Build Safe: Social Distancing and Best Practices Reminder

It took everyone's cooperation to get us to the Restart and we will only stay on the path to Reopening if everyone does their part to support public health and protect workers. We can't build without both.

To promote a safe and healthy environment on the job site:

- DO follow State and City guidelines and best practices.
- DON'T forget to practice social distancing.

We will be out at job sites educating folks on State and City requirements for a few more weeks. Now's a great time to learn best social distancing and hygiene practices AND avoid future violations.

Read more about what you should and should not do now that construction has restarted, as well as detailed information on what our inspectors are looking for and general information on the Restart.
