duly made and seconded, approved, Mr. O'Reilly not voting. Appeal No. 29 of 1902, Matter of Iron Shutters, premises No. 841 Broadway, Marc Eidlitz & Son, architects and appellants: "Exemption is requested for the following reasons. First—This building is thoroughly fireproof. Second—Two fireproof stairways, at widely distant points of the building, give ample means of egress. Third-The elevators and stairways in both cases are not in the lofts, but are separated from same by fireproof inclosures. Fourth-Building is only eight stories in height. Fifth—There is a clear space of 28 feet in width between the walls of this building and the building opposite.

On presentation of report made by Chief Croker, and on motion, duly made and seconded, the appeal was approved. Appeal No. 43 of 1902, Hatter of Iron Shutters, premises No. 59 East Eighth street, F. R. Walker, owner and appellant: "Building is only a three-story building and occupied as a restaurant in basement store, the three upper stories for storage and salesrooms for manufactured goods, as feathers and fur goods, and not for manufacturing any goods at all; that the building adjoining on the westerly side, No. 57 East Eighth street, extends about 15 feet past this building, and is a solid brick wall with no openings on said wall; the building on the easterly side, No. 61 East Eighth street, is a small building, which does not extend as far back as this one by within 7 or 8 feet, and there are no windows or other openings on the rear of said No. 61 is from 35 to 40 feet away from this building at the second story. On presentation of report by Chief Croker, and on motion, duly made and sec-

East Eighth street; the building immediately in the rear and fronting on Ninth street onded, appeal was approved. Appeal No. 21 of 1902, Matter of Iron Shutters (reconsidered), premises Nos. 69 and 71 East Eighth street, Messrs. Clinton & Russell, architects and appellants Chief Croker presented a report recommending that windows on rear wall be exempted from iron shutters (as they have been provided with wire glass set in steel frames); but that iron shutters be placed on both easterly and westerly walls. Said report, on motion duly made and seconded, approved. Adjourned.
